competitive exams Approaches to History Sabyasachi Bhattacharya, 2011 History as a social science is arguably more self reflective than associated disciplines in that family Other social scientists seem to see little reason to look beyond the paradigm they are developing in the present times Historians on the other hand tend to depend on the cumulative process of the development of their craft and the fund of accumulated knowledge Yet while this is acknowledged in the practice of research Historiography in itself as a subject of study has rarely found its place in the syllabi of Indian universities Knowledge of Historiography is taken for granted when a scholar plunges into research In an attempt to address this lacuna the Indian Council of Historical Research ICHR has planned a series of volumes on Historiography comprising articles by subject specialists commissioned by the ICHR The first volume in the series Approaches to History Essays in Indian Historiography brings to the readers the first fruits of that endeavour While the essays encompass areas of research presently at the frontiers of new research scholars will also find the bibliographies accompanying the essays of significant appeal Conversion to Modernities Peter van der Veer, 2014-01-14 Peter van der Veer has gathered together a groundbreaking collection of essays that suggests that conversion to forms of Christianity in the modern period is not only a conversion to modern forms of these religions but also to religious forms of modernity Religious perceptions of the self of community and of the state are transformed when Western discourses of modernity become dominant in the modern world This volume seeks to relate Europe and its Others by exploring conversion both in modern Europe and in the colonized world

The Weave of My Life Urmila Pawar, 2009-07-15 My mother used to weave aaydans the Marathi generic term for all things made from bamboo I find that her act of weaving and my act of writing are organically linked The weave is similar It is the weave of pain suffering and agony that links us Activist and award winning writer Urmila Pawar recounts three generations of Dalit women who struggled to overcome the burden of their caste Dalits or untouchables make up India's poorest class Forbidden from performing anything but the most undesirable and unsanitary duties for years Dalits were believed to be racially inferior and polluted by nature and were therefore forced to live in isolated communities Pawar grew up on the rugged Konkan coast near Mumbai where the Mahar Dalits were housed in the center of the village so the upper castes could summon them at any time As Pawar writes the community grew up with a sense of perpetual insecurity fearing that they could be attacked from all four sides in times of conflict That is why there has always been a tendency in our people to shrink within ourselves like a tortoise and proceed at a snail's pace Pawar eventually left Konkan for Mumbai where she fought for Dalit rights and became a major figure in the Dalit literary movement Though she writes in Marathi she has found fame in all of India In this frank and intimate memoir Pawar not only shares her tireless effort to surmount hideous personal tragedy but also conveys the excitement of an awakening consciousness during a time of profound political and social change

Caste and the City Deeba Zafir, 2024-06-21 This book looks at Dalits in the city and examines the nature of Dalit aspirations as well as the making of an urban sensibility through an analysis of hitherto unexamined short stories of some of the first and second generation as well as contemporary Dalit writers in Hindi Tracing the origins of the emergence of Dalit critical consciousness to the arrival of the Dalits into the print medium after their migration to the city this book examines their transactions with modernity and the emancipatory promises it held out to them It highlights the literary tropes that mark their fiction specifically those short stories which take up urban themes and shows how even in seemingly caste neutral spaces caste discrimination is present The book also undertakes an examination of the stories by contemporary Dalit women writers in Hindi Rajat Rani Meenu and Anita Bharti who have posed a radical challenge to both the mainstream feminist movement and the Dalit movement The volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of South Asian literature especially Hindi literature Dalit studies subaltern history postcolonial studies political science and sociology as well as the informed general reader DNA of Dalit Movement Ojha Jai Prakash, 2014-02 The book is a collection of essays woven around the contours of the growth of the dalit movement the crusade undertaken by the dalit icons for the cause of dalit emancipation and the burning issues that have cropped up before the dalits These issues are at the crux of very lively debates that are taking place in contemporary India Politics of exclusion and identity have restricted the amalgamation of dalits into the national mainstream to a certain extent and despite more than 60 years of independence they are dependent on reservation as their major mobilisation plank The new economic reforms have led to reduction in the scope and breadth of reservation and lessened the role of the state to the detriment of majority of the dalit population The challenges posed to the dalit movement by the mandalites and the Hindutva forces have also been discussed in the book Dalit symbolism and the repercussions of such acts on overall polity position of the dalits in rural India their acute deprivation from land assets and inter squabbles among them have also been highlighted in this book The presentation style is lucid and simple so as to enable even ordinary readers to understand the topics One hopes that the book will be found to be useful for the students of Indian polity
