Artistic Representations of Suffering Mark Celinscak, Curtis Hutt, 2021-10-18 Artistic expression frequently engages with the question of suffering. In so doing it confronts the gravity and complexity of the human condition. This volume investigates the relationship between art and suffering. In short, the contributors to this volume collectively demonstrate that suffering is an undisputed and shareable motivating experience. This collection features original essays that focus on the subject of art and suffering, including topics such as the representation of violence and the intersections of art and human rights. Some of the key questions explored are as follows: How has suffering motivated artists around the world? How have artists used their platforms to call attention to human rights abuses? How can suffering be incorporated responsibly and ethically in works of art? What role does art play in the struggle against violations of human dignity and the promotion of building a more equitable world? Each essay is complemented by full-color reproductions of artistic works that illustrate the concepts being discussed, including a graphic essay on the topic of comfort women. Romanticism and Contemporary Criticism Morris Eaves, Michael R. Fischer, 2019-01-24 The core of this book is made up of five essays by distinguished scholars of international reputation that treat the relation between current literary theory and Romanticism. The book originated in a series of lectures presented at the University of New Mexico in 1983. All but one of the essays are published here for the first time. The contributors are Northrop Frye, W. J. T. Mitchell, J. Hillis Miller, M. H. Abrams, and Stanley Cavell. Frye's essay is a major statement on the backgrounds of Romanticism. W. J. T. Mitchell's contribution takes up, through the composite arts of William Blake, the relation of poetry and painting, writing and printing, criticism and politics. The controversy over deconstruction is the occasion for a matched pair of essays by J. Hillis Miller and M. H. Abrams, advocate and antagonist respectively. In his essay, Abrams makes a definitive statement on his view of deconstruction and its intellectual heritage. The fifth piece by Stanley Cavell is the first extended discussion of English and American Romanticism by this major contemporary philosopher. Following each essay is an edited transcript of a question and answer session in which the contributor critic ranges widely and freely over today's critical scene. The sessions make fascinating reading. This book should be of compelling interest to students of Romanticism as well as to students and scholars interested in the uses and implications of poststructuralist theory. The Grove
