Comprehensive Conservation Plan ,1985 Environmental Communication and Travel Journalism Lyn McGaurr,2015-07-16 Travel journalism about natural attractions is environmental communication at the cusp of consumerism and concern Countries and regions that market forests rivers and wildlife to international tourists drive place of origin brand recognition that benefits exporters in other sectors Place branding in such destinations is not just PR for environmentally sustainable development and consumption but also a political enterprise Environmental Communication and Travel Journalism considers tourism public relations as elite reputation management and applies models of political conflict and source media relations to the analysis of the soft genre of travel journalism The book seeks to understand how in whose interests and against what odds discourses of cosmopolitanism and place branding influence the way travel journalists represent vulnerable and contested environments Informed by interviews with journalists and their sources Environmental Communication and Travel Journalism identifies and theorises networks cultures discursive strategies and multiple loyalties that can assist or interrupt flows of environmental concern in the cosmopolitan public sphere The book should be of interest to scholars of environmental communication environmental politics journalism tourism marketing and public relations October 30 and 31, 1961, McCall, Idaho United States. to expand federal wilderness areas in the Pisgah and Nantahala national forests generated strong opposition For many mountain residents the idea of unspoiled wilderness seemed economically unsound historically dishonest and elitist Newfont shows that local people s sense of commons environmentalism required access to the forests that they viewed as semipublic places for hunting fishing and working Policies that removed large tracts from use were perceived as enclosure and resisted Incorporating deep archival work and years of interviews and conversations with Appalachian residents Blue Ridge Commons reveals a tradition of people building robust forest protection movements on their own terms p 4 of cover
