The European Transition from Oil Gordon T. Goodman, 1981 Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1983

Energy Research Abstracts, 1982

The European Energy Challenge George Walter Hoffman, Leslie Dienes, 1985

By examining all of Europe in a single study an eminent geographer and expert on European development makes in this volume a unique contribution to the understanding of the changing energy relations of the European countries east and west The book examines the problem of establishing a reliable energy supply base in western Europe through structural changes and alternate and substitute energy sources The volume also evaluates western European security problems arising from present and future reliance on Soviet energy and relates this to North Sea supplies of gas and oil indigenous and import supplies and nuclear power generation

The EU-Russian Energy Dialogue Pami Aalto, 2016-03-16 EU Russian energy dialogue represents a policy issue that forces us to take a serious look at several crucial questions related to the present and future of Europe such as how can the EU area ensure its future energy security when it is running out of its own energy resources and at the same time incorporating new members who are also dependent on energy imports This book not only outlines the overall characteristics of the energy dialogue but also illustrates the involved policy implementation challenges by paying special attention to the regional context of northern Europe The study contributes to diverse fields such as international relations and political science European studies studies on energy politics international political economy post Soviet politics and literature on regionalization and regionalisms with a special reference to northern Europe

The New Environmentalism? Davide Torsello, 2016-03-03 Drawing on rich ethnographic work in both Eastern and Western Europe The New Environmentalism presents a range of case studies to explore the impact of corruption in EU funded structural development projects With detailed analyses of the forms and contexts of environmentalism the book reveals the manner in which corruption is generated by the planning and implementation procedures of the projects demonstrating in each case that environmental movements emerge as by products of these processes using corruption as part of a discourse employed in support of their action against political regional and state institutions as well as to communicate their goals to local citizens Shedding light on the ways in which revelations about corruption are adopted as a means to fostering civic participation in environmental movements and influencing institutional trust this book contributes to our understanding of the loss of legitimacy and trust in local and global political institutions Comparative in approach The New Environmentalism provides new insights into the emergence of strong civic movements at local and trans local levels in resistance to citizens sense of increasing alienation from political participation and decision making As such it will be of interest to anthropologists sociologists and political scientists concerned with questions of legitimacy corruption and activism

The Global Environment Kei Takeuchi, Masatoshi Yoshino, 2013-04-17 The ffim Japan International Symposium Energy and Environment Global Warming was held in the Keidanren Guesthouse at the foot of Mt Fuji from October 21 to 24 1990

The symposium was conducted in the context of ffiM Japan s longstanding commitment to good corporate citizenship On this beautiful planet with its inter dependent waters lands and atmo sphere we consider that the problems relating to the global environment are the most serious that the human race will face in the near future The symposium provided an opportunity for forty scientists and researchers from a wide variety of international backgrounds to address matters relating to the global environment in an international forum Eighteen papers were presented followed by panel and group discussions on which the concluding remarks and recommendations are based We chose three types of papers to target different aspects of the condition of the global environment the natural science component the socio economic component and the energy component which links these two On the first day the symposium began with a plenary speech by Dr J Kondo followed by three keynote speeches each with a particular focus The following day six speakers offered papers relating to the previous day s keynote speeches

Municipal Entrepreneurship and Energy Policy Alison E. Woodward, Jerry Ellig, Tom R. Burns, 2019-06-26

Originally published in 1994 The energy crisis of the 1970s provided an opportune climate for public sector entrepreneurship to develop The authors present case studies from six innovative and diverse municipalities in Denmark France Germany Sweden and the United States The studies document problems these communities encountered while implementing new ideas in energy conservation and changes in energy supply and municipal planning Each community was selected on the basis of its early vigorous response to the energy crisis and then followed up to examine roadblocks along the way to innovation in the public sector The case studies highlight the challenges policy entrepreneurs face and the tactics they employ revealing crucial differences between public and private sector entrepreneurship

Earth And The Human Future Kirk R Smith, 2019-09-17 During the second half of the twentieth century great changes have occurred in the natural sciences spawned by the leap forward in physics during the war years and the growth in understanding of earth s history and place in the cosmos Also with the new and terrible consequences of full fledged war the nuclear age has brought to the fore the ne

The Greening of British Party Politics Mike Robinson, 1992 This work based on over 60 interviews between 1986 and 1990 with politicians from each of the major British political parties is concerned with an examination of the environmentalism politics interface and how the major parties are responding in real terms to the environmental challenge

Russia's Energy Policies Pami Aalto, 2012-01-01 Russia is an increasingly important player in global energy markets yet its policies are under researched and little understood This collection represents an important and sophisticated contribution to the debate While much of the commentary on Russian energy consists of generalizations about Russia s political strategy this work lifts the lid and looks inside the process through which Russian energy policies are designed and implemented It brings together essays by top specialists in the field and makes a conscious effort to integrate the various disciplines of politics economics and geography by developing a model of the cognitive frames through which the policy process is shaped It addresses both domestic and international dimensions of the problem and gives equal weight to traditional customers in Europe and new markets in Asia Peter Rutland Wesleyan University US The book explains Russian energy policies instead of a policy It portrays a picture with multiple policy drivers including institutional regional and federal environmental and commercial The study markedly improves our understanding of the multifaceted nature of Russian energy policy a topical and complex issue This is a highly commendable book that should be included in the reading lists of anyone with an interest in the role of energy in Russia s political economy or energy matters more generally Kim Talus University College London Australia Russia s vast energy reserves and its policies towards them have enormous importance in the current geopolitical landscape This important book examines Russia s energy policies on the national interregional and global level It pays particular attention to energy policy actors ranging from state federal and regional actors to energy companies and international financial actors and organizations The book models the formation of Russia s energy policies in terms of how energy policy actors perceive and map their policy environment The case studies cover federal regional and environmental aspects of Russian energy policy Russia s energy relations with Europe and the CIS North East Asia the globalization of Russian oil companies and the political economy of Russian energy It is found that there are several concurrent energy policies in contemporary Russia and that this situation is likely to continue These policies are conducted primarily from the business frame perspective while notions of energy superpower Russia are found more ambiguous Russia s Energy Policies will benefit advanced master s level students doctoral students researchers policy makers and practitioners The book will be a great resource for advanced international relations political economy international business and globalisation courses alongside energy policy courses as well as area studies courses on Russian post Soviet and European politics and environmental politics

