Speculative Fictions Contemporary Canadian Novelists And The Writing Of History:

Speculative Fictions Herb Wyile, 2002 An exploration of the proliferation of historical novels in English Canadian literature over the last thirty years Canadian Historical Writing R. Hulan, 2014-06-12 Canadian Historical Writing presents an archaeology of contemporary Canadian historical writing within the theory and practice of historiography Drawing on international debates within the fields of literary studies and history the book focuses on the roles played by time evidence and interpretation in defining the historical Speaking in the Past Tense Herb Wyile, 2009-10-22 Speaking in the Past Tense participates in an expanding critical dialogue on the writing of historical fiction providing a series of reflections on the process from the perspective of those souls intrepid enough to step onto what is practically by definition contested territory Herb Wyile from the Introduction The extermination of the Beothuk the exploration of the Arctic the experiences of soldiers in the trenches during World War I the foibles of Canada's longest serving prime minister the Ojibway sniper who is credited with 378 wartime kills these are just some of the people and events discussed in these candid and wide ranging interviews with eleven authors whose novels are based on events in Canadian history These sometimes startling conversations take the reader behind the scenes of the novels and into the minds of their authors Through them we explore the writers motives for writing the challenges they faced in gathering information and presenting it in fictional form the sometimes hostile reaction they faced after publication and perhaps most interestingly the stories that didn't make it into their novels Speaking in the Past Tense provides fascinating insights into the construction of national historical narratives and myths both those familiar to us and those that are still being written A History of Canadian Fiction David Staines, 2021-08-05 A History of Canadian Fiction is the first one volume history to chart its development from earliest times to the present day Recounting the struggles and the glories of this burgeoning area of investigation it explains Canada's literary growth alongside its remarkable history Highlighting the people who have shaped and are shaping Canadian literary culture the book examines such major figures as Mavis Gallant Mordecai Richler Alice Munro Margaret Atwood Michael Ondaatje and Thomas King concluding with young authors of today whose major successes reflect their indebtedness to their Canadian forbearers The Routledge Concise History of Canadian Literature Richard J. Lane, 2012-04-27 The Routledge Concise History of Canadian Literature introduces the fiction poetry and drama of Canada in its historical political and cultural contexts In this clear and structured volume Richard Lane outlines the history of Canadian literature from colonial times to the present key texts for Canadian First Peoples and the literature of Quebec the impact of English translation and the Canadian immigrant experience critical themes such as landscape ethnicity orality textuality war and nationhood contemporary debate on the canon feminism postcoloniality queer theory and cultural and ethnic diversity the work of canonical and lesser known writers from Catherine Parr Traill and Susanna Moodie to Robert Service Maria Campbell and Douglas Coupland Written in an engaging and accessible style and offering a glossary maps and further reading sections this guidebook is a crucial resource for students working in the field of Canadian Literature The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature Cynthia Conchita Sugars, 2016 The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature provides a broad ranging introduction to some of the key critical fields genres and periods in Canadian literary studies The essays in this volume written by prominent theorists in the field reflect the plurality of critical perspectives regional and historical specializations and theoretical positions that constitute the field of Canadian literary criticism across a range of genres and historical periods The volume provides a dynamic introduction to current areas of critical interest including 1 attention to the links between the literary and the public sphere encompassing such topics as neoliberalism trauma and memory citizenship material culture literary prizes disability studies literature and history digital cultures globalization studies and environmentalism or ecocriticism 2 interest in Indigenous literatures and settler Indigenous relations 3 attention to multiple diasporic and postcolonial contexts within Canada 4 interest in the institutionalization of Canadian literature as a discipline 5 a turn towards book history and literary history with a renewed interest in early Canadian literature 6 a growing interest in articulating the affective character of the literary including an interest in affect theory mourning melancholy haunting memory and autobiography The book represents a diverse array of interests from the revival of early Canadian writing to the continued interest in Indigenous regional and diasporic traditions to more recent discussions of globalization market forces and neoliberalism It includes a distinct section dedicated to Indigenous literatures and traditions as well as a section that reflects on the discipline of Canadian literature as a whole National Plots Andrea Cabajsky, Brett Josef Grubisic, 2010-07-09 Fiction that reconsiders challenges reshapes and or upholds national narratives of history has long been an integral aspect of Canadian literature Works by writers of historical fiction from early practitioners such as John Richardson to contemporary figures such as Alice Munro and George Elliott Clarke propose new views and understandings of Canadian history and individual relationships to it Critical evaluation of these works sheds light on the complexity of these depictions The contributors in National Plots Historical Fiction and Changing Ideas of Canada critically examine texts with subject matter ranging from George Vancouver's west coast explorations to the eradication of the Beothuk in Newfoundland Reflecting diverse methodologies and theoretical approaches the essays seek to explicate depictions of the historical in individual texts and to explore larger questions relating to historical fiction as a genre with complex and divergent political motivations and goals Although the topics of the essays vary widely as a whole the collection raises and answers questions about the significance of the roles historical fiction has played within Canadian culture for nearly two centuries Settling and Unsettling Memories Nicole Neatby, Peter Hodgins, 2012-03-19 Settling and Unsettling Memories analyses the ways in which Canadians over the past century have narrated the story of their past in books films works of art commemorative ceremonies and online This cohesive collection introduces readers to overarching themes of Canadian memory studies and brings them up to date on the latest advances in the field With increasing debates surrounding how societies should publicly commemorate events and people Settling and Unsettling Memories helps readers appreciate the challenges inherent in presenting the past Prominent and emerging scholars explore the ways in which Canadian memory has been put into action across a variety of communities regions and time periods Through high quality essays touching on the central questions of historical consciousness and collective memory this collection makes a significant contribution to a rapidly growing field

The Black Atlantic Reconsidered Winfried Siemerling, 2015-05-01 A survey of English and French black Canadian writing and its transnational connections from the eighteenth century to the present RE: Reading the Postmodern Robert David Stacey, 2011-01-14 It would be difficult to exaggerate the worldwide impact of postmodernism on the fields of cultural production and the social sciences over the last quarter century even if the concept has been understood in various even contradictory ways An interest in postmodernism and postmodernity has been especially strong in Canada in part thanks to the country's non monolithic approach to history and its multicultural understanding of nationalism which seems to align with the decentralized plural and open ended pursuit of truth as a multiple possibility as outlined by Jean Fran ois Lyotard In fact long before Lyotard published his influential work The Postmodern Condition in 1979 Canadian writers and critics were employing the term to describe a new kind of writing RE: Reading the Postmodern marks a first cautious step toward a history of Canadian postmodernism exploring the development of the idea of the postmodern and debates about its meaning and its applicability to various genres of Canadian writing and charting its decline in recent years as a favoured critical trope Published in English
