Collaborative Ethnomusicology explores the processes benefits and challenges of collaborative ethnomusicological research between Indigenous and non Indigenous people in Australia While there are many examples of research and recordings that demonstrate close collaboration between Indigenous and non Indigenous Australians this volume is the first to focus on the ways these processes allow Indigenous and non Indigenous music researchers to work together and learn from each other Drawing on case studies from across Australia each chapter brings significant insights into the many positives and some of the discomforts in collaborative spaces highlighting the ongoing dialogue needed in order to improve relationships between Indigenous and non Indigenous people and inform the future of ethnomusicological research in Australia Music and

Cyberliberties Patrick Burkart, 2012-01-01 Musicians and music fans are at the forefront of cyberliberties activism a movement that has tried to correct the imbalances that imperil the communal and ritualistic sharing and distribution of music In Music and Cyberliberties Patrick Burkart tracks the migration of music advocacy and anti major label activism since the court defeat of Napster and the ascendancy of the so called Celestial Jukebox model of music e commerce which sells licensed access to music Music and Cyberliberties identifies the groups alternative and radical media activists culture jammers hackers netlabels and critical legal scholars who are pushing back against the copyright grab by major labels for the rights and privileges that were once enjoyed by artists and fans Burkart reflects on the emergence of peer to peer networking as a cause c l bre that helped spark the movement and also lays out the next stages of development for the Celestial Jukebox that would quash it By placing the musical activist groups into the larger context of technology and new social movement theory Music and Cyberliberties offers an exciting new way of understanding the technological and social changes we confront daily Presence and Pleasure Anne Danielsen, 2024-08-06 Winner of the 2007 Irving Lowens Book Award from the Society for American Music Winner of IASPM s 2007 International Book Award In this exploration of the funk groove and its unique sounds author Anne Danielsen takes an in depth look at this under explored genre Danielsen concentrates on the golden age of funk in the late 1960s and the 1970s focusing on two of the era s artists who made a substantial impact on the landscape of popular music James Brown and George Clinton Parliament Aiming to understand funk not only as objectified musical meaning but also as lived experience she begins with the musical events themselves and draws on her experiences as both a fan and a scholar to capture how their particular organization creates the funk listener s pleasure Danielsen further examines issues surrounding race in the construction and consumption of this music focusing her study with how white listeners responded to funk in the 1970s and arguing that African American music has remained a means of catharsis and of dealing with pleasures of the body Funk s crossover to international success among listeners of pop and rock music affected both the music itself and audiences understanding of it Presence and Pleasure shows us how

The Gift of Song Reuben Brown, 2024-10-17 The Gift of Song Performing Exchange in Western Arnhem Land tells the story of the return of physical and digital cultural materials through song and dance Drawing on extensive first person ethnographic fieldwork in western Arnhem Land Australia Brown examines how Bininj Arrarrkpi Aboriginal people of this region enact change and innovate their performance practices through ceremonial exchange As Indigenous communities worldwide confront new social and environmental challenges this book addresses the questions How do Indigenous communities come to terms with legacies of taking and collecting How are cultural materials in digital formats received and ritualised How do traditional forms of exchange continue to mediate relationships Combining ethnomusicological analysis and linguistically and historically informed ethnography this book reveals how multilingualism and musical diversity are maintained through kun borrk manyardi a major genre of Indigenous Australian song and dance It retheorises the core anthropological concept of exchange and enriches understanding of repatriation as a process of re embedding tangible objects through intangible practices of ceremony and language

