Hogan, Daniel R. Hogan Jr. Ph. D., 2011-05 The Entrepreneur's Guide To Start Grow and Manage a Profitable Business In his book The Right Stuff Tom Wolfe describes what it took for the early test pilots to succeed A career in flying was like climbing one of those ancient Babylonian pyramids made up of a dizzy progression of steps and ledges and the idea was to prove at every foot of the way that you were one of the elected and anointed ones who had the right stuff and could move higher and higher and even ultimately God willing one day that you might be able to join that special few at the very top that elite who had the capacity to bring tears to men's eyes the very brotherhood of the right stuff itself Although success as an entrepreneur launching a new business does not include feeling superior or facing death it does require that a person have a special set of qualities and skills with which to exercise good judgment make wise decision take calculated risk and get along with and lead others The The Entrepreneur's Guide To Start Grow and Manage a Profitable Business provides what it takes what is the right stuff for the successful entrepreneur The most successful entrepreneurs are not necessarily those who work hardest or longest Successful business owners are those who have a vision that can see beyond the bottom line who have learned to manage their professional and personal lives Making it with a new business venture requires all the traits of an entrepreneur as enumerated in The Entrepreneur's Guide as well as the knowledge skills and persistence to grow and withstand the stress ambiguity conflicting objectives emotions and chaos that comes with a new business effort Achieving this balance is what The Entrepreneur's Guide is about It will help you steer a path to guide you with the right stuff to the top of the pyramid of business success

Roots of Inequality. Political Economy of the US Higher Education System Kexin Chen, 2025-09-22 Master's Thesis from the year 2025 in the subject Politics Region USA grade 1-3 Free University of Berlin John F Kennedy Institute language English abstract The dissertation aims to reveal the root causes of institutional inequality in the US higher education system With the collapse of the American Dream as the realistic background this research raises the question How is inequality institutionally constructed maintained and exacerbated in a seemingly fair and widely expanded higher education system The study focuses on the student loan system a key node as an institutional turning point in the national transition from public funding to private debt It systematically examines its mechanisms in policy design ideological discourse and class reproduction In theory the dissertation defines inequality as a structural reproduction mechanism emphasizing that the joint action of power institutions and ideology forms it Based on the 3I model ideas institutions interests and introducing lobbying and rent seeking theories an analytical model for understanding institutional bias and interest solidification is constructed In terms of methods the dissertation combines process tracking case study discourse analysis and logistic regression to conduct a multi level analysis of the federal government's student loan policy from 2010 to 2024 The study finds that inequality in the US higher education system is mainly reflected in four mechanisms exclusion of public participation ideological hegemony class differentiation and the institutional lock in effects Together these mechanisms constitute a structural encirclement of public resources by government and capital which conceals the true face of structural institutional inequality Ultimately it points out that the inequality does not stem from the coincidental governance or policy failure instead it is the product of the inherent contradictions of the democratic capitalist system To break through the institutional dilemma the study suggests a political resistance normativity based on Marx s concept of free and fully developed individuals and the reconstruction of political imagination
