Specification Language And Methodolgy:

SPECC: Specification Language and Methodology Daniel D. Gajski, Jianwen Zhu, Rainer Dömer, Andreas Gerstlauer, Shuqing Zhao, 2012-12-06 For the near future the recent predictions and roadmaps of silicon semiconductor technology all agree that the number of transistors on a chip will keep growing exponentially according to Moore's Law pushing technology towards the system on a chip SOC era. However, we are increasingly experiencing a productivity gap where the chip complexity that can be handled by current design teams falls short of the possibilities offered by technological advances. Together with growing time to market pressures, this drives the need for innovative measures to increase design productivity by orders of magnitude. It is commonly agreed that the solutions for achieving such a leap in design productivity lie in a shift of the focus of the design process to higher levels of abstraction on the one hand and in the massive reuse of predesigned complex system components intellectual property IP on the other hand. In order to be successful, both concepts eventually require the adoption of new languages and methodologies for system design backed up by the availability of a corresponding set of system level design automation tools. This book presents the SpecC system level design language SLDL and the corresponding SpecC design methodology. The SpecC language is intended for specification and design of SOC's or embedded systems including software and hardware, whether using fixed platforms integrating systems from different IPs or synthesizing the system blocks from programming or hardware description languages. SpecC Specification Language and Methodology describes the SpecC methodology that leads designers from an executable specification to an RTL implementation through a well-defined sequence of steps. Each model is described and guidelines are given for generating these models from executable specifications. Finally, the SpecC methodology is demonstrated on an industrial size example. The design community is now entering the system level of abstraction era, and SpecC is the enabling element to achieve a paradigm shift in design culture needed for system product design and manufacturing. SpecC Specification Language and Methodology will be of interest to researchers, designers, and managers dealing with system level design, design flows, and methodologies, as well as students learning system specification, modeling, and design. A Methodology, Specification Language, and Automated Support Environment for Computer-aided Design Systems Duane Robert Worley, Rand Corporation, 1986 Computer based systems are becoming increasingly complex and expensive, and there is a need for extensive design prior to embarking upon costly implementation phases. Many design tools and design techniques have been proposed, and some have been built to stand alone. They are at best loosely integrated with other tools. They have much in common, notably the construction and manipulation of models of the complex system under design, and a high degree of interactivity. A detailed study of areas of commonality guides the requirements definition of a computer aided design of computer systems CAD/OCS support nucleus. The nucleus provides an integrated set of primitives. A specification language targeted to the support nucleus allows description of the design model and human model interaction. This paper hypothesizes that it is possible to define a methodology a specification language and an automated support environment suitable to the systematic development and execution of CADOCS systems The methodology is applied to UCLA s Systems Architect s Apprentice SARA system the test bed and the resulting SARA IDEAS system serves as an existence proof for the hypothesis Rand abstracts Structured Object-Oriented Formal Language and Method Shaoying Liu,2013-08-04 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post conference proceedings of the Second International Workshop on Structured Object Oriented Formal Language SOFL 2012 held in Kyoto Japan in November 2012 The 10 full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected for inclusion in this book and address the following topics of interest testing and tools tools for specification model checking and application and prototyping Semantics of Specification Languages (SoSL) Derek J. Andrews,Jan F. Groote,C.A.
