The Achievements Of Memory:

The Achievements of Memory Harry Guest, 1974 The Achievement of Brian Friel Alan J. Peacock, 1993 The reception of Brian Friel's recent Dancing at Lughnasa confirms his status as Ireland's leading dramatist. The body of work that he has produced is outstanding in its breadth of sympathy and interest, its dramaturgical invention and its wide cultural and intellectual purview. At one level it may be seen as a continuous examination of Irish culture and politics, committed and analytical but not sectionally propagandist. His outlook in his drama, however, is not amenable to simplistic categorization, political or otherwise. As this volume demonstrates, linguistically allusively and in terms of its broad transcultural analogising, his work ranges widely. He utilises ideas and terminologies drawn from various cultural sources and academic disciplines in a way that exemplifies his central insistent concern with the phenomenon of language and its implications. As an Irish dramatist, however, he makes Irish social, political and notably family life his focus and builds upon a recognised tradition of twentieth-century Irish play writing. This book addresses the variety and complexity of Friel's drama by bringing to bear a range of academic and other professional and creative approaches in order to highlight particular aspects of his work and thought. Hence contributors include a playwright, poet, theatre producer, historian and various specialists in relevant literatures. In this way the book suggests the intellectual richness, humanity and protean skill and invention of the work. The Achievement of Wendell Berry Fritz Oehlschlaeger, 2011-06-24 Arguably one of the most important American writers working today, Wendell Berry is the author of more than fifty books, including novels and collections of poems, short stories and essays. A prominent spokesman for agrarian values, Berry frequently defends such practices and ideas as sustainable agriculture, healthy rural communities, connection to place, the pleasures of work and the interconnectedness of life. In The Achievement of Wendell Berry: The Hard History of Love, Fritz Oehlschlaeger provides a sweeping engagement with Berry's entire corpus. The book introduces the reader to Berry's general philosophy and aesthetic through careful consideration of his essays. Oehlschlaeger pays particular attention to Berry as an agrarian citizen and patriot and also examines the influence of Christianity on Berry's writings. Much of the book is devoted to lively close readings of Berry's short stories, novels and poetry. The Achievement of Wendell Berry is a comprehensive introduction to the philosophical and creative world of Wendell Berry, one that offers new critical insights into the writing of this celebrated Kentucky author. Cultural Memories in the Roman Empire Karl Galinsky, Kenneth Lapatin, 2016-01-01 Memory studies, one of the most vibrant research fields of the present day, brings together such diverse disciplines as art and archaeology, history, religion, literature, sociology, media studies and neuroscience. In scholarship on ancient Rome, studies of social and cultural memory complement traditional approaches, opening up new horizons as we contemplate the ancient world. The fifteen essays presented here explore memory in the Roman Empire, addressing a wide spectrum of cultural phenomena from a range of approaches. Ancient Rome was a memory culture par excellence and memory pervades all aspects of Roman culture, from literature and art to religion and politics. This volume is the first to address the cultural artifacts of Rome through the lens of memory studies An essential guide to the material culture of Rome this book brings important new concepts to the fore for both scholars of the ancient world and those of social and cultural memory throughout human history The Digitalisation of Memory Practices in China Maximilian

Closing the Achievement Gap Belinda Williams, 1996-10-15 It s no secret that students attending urban schools in the United States do not fare as well on measures of achievement as their rural and suburban counterparts According to Belinda Williams and her coauthors this gap is largely due to a little acknowledged fact that poor and minority students bring culturally distinct values and beliefs to the classroom that are often incompatible with the biases inherent in the curriculum assessment measures and teachers themselves This second edition of Closing the Achievement Gap argues that if education reform is to work educators must become more sensitive to the worldviews of disadvantaged students and to incorporate this awareness into their day to day work Teachers principals and legislators must Learn about cultural perceptions of human development Apply this knowledge to professional development and comprehensive reform and Align political policy accordingly In addition to providing a framework for meeting these challenges this book offers specific suggestions for bridging the cultural divide through such diverse methods as direct vocabulary instruction opportunity to learn strategies and school level organizational reform Thoroughly researched and eloquently written it is a vital resource for ensuring that students of all backgrounds succeed equally well in the classroom The Role of Emotion and Reflection in Student Achievement

Lee Oberparleiter,2011-12-29 The book introduces readers to the two ways the brain is programmed to learn It explains how these two systems affect classroom instruction and explains how the events of the culture affect brain development It also explains how to set up a brain compatible classroom and the underlying principles that guide all student learning The book is loaded with student projects of all kinds that are emotionally engaging to students and help them learn more successfully The book also explains how the emotional part of the brain the limbic system many times interferes with learning and prevents reasoning thinking and problem solving to occur preventing students from using the rational parts of the brain the frontal lobe system to occur The book explores how dysfunctional behavior in school such as ADD ADHD are related to school skill development and achievement The argument is made that pre requisite school success skills that lead to proficiency in reading writing calculating and problem solving are not really taught but merely assumed to be learned from the home and the early grades Not only that but these pre requisite skills are ALL found in the frontal lobe executive functions The students who have those skills are almost always the high achievers in school Those students that dont have these school success skills simply dont achieve at the level of the other students who have those skills Close the Achievement Gap

Brian M. Pete,Robin J. Fogarty,2015-03-17 This invaluable research based guidebook illustrates how quality teaching can overcome the impact of low socioeconomic conditions and improve student performance dramatically The authors present instructional techniques that require students to speak with skill write with clarity and purpose read with a critical eye and listen with active engagement Using six practical strategies educators can overcome the odds and guide learners to success by Setting high expectations for all students Making differentiation part of everything they do Challenging students to think critically Insisting on results oriented goals Human Memory Mary B. Howes,Geoffrey O'Shea,2013-12-21

