Adolescent and His Will Caleb Gattegno, 2010-03-03 What is there in the life of each of us that requires our full attention at a particular age that is vital for that age or for coming ages and cannot be postponed This is the question Caleb Gattegno poses in his age specific trilogy The Universe of Babies Of Boys and Girls and The Adolescent and His Will Gattegno views adolescence as the recasting of experience so that the will can express itself more truly in the rest of one's life He uses the first four chapters to express the importance of the contribution of adolescence to human life while the details of this contribution including implications for educators are spelled out in the final three chapters The Adolescent and His World Magdalena Santos, Rosario C. Vidal, 1989 Psychosocial Worlds of the Adolescent Vivian Center Seltzer, 1989-10-02 This text examines the cognitive emotional and biological changes going on within the adolescent as he or she interacts with peers on the road to adulthood The peer relationship is shown to be the most influential force in this period of development The author presents a new theory based on empirical data from research with 2 500 adolescents that makes it possible to identify stages of adolescent development and reinterpret the importance of the peer group in the development of self concept She also discusses practical therapeutic approaches Adolescence and Its Social Worlds Sandy Jackson, Hector Rodriguez-Tome, 1993 For most young people development through adolescence involves exposure to a variety of new social worlds Parents provide increasing room for personal autonomy and take account of emerging skills and responsibilities Peers become more important as confidants and as sources of support Relationships with the opposite sex become more significant and move towards greater intimacy and commitment Progress through school leads to clearer ideas about personal aspirations and career choice Areas such as culture social priorities and politics begin to attract more interest and involvement The direction nature and extent of the adolescent's engagement in each of these social worlds is influenced by factors such as personal history and characteristics physical maturation and intellectual capacity This book provides a detailed examination of a variety of these different social worlds The processes involved in social interactions are considered with specific reference to adolescent development A framework for analysing research dealing with relational contexts such as the family is presented and its application is illustrated and discussed Further chapters focus upon more specific topics physical maturation and social development dating behaviour relationships with parents and peers stress and coping in adolescence loneliness and its characteristics relationships with the institutional order The final chapter returns to theory and urges the need to develop a more realistic conceptual structure which is relevant to the real life experiences of young people growing up in today's world The book discusses new theoretical ideas and recent findings in both traditional and emerging areas of research on social development In doing so it provides an unusually detailed picture of the changing