Nuclear Politics James M. Jasper, 2014-07-14 Why did nuclear energy policies in France Sweden and the United States very similar at the time of the oil crisis of 1973 and 1974 diverge so greatly in the following years In answering this question James Jasper challenges one of the most popular trends in political analysis explanations relying exclusively on political and economic structures to account for public policies Jasper proposes a new cultural and state centered approach one heeding not only structural factors but cultural meanings individual biographies and elite discretion Surveying the period from the successful commercialization of light water reactor technology in the early 1960s to the present he explains the events that occurred after 1973 France built even more reactors than it needed the United States canceled most reactor orders and Sweden completed planned nuclear plants but decided to phase out nuclear energy by 2010 This work is based on one hundred interviews with managers policymakers and activists in the three countries In addition to providing a unique theoretical perspective it broadens our understanding of nuclear policy by looking at three countries in depth and over a long historical span Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Fuels Paradise John S. Duffield,2015-06-15 Is the quest for true energy security a fool s errand In recent years the efforts of nations to promote energy security have been hotly debated Fuels Paradise examines how five major developed democracies Britain France Germany Japan and the United States have sought to enhance their energy security since the oil shocks of the 1970s and in response to the more diverse set of challenges of the early twenty first century Drawing on a vast range of primary and secondary sources John S Duffield explains the actions taken and not taken by these countries to address their energy security concerns Throughout the book Duffield argues that state strength and policy legacies are essential for understanding national responses to energy insecurity In addition to identifying feasible energy policies and the constraints faced by policy makers he evaluates the prospects for international cooperation to promote energy security and considers the implications of recent advances in the production and distribution of energy particularly the fracking revolution An ambitious cross national and longitudinal study grounded in promising theories of national behavior Fuels Paradise will contribute substantially to broader debates about the determinants of state action and public policy Routledge Library Editions: Energy Various,2021-07-09 Reissuing works originally published between 1964 and 1994 this set of ten volumes is an excellent collection of works on energy production and consumption economics and policy conservation and the crisis International in scope the volumes look at household energy conditions energy in the developing world political history and various other issues within the world of fuel and power This set is a resource for environment studies economics policy and politics sociology geography and other studies considering the use of energy in our world From Kyoto to the Town Hall Lennart J. Lundqvist,Anders Biel,2013-06-17 International agreements such as the Kyoto Protocol EU regulation and country specific national climate policies offer some hope of addressing climate change But all too often implementation of these high level objectives is derailed at the sub national local and perhaps most important individual level by a variety of structural policy and perceived barriers that result in a failure of effective action Drawing on original research from Sweden a world leader in effective environmental solutions this volume examines the difficulties of aligning climate policy from international to national and sub national levels The authors address the full range of barriers and complexities including governance structures the relationship between experts and the public political feasibility tax measures perceptions of fairness and self interest and the importance of environmental values Also covered are the roles and perceptions of organizations and professions the place of carbon free technologies such as wind power the relationship between national and EU regulations and the monumental challenge of governing the climate in a bordered and divided world This volume is a vital source of information for all those seeking to create effective coordinated responses to the challenge of climate change Forum for Applied Research and Public Policy ,1988 Scenarios of Socioeconomic Development for Studies of Global Environmental Change Ferenc L. Toth, 1989 Risk Analysis and Decision Processes H.C. Kunreuther, J. Linnerooth, J. Lathrop, H. Atz, S. Macgill, C. Mandl, Martin Schwarz, M. Thompson, 2012-12-06 For old and new studies in decision making and risk analysis this book should stand at the watershed. Studies of conflict resolution and public policy will surely now have to take account of the model investigation provided by the IIASA team and many things will not be the same again. This is a report of inquiries into the siting of liquefied energy gas LEG facilities in the Federal Republic of Germany, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom and the United States. The risks of transporting this highly combustible stuff and the economic benefits of being able to bring a natural energy source from one side of the globe to the other, holding it and piping it out as needed, make LEG a model case for studying the public response to dangerous technology. The dangers of LEG are different from those of nuclear power, for instance, where the response too often becomes entangled with the fear of nuclear war. The dangers of LEG include uncontrollable explosions rather than insidious contamination. But the degree of dangerousness is very much of the same order as that of nuclear power and is at least as difficult to assess. In four different countries, the constitutional procedures involved in obtaining approval of nuclear or LEG facilities are on record. The four case histories here are a model for comparative study of conflict resolution. The period over which the negotiations developed is much the same. Global Energy Justice Benjamin K. Sovacool, Michael H. Dworkin, 2014-10-02 This book explores how the idea of justice can give us a way to better assess and resolve energy challenges and problems.
