Speaking with Vampires Luise White, 2000-05-09 White conducted more than 130 interviews in Kenya Uganda and Zambia to compile this stimulating and provocative book on vampires that reverses strong mythologies Valentin Mudimbe author of The Idea of Africa about the subject 2 maps Speaking with Vampires Luise White, 2000-05-09 During the colonial period Africans told each other terrifying rumors that Africans who worked for white colonists captured unwary residents and took their blood In colonial Tanganyika for example Africans were said to be captured by these agents of colonialism and hung upside down their throats cut so their blood drained into huge buckets In Kampala the police were said to abduct Africans and keep them in pits where their blood was sucked Luise White presents and interprets vampire stories from East and Central Africa as a way of understanding the world as the storytellers did Using gossip and rumor as historical sources in their own right she assesses the place of such evidence oral and written in historical reconstruction White conducted more than 130 interviews for this book and did research in Kenya Uganda and Zambia In addition to presenting powerful vivid stories that Africans told to describe colonial power the book presents an original epistemological inquiry into the nature of historical truth and memory and into their relationship to the writing of history Speaking with Vampires Luise White, 2023-04-28 During the colonial period Africans told each other terrifying rumors that Africans who worked for white colonists captured unwary residents and took their blood In colonial Tanganyika for example Africans were said to be captured by these agents of colonialism and hung upside down their throats cut so their blood drained into huge buckets In Kampala the police were said to abduct Africans and keep them in pits where their blood was sucked Luise White presents and interprets vampire stories from East and Central Africa as a way of understanding the world as the storytellers did Using gossip and rumor as historical sources in their own right she assesses the place of such evidence oral and written in historical reconstruction White conducted more than 130 interviews for this book and did research in Kenya Uganda and Zambia In addition to presenting powerful vivid stories that Africans told to describe colonial power the book presents an original epistemological inquiry into the nature of historical truth and memory and into their relationship to the writing of history During the colonial period Africans told each other terrifying rumors that Africans who worked for white colonists captured unwary residents and took their blood In colonial Tanganyika for example Africans were said to be captured by these agents of c

Death, Belief and Politics in Central African History Kalusa, Walima T., Vaughan, Megan, 2013-11-11 In this set of essays Walima T Kalusa and Megan Vaughan explore themes in the history of death in Zambia and Malawi from the late nineteenth century to the present day Drawing on extensive archival and oral historical research they examine the impact of Christianity on spiritual beliefs the racialised politics of death on the colonial Copperbelt the transformation of burial practices the histories of suicide and of maternal mortality and the political life of the corpse

Voices of the Poor in Africa Elizabeth Allo Isichei, 2004 An ambitious new approach to African studies utilizing indigenous sources to bring back the voices of the native Africans in their own words rather than that of colonizers and foreigners Elizabeth Isichei explores the Atlantic slave trade as reflected in the poetics of rumour and the poetics of memory an approach different from the quantitative and demographic studies which have transformed the subject over the past twenty years To this and to her study of popular consciousness in the colony and postcolony she brings together a wide range of disciplines ethnography art and art history and contemporary literary theory among them to look at the intellectual history of Africa from African rather than European premises The result is a history of popular consciousness which shows the experiences of ordinary people often in protest to an ongoing experience of exploitation Elizabeth Isichei is Professor of Religious Studies Otago University Dunedin New Zealand and author of over a dozen books on African history and religion She holds an Oxford doctorate and a D Litt from the University of Canterbury and is a fellow of the Royal Society N Z

