Composing under the Skin Paul Craenen,2014-04-29 A revealing study of the physical presence of the musician in musical performance Fingers slipping over guitar strings the tap of a bow against the body of a cello a pianist humming along to the music contemporary composers often work with parasitic non conventional sounds such as these Are they to be perceived as musical elements or do they shift attention to the physical effort of music making contact between a body and an instrument Composer Paul Craenen explores ways in which the musician s body is revealed in musical performance He leads us from Cage Lachenmann Kagel and their contemporaries to a discussion of how today s generation of young composers is writing a body paradigm into composition itself Micro temporal physical gestures and instrumental timbre provide the key to unveiling the physical presence of both a musician and a composing body The author s concept of intercorporeality along with the idea of an alternating linear and non linear relationship of the composing body to time casts new light on the relationship between musicians composers and music consumers
