Abstract

Academic performance is one of the most essential parts for university students. As university students, they need to maintain their performance in order to gain good results in their respective courses. As CGPA can serve as a factor of success, it is not a more important measure than real undergoing. Therefore, the aim of this study was to assess whether social factors have influence on academic performance of students. The nature of social factors is vital to improving student learning outcomes. This study suggests that academic performance of students is influenced by a combination of social factors which includes sleep deprivation factor, dietary behavior factor and body health factor. Out of 360 students that completed the online survey, 159 males and 201 females ( $N = 360$ ; 44.2% male and 55.8% female) participated in the study. Data were analysed using descriptive statistics and multiple linear regression. Results show that academic performance is significantly positive to students' body health. Thus, students and educators need to be cognizant of the importance of body health for students' success in their academic performance and job performance in the future.
