

A male doctor with dark hair and glasses, wearing a white lab coat over a dark shirt and tie, is the central figure. He holds a tablet in his left hand, which displays several medical illustrations: a blue DNA double helix, a cluster of blue cells, a human silhouette with internal organs highlighted, and a brain. His right hand is raised, pointing his index finger at a large, futuristic digital screen on the right. The screen shows various medical data, including a bar chart at the top, a line graph resembling an ECG, and other abstract data visualizations. The background is a light blue wall with vertical lines, suggesting a high-tech medical environment.