While memory research has recently focused on brain images and neurological underpinnings of transmitters Human Memory A Constructivist View assesses how our individual identity affects what we remember why and how This book brings memory back to the constructivist questions of how all the experiences of an individual up to the point of new memory input help to determine what that person pays attention to how that information is interpreted and how all that ultimately affects what goes into memory and how it is stored This also affects what can be recalled later and what kind of memory distortions are likely to occur The authors describe constructionist theories of memory what they predict how this is borne out in research findings presenting everyday life examples for better understanding of the material and interest

Intended for memory researchers and graduate level courses this book is an excellent summary of human memory research from the constructivist perspective Defines constructivist theory in memory research Assesses research findings relative to constructivist predictions Identifies how personal experience dictates attention interpretation and storage Integrates constructivist based findings with cognitive neuroscience

Urban Communities and Memories in East-Central Europe in the Modern Age Aleksander Łupienko, 2024-08-07 This edited volume studies the logic of community formation and the common view of the past to show how various social bonds of communities functioned during the modern national era of East Central Europe from the late eighteenth century until today and how multifaceted this group building really was Through an overview of selected examples of communities in East Central European urban centres mainly the territories of the Polish Lithuanian Commonwealth and its successor empires the volume shows the potential of re interpretation or adaptation of the past as a crucial tool for assuring social cohesion and for strengthening the image of group boundaries It studies not only textual sources but also the cultural construction of local historical writings such as oral tradition and municipal publications as well as symbolic objects such as epitaphs plaques monuments and public edifices The contributors explore the actual creativity employed by these communities to envision their past and their future in homage to the ideals of centralised nationalism or regionalism and how these strongly ethnically marked historic spaces can be interpreted celebrated or neglected This book will be of interest to scholars and students of regional urban history and cultural diversities memory cultures and community formation

The Achievement of Literary Authority Ina Ferris, 2019-01-24 Although literary historians have largely neglected them Sir Walter Scott's Waverley Novels mark a pivotal moment in the formation of the modern literary field Ina Ferris argues exemplifying the complex intersections of gender and genre in the evolution of nineteenth century literary authority Focusing on the critical reception of Scott's early works Ferris shows how their extraordinary success propelled the novel from the margins of the culture into the literary hierarchy Drawing on the insights of poststructuralist feminist and Bakhtinian theory Ferris reconstructs reviewers debates about fiction at several critical points in Scott's career His literary authority and innovative power she maintains depended on the way in which his historical novels responded to the anxieties about discourse and modernity expressed in the literary reviews Gender was a central source of anxiety and the manliness of Scott's historical novels was decisive in their legitimation of the novel It was largely through a problematic allegiance to the female genre of romance however that the Waverley Novels both recuperated fiction for male reading and helped to redefine for the nineteenth century the writing of history itself Ferris locates the Waverley Novels in relation to fiction and history by such contemporaries of Scott's as Maria Edgeworth Lady Morgan John Galt James Hogg Augustin Thierry and Thomas Babington Macaulay Students of the novel feminist critics and others interested in the relations between history and fiction will want to read The Achievement of Literary Authority Peacebuilding and Memory in the Philippines Primitivo III Cabanes Ragandang, 2025-06-06 This book critically examines community resilience within peace and conflict studies. By focusing on the complexities of resilience in the contemporary political order in the Philippines, it shows how memories, experiences, and intergenerational dialogue shape resilience strategies across time and space. Through theoretical analysis and case studies, the book challenges conventional understandings of resilience by highlighting its complex intersections with agency, resistance, and political survival. It delves into the role of resource scarcity, trauma, and shifting socio-political landscapes in shaping resilience strategies, offering a nuanced perspective beyond its often romanticized portrayal. By bridging theoretical debates with real-world insights, it provides a fresh framework for understanding resilience as both a political and social process. This book is an essential resource for scholars, practitioners, and policymakers engaged in peacebuilding, governance, and conflict transformation.

50 Ways to Close the Achievement Gap Carolyn J. Downey, 2009 Outlines research-based strategies for developing high-performing schools and fostering educational equity for all students.

In the Mirror of Memory Janet Gyatso, 1992-01-01 This book studies the diverse array of species of memory in Buddhism. Contributors focus on a particular school, group of texts, terms, or practices and identify a considerable range of types of mnemonic faculties in Buddhism. Included are discussions of Buddhist teaching, meditation, visualization, prayer, commemoration of the Buddha, dharma practice, the use of mnemonic lists to condense lengthy scriptures, and the purported recollection of infinite previous lives that immediately preceded Sakyamuni's attainment of Buddhahood. Even enlightened awareness itself is said by some Buddhist schools to consist in a mnemonic engagement with reality as such. The authors explore Buddhist views on mundane acts of memory such as recognizing, reminding, memorizing, and storing data, as well as special types of memory that are cultivated in religious practice. One of the most striking discoveries is that perception is intimately related to certain types of memory. Several essays investigate if and how meditative mindfulness and recollection of the past, both of which can be designated by the term smṛti, are connected within the Buddhist tradition. The question of whether recollection of the past can be explained without violating the foundational Buddhist notions of radical impermanence and no self is addressed by several of the contributing scholars. Among the primary sources for the studies in this volume are the northern and southern Abhidharma literature, the Mātikā s, Pāli and Mahāyāna sūtras, works of the Buddhist logicians, Yogācāra materials, the Tibetan Great Perfection (Rdzogschen) tradition, and Indian and Tibetan commentarial works. Affinities of Buddhist views on memory with those found in Western phenomenology, semiology, psychology, and history of religions are considered as well.