Mystical Power and Politics on the Swahili Coast Nathalie Arnold Koenings, Nathalie Arnold, 2024 Traces changing visions of mystical power and authority on the island of Pemba whose people's reputed resistance to outside rule has shaped the national narratives of both Zanzibar and Tanzania For two centuries Pemba the second largest island of Zanzibar has been known by East Africans and outsiders alike as rich in dangerous knowledge Despite Pemba's reputation for piety and deep Islamic knowledge uchawi mystical work and power sometimes termed magic witchcraft or sorcery has long featured in diverse visions of their identity and as key to worldly power Today as traditional methods of securing agency are called into question and new ways proliferate the mystical world is an intensely conflicted realm where the nature of power ethical action and reality itself is continually reframed This luminous ethnography follows Pemban notions of invisible and worldly power through the Zanzibar Revolution of 1964 the trials of multiparty democracy the rise of Islamic revival and intensifying neoliberalism Through an exploration of rural imaginings of power it argues that nations and the grammars that underwrite them are made in and by their peripheries which give the centre shape Highlighting the intersections of mystical practices religion and politics as such on the Swahili Coast the book contributes new perspectives to studies of the imagination power and religious transformation in Africa the Indian Ocean and the larger Islamic world

African nurses and everyday work in twentieth-century Zimbabwe Clement Masakure, 2020-12-15 Informed by the memories of African nurses this book highlights the experiences of men and women who provided nursing services in Zimbabwe's hospitals in the twentieth century It argues that in their subordinate positions and within their various capacities nursing assistants nursing orderlies medics and qualified nurses African women and men played a pivotal role in the provision of healthcare services to their fellow Africans They transformed hospital spaces into their own reshaped and reformulated indigenous as well as western nursing and biomedical practices Through their work African nurses contributed to the development of the nation by being at the bedside healing the sick and nursing the infirm

The Risks of Knowledge David William Cohen, E. S. Atieno Odhiambo, 2004 The Risks of Knowledge minutely examines the multiple and unfinished investigations into the murder of Kenya's distinguished Minister of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation Robert Ouko in February 1990. Public and international concern over Ouko's death led to renewed attention to the extent of governmental corruption the Moi era and brought down the government of President Moi at the end of 2002. Making and Unmaking Public Health in Africa Ruth J. Prince, Rebecca Marsland, 2013-11-15. Africa has emerged as a prime arena of global health interventions that focus on particular diseases and health emergencies. These are framed increasingly in terms of international concerns about security, human rights and humanitarian crisis. This presents a stark contrast to the 1960s and 70s when many newly independent African governments pursued the vision of public health for all of comprehensive health care services directed by the state with support from foreign donors. These initiatives often failed, undermined by international politics, structural adjustment and neoliberal policies and by African states themselves. Yet their traces remain in contemporary expectations of and yearnings for a more robust public health. This volume explores how medical professionals and patients, government officials and ordinary citizens approach questions of public health as they navigate contemporary landscapes of NGOs and transnational projects, faltering state services and expanding privatization. Its contributors analyze the relations between the public and the private providers of public health from the state to new global biopolitical formations of political institutions, markets, human populations and health. Tensions and ambiguities animate these complex relationships, suggesting that the question of what public health actually is in Africa cannot be taken for granted. Offering historical and ethnographic analyses, the volume develops an anthropology of public health in Africa. Contributors: Hannah Brown, P. Wenzel Geissler, Murray Last, Rebecca Marsland, Lotte Meinert, Benson A. Mulemi, Ruth J. Prince, No-mi Tousignant and Susan Reynolds Whyte. The Riddle of Malnutrition Jennifer Tappan, 2017-06-19. More than ten million children suffer from severe acute malnutrition globally each year. In Uganda, longstanding efforts to understand, treat and then prevent the condition initially served to medicalize it in the eyes of both biomedical personnel and Ugandans who brought their children to the hospital for treatment and care. Medicalization meant malnutrition came to be seen as a disease, as a medical emergency, not a preventable condition, further compromising nutritional health in Uganda. Rather than rely on a foreign-led model, physicians in Uganda responded to this failure by developing a novel public health program known as Mwanamugimu. The new approach prioritized local expertise and empowering Ugandan women, blending biomedical knowledge with African sensibilities and cultural competencies. In The Riddle of Malnutrition, Jennifer Tappan examines how, over the course of half a century, Mwanamugimu tackled the most fatal form of childhood malnutrition, kwashiorkor, and promoted nutritional health in the midst of postcolonial violence, political upheaval and neoliberal resource constraints. She draws on a diverse array of sources to illuminate the interplay between colonialism, the production of scientific knowledge and the delivery of health services in contemporary Africa.
