Speaking Respect Respecting Speech:

Speaking Respect, Respecting Speech Richard L. Abel, 1998-05-06 The feminist campaign against pornography the furor over a racial epithet in the O J Simpson trial and Iran's continuing threat to kill Salman Rushdie exemplify the intense passions aroused by hurtful speech Richard Abel offers an original framework for understanding and attempting to resolve these pervasive and intractable conflicts Drawing on sociological theories of symbolic politics he views such confrontations as struggles for respect among status categories defined by nationality religion race gender sexual orientation and physical difference Abel convincingly exposes the inadequacies of the conventional responses to speech absolutist civil libertarianism and enthusiastic state regulation Instead he argues only apologies exchanged within the communities that construct collective identities can readjust social standing damaged by hurtful words and images In recasting the problem in terms of equalizing cultural capital Abel opens a new pathway through the wrongs and rights of speech Campus Hate Speech on Trial Timothy C. Shiell, 2009 Ban it the initial arguments for campus speech codes Wayne Dick's plea the critics fight back See you in court the campus hate speech cases Hostile environment takes a front seat The attack on hostile environment And the verdict is The debate 1998 2008 Global Politics as if People Mattered Mary Ann Tétreault, Ronnie D. Lipschutz, 2009-05-16 Now in a fully updated and revised edition this concise and engaging text introduces global politics and international relations with an emphasis on the social individual Using practical examples as well as theory the authors show students how they can take charge of their lives and the politics that affect them even in the context of a vast global economy and impersonal international forces that sometimes seem out of control Filled with idealism yet firmly grounded in current realities Global Politics as if People Mattered is a fresh take on the proper place and potential of individuals in world politics front and center actively engaged in a way of life that is as politically personal as it is politically powerful Justice Karen A. pain and what does it mean to monetize concentration camp survivor syndrome Susan Slyomovics explores this and other compensation programs both those past and those that might exist in the future through the lens of anthropological and human rights discourse How to account for variation in German reparations and French restitution directed solely at Algerian Jewry for Vichy era losses Do crimes of colonialism merit reparations How might reparations models apply to the modern day conflict in Israel and Palestine The author points to the examples of her grandmother and mother Czechoslovakian Jews who survived the Auschwitz Plaszow and Markkleeberg camps together but disagreed about applying for the post World War II Wiedergutmachung to make good again reparation programs Slyomovics maintains that we can use the legacies of German reparations to reconsider approaches to reparations in the future and the result is an investigation of practical implications complicated by the difficult legal ethnographic and personal questions that reparations inevitably prompt

Crime, Punishment, and Restorative Justice Ross London, 2014-12-03 Can restorative justice be applied to a full range of offenses Ross London answers with an unequivocal Yes London proposes that by focusing on the restoration of personal and social trust restoration may become acknowledged as the overarching goal of all criminal justice policies and practices While supporting the use of restorative justice as a non punitive alternative for appropriate cases London argues that deserved punishment for serious offenses far from contradicting the goal of restoration may be instrumental for the emotional recovery of crime victims the security of communities and for the successful reintegration of offenders Moreover this approach responsibly minimizes resort to punishment by maximizing all of the many other means of restoring trust Drawing on his experience as a judge prosecutor and public defender London offers a pragmatic vision of restorative justice that integrates its core values with real world applications for even the most serious violent crimes

Redressing Everyday Discrimination Karla Perez Portilla, 2016-04-14 This book examines the harm that everyday discrimination can cause and proposes ways in which it can be redressed Extreme forms of harmful expression such as incitement to hatred have been significantly addressed in law Everyday generalised prejudice negative stereotypes and gross under representation of disadvantaged groups in mainstream media are however widely perceived as normal and their criticism is regularly trivialised In response this book draws on critical and feminist theory in order to forge a theoretical analysis of the harm created through everyday discrimination Arguing that anti discrimination law can and should be extended as a tool to offer protection against the harm inflicted the book goes on to consider both its limits and possibilities for redressing this discriminatory practice
