The Political Language Of Islam Exxon Lecture:

The Political Language of Islam Bernard Lewis, 1991-06-11 Arabic has an entirely different political vocabulary from that shared by most Western languages. The political language of Islam is rooted in Islamic scriptures and classics and shaped by Islamic political experiences. It uses metaphors and symbols that sometimes coincide with and sometimes differ from those of the Western world and it operates within a frame of reference and allusion often unlike that to which we in the West are accustomed. Here historian Bernard Lewis traces the growth and development of Islamic political language from the advent of the Prophet and the promulgation of the Qur'an in the seventh century through the transformation of political thought, institutions and discourse in modern times. Through historical analysis of the formation and transformation of the technical terms used in the literature of statecraft, in the theories of political philosophers and in the actual conduct of government, he clarifies the perception, discussion and practice of politics in the Islamic world. From publisher description.

Culture, Identity and Religion in Southeast Asia Alistair D. B. Cook, 2009-05-27 I have read the draft of this book sent to me by the editor. After reading this draft, I do think this book is valuable and timely. It discusses the contemporary issues that have worried many people in the present world: terrorism, human rights, Islamic radicalism and the problem of identity in the Singaporean capitalism. These issues are not discussed in the theoretical abstract way; it also doesn't mean that theories are not discussed at all, but in the context of various concrete societies. The book deals with one of the above issues in Malaysia, Singapore and Indonesia: Aceh and Sumenep in Madura. Each issue is written by a different author that has studied the issue thoroughly. So the book is a collection of research done by specialists of these issues. Two essays on Southeast Asia, one on health and the other on human security, give the general picture of this region, acting as a broad introduction of the chapters that follow. Each chapter has been written professionally and the readers will learn many things from each of them. One has to read the chapter in order to really appreciate them. Therefore, I really recommend that this manuscript be published as a book in order to get a large audience. One shortcoming, though, this book deals with three countries only: Malaysia, Singapore and Indonesia, albeit these three are the important countries in the region. Other important Southeast Asian countries such as Thailand, the Philippines and Burma are not discussed individually. With the omission of these countries, it thus can be argued whether this book can represent the Southeast Asian region. Also, in dealing with Indonesia, the chapters talk on sub-national level, namely on Aceh province and a peripheral city, Sumenep, in the island of Madura, East Java, while Malaysia and Singapore are dealt on the level of nation-state. To conclude, even with these shortcomings, this book is still valuable. Therefore, I would like to recommend it be published. Arief Budiman, Foundation Professor of Indonesian Asia Institute, The University of Melbourne, Australia.
