Between Samaritans and States Jennifer Rubenstein, 2015-01-29 This book provides the first book length English language account of the political ethics of large scale Western based humanitarian INGOs such as Oxfam CARE and Doctors Without Borders These INGOs are often either celebrated as heroes or do good machines or maligned as incompetents on the road to hell In contrast this book suggests the picture is more complicated Drawing on political theory philosophy and ethics along with original fieldwork this book shows that while humanitarian INGOs are often perceived as non governmental and apolitical they are in fact sometimes somewhat governmental highly political and often second best actors As a result they face four central ethical predicaments the problem of spattered hands the quandary of the second best the cost effectiveness conundrum and the moral motivation trade off This book considers what it would look like for INGOs to navigate these predicaments in ways that are as consistent as possible with democratic egalitarian humanitarian and justice based norms It argues that humanitarian INGOs must regularly make deep moral compromises In choosing which compromises to make they should focus primarily on their overall consequences as opposed to their intentions or the intrinsic value of their activities But they should interpret consequences expansively and not limit themselves to those that are amenable to precise measurements of cost effectiveness The book concludes by explaining the implications of its map of humanitarian INGO political ethics for individual donors to INGOs and for how we all should conceive of INGOs role in addressing pressing global problems
