

PHILOSOPHICAL CONCEPTION OF MAN

The Philosophical Conception Of Man

James Wiley

The Philosophical Conception Of Man:

The Philosophical Conception of Man Irina Sergeevna Kulikova, 1988 Dostoevsky's Conception of Man Peter McGuire Wolf, 1997-10 Dostoevsky's novels have contributed to a conception of man that reverberates in the conclusions of prominent twentieth century philosophical anthropologists Max Scheler Martin Heidegger Jean Paul Sartre Maurice Merleau Ponty and Albert Camus among others have admitted that the works of Dostoevsky had an influence on the manner in which they learned to conceive of human nature and the world in which humans live Our aim in this dissertation is to ask what is there in the novels of Dostoevsky concerning the nature of man of which certain philosophers could claim that in their philosophical conceptions of man they were positively influenced by him The main thesis is substantiated with a careful analysis of four novels Notes From the House of the Dead Zapiski iz mertvogo doma Notes From the Underground Zapiski iz podpol'ia Crime and Punishment Prestuplenie i nakazanie and The Brothers Karamazov Brat'ia Karamazovy These novels were chosen partly because I have come to the conclusion that these novels more than others concretely show in what sense the leading characters appear to have made themselves be what they had freely chosen to be under the circumstances in which they had to live and that they were fully aware of the responsibility they had to bear for the implications and consequences of what they had thus decided Based upon a close reading four interpretive chapters employ the most significant criticism from English Russian and French literary scholarship Dostoevsky's philosophical conception of man is compared and contrasted with the conception that Scheler and Heidegger hold i.e. that freedom is man's essence Sartre's atheistic humanism and Camus' thought The following conclusions are consonant with Dostoevsky's work freedom is constitutive for the being or the mode of being essence of man it is an inalienable duty one must become oneself Man strives to overcome himself and to exceed his freedom but in so doing invariably loses it Man exceeds himself only in the sense that he realizes an ideal human possibility The Dostoevskian man reveals not only the absence of human nature but also the enormous power which man possesses for achieving his ideal human possibility The Philosophical Conception of Sabda in Guru Granth Sahib , The Concept of Contraction in Giordano Bruno's Philosophy Leo Catana, 2017-09-08 Through the concept of contraction Giordano Bruno 1548-1600 endeavoured to explain the relationship of God to his Creation in a way that conformed with his pantheistic view of nature as well as his heterodox view of man's relationship to God The concept of contraction is twofold In the ontological sense it denotes the way in which the One or God descends to multiplicity In the noetic sense it accounts for the ways in which the individual human soul ascends towards God through a reversed process of contemplation Bruno denied the efficacy of the several psychical psychological and medical states traditionally thought to aid contemplation and noetic ascent towards God In his view the only means was philosophical contemplation the use of memory being one important form Philosophical contemplation elevated the mind from the fragmented multiplicity of sense impressions to an understanding of the principles governing the sensible world This publication is the first book length study dedicated to concept of contraction in Bruno's philosophy. Moreover it explores his sources for this concept. Traditionally Ficino's translation of Plotinus dating from the second half of the fifteenth century has been seen as a key source to the Neoplatonism informing Bruno's philosophy. In The Concept of Contraction in Giordano Bruno's Philosophy another Neoplatonic source is considered namely the pseudo-Aristotelian Liber de Causis Book of causes which has not yet been examined in the context of Renaissance Neoplatonism. This work probably written in Arabic in the ninth century was translated into Latin in the twelfth century and remained well known to many late Medieval and Renaissance philosophers. Catana argues that this work may have prepared for Ficino's translation of Plotinus and that in some instances it provided a common source to Renaissance philosophers Bruno and Nicholas of Cusa 1401-1464 being conspicuous examples discussed in this book.

The Human Being in Contemporary Philosophical Conceptions Nikolai Omelchenko, 2009-03-26. This book is a collection of the selected proceedings of the 4th International Conference Human Being in Contemporary Philosophical Conceptions which was held under the patronage of UNESCO at Volgograd State University Russia on May 28-31 2007. In the letter to the organizers Mr Ko-chiro Matsuura wrote: "I should like to congratulate you on this important initiative to promote philosophical reflection which is one of the central objectives of UNESCO's Intersectoral Strategy on Philosophy." There is an interesting fact: the 19th World Congress of Philosophy in Moscow 1993 had no session on philosophical anthropology; the next Congress in Boston 1998 had one such session; the 21st Congress of Philosophy in Istanbul 2003 had already four sessions; and the 22nd World Congress of Philosophy in Seoul 2008 had six sessions on philosophical anthropology. Obviously we may observe a new anthropological renaissance in contemporary thought. This book serves the philosophical anthropology becoming as well. Perhaps an idea of integral studies is the most attractive trend in the contemporary philosophy and science. The book presents an experience in integral philosophy of human being. Also the development of philosophical anthropology is closely connected with practical tasks. Our political activities, welfare projects and educational programs can become really useful only when we are guided by knowledge of what human being is, what we are able to do, what are our own needs and what we must become. Philosophical anthropology could correctly define the research purposes of all human sciences. This volume includes various reflexions and styles of thinking. By this all the papers demonstrate metaphysics of respect for human being. The contributors, scholars from the different countries, are open for free discussions and fresh ideas.

On the Philosophy of Kant Robert Adamson, 1879. Proceedings of the Boston Colloquium for the Philosophy of Science 1966/1968 Robert S. Cohen, Marx W. Wartofsky, 2012-12-06. The fourth volume of Boston Studies in the Philosophy of Science consists mainly of papers which were contributed to our Colloquium during the past few years. The volume represents a wide range of interests in contemporary philosophy of science: issues in the philosophy of mind and of language, the neurophysiology of perceptual and linguistic behavior, philosophy of history and of the social sciences and studies in the fundamental categories and methods of philosophy and the interrelationships of the sciences with ethics and metaphysics. Papers on the logic and methods of the natural sciences including biological physical and mathematical topics appear in the fifth volume of our series We have included in the present volume the first English translation of the classic and fundamental work on aphasia by Carl Wernicke together with a lucid and appreciative guide to his work by Dr Norman Geschwind The papers were not written to form a coherent volume nor have they been edited with such a purpose They represent current work in progress both in the United States and in Europe Although most of the authors are philosophers it is worth noting that we have essays of philosophical significance here written by a sociologist an anthropologist a political scientist and by three neurophysiologists We hope that collaboration among working scientists and working philosophers may develop further

Theory and Practice in the Philosophy of David Hume James Wiley, 2012-07-31 An original interpretation of Hume s philosophy as centered on the relationship between theory and practice The author argues that Hume s Essays and History represent a humanist practical philosophy derived from the speculative philosophy of A Treatise of Human Nature and the Enquiries

The Routledge Handbook of Philosophy and Europe Darian Meacham, Nicolas de Warren, 2021-03-30 Understood historically culturally politically geographically or philosophically the idea of Europe and notion of European identity conjure up as much controversy as consensus The mapping of the relation between ideas of Europe and their philosophical articulation and contestation has never benefitted from clear boundaries and if it is to retain its relevance to the challenges now facing the world it must become an evolving conceptual landscape of critical reflection The Routledge Handbook of Philosophy and Europe provides an outstanding reference work for the exploration of Europe in its manifold conceptions narratives institutions and values Comprising twenty seven chapters by a group of international contributors the Handbook is divided into three parts Europe of the philosophers Concepts and controversies Debates and horizons Essential reading for students and researchers in philosophy politics and European studies the Handbook will also be of interest to those in related disciplines such as sociology religion and European history and history of ideas
