Golden, 2012-12-06 Neurological signs or symptoms are present in approximately 20% of all children admitted to the hospital. These may be the reason for admission or may be part of preexisting and often unrelated problems. In ambulatory practice, acute neurological disease is not seen as frequently but issues relating to normal and abnormal development are constantly being faced. For these reasons, familiarity with the progress of normal development and factors interfering with it, as well as knowledge of the major acute and chronic disorders of the nervous and neuromuscular systems, is important for any practitioner, specialist or generalist, who cares for children. The pathophysiology of neurological disorders in childhood is based on the same principles of the organization, structure and function of the nervous system as apply to adults. Two pitfalls are present for the student, however. First, the abnormalities are superimposed on a changing, developing brain, not a rather static, mature organ. The manifestations of the disease may vary therefore in seemingly unpredictable fashion, depending on the rate of progression of the disorder and the rate and adequacy of the ongoing developmental changes in the nervous system. The second problem is the large number of unfamiliar conditions, many of which have no counterpart in adult neurology or medicine. These include developmental malformations, disorders specific to the neonatal period, and many hereditary and metabolic diseases.

Masters Sculling Nancy Churchill, 2020-09-01 Masters scullers range in age from Grade AA 21 in the US or Grade A 27 in the UK to Grade M 89 plus. Although diverse in age, these athletes all have one thing in common: they are each unique. This book partners with each individual athlete to achieve performance improvements based on their own aspirations, technical skill and fitness level. The focus is on understanding and efficiency both in the acquisition of skills and training. The dynamic technique described offers scullers a high performance sculling approach carefully tailored to support a Masters sculler's long term career. Illustrated with superb colour photographs, diagrams and a wealth of examples, coverage includes individual assessment of an athlete's sculling skills, flexibility and aerobic fitness, compilation and application of evidence-based data, formation of highly individual training programmes, experiments for athletes to explore their connectedness, versatility and speed, and finally race strategies and plans for competitive athletes. Based on the athlete's needs and aspirations, Masters Sculling provides you with the knowledge and skills to build an individual training plan that minimizes injury risk, achieves continuous improvement and fosters a lifelong enjoyment of the sport.