People and Change in Indigenous Australia Diane Austin-Broos, Francesca Merlan, 2017-11-30 People and Change in Indigenous Australia arose from a conviction that more needs to be done in anthropology to give a fuller sense of the changing lives and circumstances of Australian indigenous communities and people Much anthropological and public discussion remains embedded in traditionalizing views of indigenous people and in accounts that seem to underline essential and apparently timeless difference In this volume the editors and contributors assume that the person is socially defined and reconfigured as contexts change both immediate and historical Essays in this collection are grounded in Australian locales commonly termed remote These indigenous communities were largely established as residential concentrations by Australian governments some first as missions most in areas that many of the indigenous people involved consider their homelands A number of these settlements were located in proximity to settler industries pastoralism market gardening and mining locales that many non indigenous Australians think of as the homes of the most traditional indigenous communities and people The contributors discuss the changing circumstances of indigenous people who originate from such places revealing a diversity of experiences and histories that involve major dynamics of disembedding from country and home locales re embedding in new contexts and reconfigurations of relatedness The essays explore dimensions of change and continuity in childhood experience and socialization in a desert community the influence of Christianity in fostering both individuation and relatedness in northeast Arnhem Land the diaspora of Central Australian Warlpiri people to cities and the forms of life and livelihood they make there adolescent experiences of schooling away from home communities youth in kin based heavy metal gangs configuring new identities and indigenous people of southeast Australia reflecting on whether an Aboriginal way can be sustained By taking a step toward understanding the relation between changing circumstances and changing lives of indigenous Australians the volume provides a sense of the quality and feel of those lives

Is Birdsong Music? Hollis Taylor, 2017-05-01 A ground breaking study of the songs of the pied butcherbird intellectually engaging and also very entertaining as a fieldwork memoir The Music Trust How and when does music become possible Is it a matter of biology or culture or an interaction between the two Revolutionizing the way we think about the core values of music and human exceptionalism Hollis Taylor takes us on an outback road trip to meet the Australian pied butcherbird Recognized for their distinct timbre calls and songs both sexes of this songbird sing in duos trios and even larger choirs transforming their flute like songs annually While birdsong has long inspired artists writers musicians and philosophers and enthralled listeners from all walks of life researchers from the sciences have dominated its study As a field musicologist Taylor spends months each year in the Australian outback recording the songs of the pied butcherbird and chronicling their musical activities She argues persuasively in these pages that their inventiveness in song surpasses biological necessity compelling us to question the foundations of music and confront the remarkably entangled relationship between human and animal worlds Equal parts nature essay memoir and scholarship Is Birdsong Music offers vivid portraits of the extreme locations where these avian choristers are found quirky stories from the field and an in depth exploration of the vocalizations of the pied butcherbird Hollis Taylor has given us one of the most serious books ever written on animal music Is Birdsong Music is so engaging that all who care about humanity s place on Earth should read it We are certainly not the only musicians on this planet David Rothenberg author of Why Birds Sing

The Cultural Study of Music Martin Clayton, Trevor Herbert, Richard Middleton, 2012-03-12 What is the relationship between music and culture The first edition of The Cultural Study of Music A Critical Introduction explored this question with groundbreaking rigor and breadth Now this second edition refines that original analysis while examining the ways the field has developed in the years since the book s initial publication Including contributions from scholars of music cultural studies anthropology sociology and psychology this anthology provides a comprehensive introduction to the study of music and culture It includes both pioneering theoretical essays and exhaustively researched case studies on particular issues in world musics For the second edition the original essays have been revised and nine new chapters have been added covering themes such as race religion geography technology and the politics of music With an even broader scope and a larger roster of world renowned contributors The Cultural Study of Music is certain to remain a canonical text in the field of cultural musicology

Making Aboriginal Men and Music in Central Australia Ase Ottosson, 2020-05-31 This detailed ethnographic study explores the intercultural crafting of contemporary forms of Aboriginal manhood in the world of country rock and reggae music making in Central Australia Focusing on four different musical contexts an Aboriginal recording studio remote Aboriginal settlements small non indigenous towns and tours beyond the musicians homeland the author challenges existing scholarly political and popular understandings of Australian Aboriginal music men and related indigenous matters in terms of radical social cultural and racial difference Based on extensive anthropological field research among Aboriginal rock country and reggae musicians in small towns and remote desert settlements in Central Australia the book investigates how Aboriginal musicians experience and articulate various aspects of their male and indigenous sense of selves as they make music and engage with indigenous and non indigenous people practices places and sets of values Making Aboriginal Men and Music is a highly original intimate study which advances our understanding of contemporary indigenous and male identity formation within Aboriginal Australian society Providing new analytical insights for scholars and students in fields such as social and cultural anthropology cultural studies popular music and gender studies this engaging text makes a significant contribution to the study of indigenous identity formation in remote Australia and beyond
