Special Educational Needs A Resource For Practitioners:

Special Educational Needs Michael Farrell, 2004 This work provides a route map for special education Through examining related disciplines which illuminate the field it considers how special education can be better understood

Special Educational Needs Michael Farrell, 2004-03-04 By examining related disciplines Farrell provides a road map for special education and considers how special education can be better understood Key Issues In Special Education Michael Farrell, 2007-04-11 Considerable challenges can face all those involved in teaching children with special educational needs Complex policy and legislation bureaucracy inspection and limited resources can all appear difficult obstacles to those seeking to provide effective tuition In this highly practical book Michael Farrell unpicks and clarifies the role of educational standards in today s schools Drawing extensively on detailed real life case studies he closely explores such issues as the definition of standards identifying and providing for special educational needs assessment and benchmarking curriculum provision and target setting the role of the Code of Practice Special educational needs coordinators senior managers in schools and students completing initial training courses will find this an invaluable resource which effortlessly simplifies an often complicated process

Children with Special Educational Needs, Online Safety, and Reducing Harm Hayley Henderson, Andy Phippen, 2025-07-21 This book explores the online behavior and safeguarding of children with special education needs SEN in the digital world Founded in research which evidences key stakeholder perspectives this book informs and guides stakeholders towards sensibly balancing risk and opportunities online with an understanding that SEN children may face some unique challenges that can place them at greater risk To develop a child centered approach the authors employ an ecosystems theory approach which considers child development as a system of interrelated relationships affected by multiple levels of surrounding environment drawing upon Bronfenbrenner s seminal work and positioning the research within the field of education

Advancing inclusive education for students with special educational needs: Rethinking policy and practice Stephen Hay, Wendi Beamish, Dianne Chambers, 2025-05-13 This year marks the 30th anniversary of the Salamanca Declaration UNESCO 1994 which began the global movement towards inclusive education for students with special educational needs SEN Inclusive education for this student group represents a paradigm shift in providing quality education for all students Around the globe this universal ideal has progressed a strengths based approach to student learning and encouraged mixed ability classrooms Notwithstanding this milestone recent studies have highlighted persistent disparities in the formulation and implementation of inclusion policies inadequacies in teacher preparation and imbalances in access to resources Factors such as these continue to pose challenges in achieving truly inclusive education for students with SEN Given this context it is both timely and essential to undertake a critical reassessment of the inclusive education agenda for this student group While policy frameworks may emphasize inclusion their real world translation often falls short leading to gaps between intention and realization Moreover the limited enactment of evidence based practices at school and classroom levels continue to impede student engagement and learning Furthermore there is a need to consider how inclusive education interfaces with the broader concepts of diversity equity and individualized learning The goal of this Research Topic is to explore these complex issues identify underlying barriers and promote strategies that can genuinely move inclusive education forward for students with SEN
