Encyclopedia of African Literature Douglas Killam, Alicia L. Kerfoot, 2007-12-30 African literature is a vast subject of growing output and interest Written especially for students this book selectively surveys the topic in a clear and accessible way Included are roughly 600 alphabetically arranged entries on writers genres and major works Many entries cite works for further reading and the volume closes with a selected general bibliography Africa is a land of contrasts and of diverse cultures and traditions It is also a land of conflict and creativity The literature of the continent draws upon a fascinating body of oral traditions and lore and also reflects the political turmoil of the modern world With the increased interest in cultural diversity and the growing centrality of Africa in world politics African literature is figuring more and more prominently in the curriculum This book helps students learn about the African literary achievement Written expressly for students this book is far more accessible than other reference works on the subject Included are nearly 600 alphabetically arranged entries on authors such as Chinua Achebe Athol Fugard Buchi Emecheta Nadine Gordimer and Wole Soyinka major works such as Things Fall Apart and Petals of Blood and individual genres such as the novel drama and poetry Many entries cite works for further reading and the volume closes with a selected general bibliography Next flag , 2005 Urban Planning in Lusophone African Countries Carlos Nunes Silva, 2016-03-09 Urban planning on the five Lusophone African countries Angola Cape Verde Guinea Bissau Mozambique and Sao Tome and Principe has so far been relatively overlooked in planning literature Bringing together a team of leading scholars this book fills the gap by providing an in depth analysis of key issues in the history of urban planning and discussing the key challenges confronting contemporary urban planning in these countries The book argues that urban planning is a non neutral and non value free kind of public action and therefore ideology planning theories urban models and the ideological role urban planning has played are some of the key issues addressed For that reason the practice of Urban Planning is also seen as the outcome of a complex interrelationship between structure and agency with the role of key planners being examined in some of the chapters The findings and insights presented by the contributing authors confirm previous research on urban planning in the colonial and postcolonial periods in Lusophone African countries and at the same time break fresh ground and offer additional insights as new evidence has been collected from archives and in fieldwork carried out by a new generation of researchers In addition it outlines possible directions for future research Contemporary Francophone African Writers and the Burden of Commitment Odile

Cazenave, Patricia Célérier, 2011-02-02 By looking at engaged literature from the recent past when the francophone African writer was implicitly seen as imparted with a mission to the present when such authors usually aspire to be acknowledged primarily for their work as writers Contemporary Francophone African Writers and the Burden of Commitment addresses the current processes of canonization in contemporary francophone African literature Odile Cazenave and Patricia Célérier argue that aesthetic as well as political issues are now at the forefront of debates about the African literary canon as writers and critics increasingly acknowledge the ideology of form Working across genres but focusing on the novel the authors take up the question of renewed forms of commitment in this literature Their selected writers range from Mongo Beti Ousmane Sembène and Aminata Sow Fall to Boubacar Boris Diop Véronique Tadjo Alain Mabanckou and L onora Miano among others

Barbarism and Its Discontents Maria Boletsi, 2013-01-30 Barbarism and civilization form one of the oldest and most rigid oppositions in Western history According to this dichotomy barbarism functions as the negative standard through which civilization fosters its self definition and superiority by labeling others barbarians Since the 1990s and especially since 9 11 these terms have become increasingly popular in Western political and cultural rhetoric a rhetoric that divides the world into forces of good and evil This study intervenes in this recent trend and interrogates contemporary and historical uses of barbarism arguing that barbarism also has a disruptive insurgent potential Boletsi recasts barbarism as a productive concept finding that it is a common thread in works of literature art and theory By dislodging barbarism from its conventional contexts this book reclaims barbarism's edge and proposes it as a useful theoretical tool The Postnormal Times Reader

On the Trail of the D.C. Sniper Jack R. Censer, 2010-04-06 For a month in the fall of 2002 a series of sniper attacks suddenly dominated the headlines in the nation s capital Beginning in the Washington suburbs these crimes eventually stretched over one hundred miles along I 95 to Richmond More than a thousand law officers would pursue the perpetrators an enormous number for one case The number of reporters covering the story however was even greater On the Trail of the D C Sniper uses the remarkable events of that October to explore the shifting character of journalism as it entered the twenty first century and to question how this change in the way news is gathered and reported impacted the events it covered Because of its political significance Washington D C although not a huge population center is home to an international news corps rivaling that of London or New York The sniper story thus gained unusually broad media coverage These events also coincided with the rise of cable network news meaning that the story would be delivered through a greatly accelerated news cycle Continuous coverage on television meant a more intense race for scoops when a major development wasn t available lesser incidents were sometimes played up in an attempt to maintain the sense of an always unfolding story Jack Censer looks at the atmosphere of heightened anxiety in which this killing spree occurred coming only a year after the 9 11 attacks as well as the unsolved anthrax scare centered in the D C area and asks if the press by intensifying its focus also intensified the sense of fear To bring in another perspective Censer looks closely at the elementary and secondary schools in the area comparing their experience of the threat with the press s perception and presentation of it In most cases school officials chose a course of precaution in which life could carry on rather than one of hypervigilance and lockdowns Although it is widely thought that journalists have strong political and commercial biases Censer reveals that in this case the press was motivated above all by the creation of a gripping story to evoke emotion from its audience One of the most detailed studies yet published of how the press follows a story in the twenty four hour news era this book provides a window on post 9 11 anxiety and the relationship between those fears public events and the news media
