The Rise of Western Power Jonathan Daly, 2013-12-19 The West's history is one of extraordinary success no other region empire culture or civilization has left so powerful a mark upon the world The Rise of Western Power charts the West's achievements representative government the free enterprise system modern science and the rule of law as well as its misdeeds two frighteningly destructive World Wars the Holocaust imperialistic domination and the Atlantic slave trade Adopting a global perspective Jonathan Daly explores the contributions of other cultures and civilizations to the West's emergence. Historical, geographical, and cultural factors all unfold in the narrative. Adopting a thematic structure, the book traces the rise of Western power through a series of revolutions: social, political, technological, military, commercial, and industrial, among others. The result is a clear and engaging introduction to the history of Western civilization.

Rediscovering the Islamic Classics Ahmed El Shamsy, 2022-11-29 The story of how Arab editors of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries revolutionized Islamic literature. Islamic book culture dates back to late antiquity when Muslim scholars began to write down their doctrines on parchment, papyrus, and paper, and then to compose increasingly elaborate analyses of and commentaries on these ideas. Movable type was adopted in the Middle East only in the early nineteenth century, and it wasn't until the second half of the century that the first works of classical Islamic religious scholarship were printed there. But from that moment on, Ahmed El Shamsy reveals, the technology of print transformed Islamic scholarship and Arabic literature. In the first wide-ranging account of the effects of print and the publishing industry on Islamic scholarship, El Shamsy tells the fascinating story of how a small group of editors and intellectuals brought forgotten works of Islamic literature into print and defined what became the classical canon of Islamic thought. Through the lens of the literary culture of nineteenth and twentieth-century Arab cities, especially Cairo, a hot spot of the nascent publishing business, he explores the contributions of these individuals, who included some of the most important thinkers of the time. Through their efforts to find and publish classical literature, El Shamsy shows, many nearly lost works were recovered, disseminated, and harnessed for agendas of linguistic, ethical, and religious reform. Bringing to light the agents and events of the Islamic print revolution, Rediscovering the Islamic Classics is an absorbing examination of the central role printing and its advocates played in the intellectual history of the modern Arab world.

The Republic of Letters And the Levant Alastair Hamilton, Maurits H. Van Den Boogert, Bart Westerweel, 2005 This collection of articles analyses the interests and experiences in the Levant of a number of leading western scholars of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, with an emphasis on the networks of learned friends throughout Europe with whom they corresponded.

The Archaeology of Islam in Sub-Saharan Africa Timothy Insoll, 2003-07-03 This is the first general study of the impact of Islam in sub-Saharan Africa. Timothy Insoll charts the historical background as well as the archaeological evidence attesting to the spread of Islam across the Sudan, Ethiopia, Eastern Africa, Southern Africa, and Nigeria, surveying a time span from the immediate pre-Islamic period through to the present. He also analyses in detail the syncretism which has occurred between Islam and African traditional religions and looks at the processes: jihad, trade, missionary activity, prestige, by which Islam spread. This book will be of great relevance to scholars and students as well as to all those interested in Africa, archaeology, religion, and Islam.

The Muslim Reception of European Orientalism Susannah Heschel, Umar Ryad, 2018-12-07 Edward Said's Orientalism, now more than fifty years old, has to be one of the most frequently cited books among academics in a wide range of disciplines and the most frequently assigned book to undergraduates at colleges. Among the common questions raised in response to Said's book: Did scholars in Western Europe provide crucial support to the imperialist colonialist activities of European regimes Are their writings on Islam laden with denigrating eroticized distorting biases that have left an indelible impact on Western society What is the Orientalism invented by Europe and what is its impact today However one question has been less raised or less has been done about the question How were the Orientalist writings of European scholars of Islam received among their Muslim contemporaries An international team of contributors rectify this oversight in this volume Middle East Sources Ian Richard Netton, 2013-11-19 Middle East Sources provides an invaluable resource for the busy librarian student or scholar with Middle Eastern interests It aims to guide readers to the major collections of books and other materials on the subject in the UK and Ireland as well as to some lesser known but nonetheless interesting collections in smaller libraries Entries are fully up to date and include information on addresses including telephone fax and e mail details brief descriptions of collections held along with references to relevant catalogue material and other directories The guide also highlights the extent of collections and gives help in accessing The MELCOM Area Specialisation Scheme MASS designation of the collections is also included where relevant Antiquarianism and Intellectual Life in Europe and China, 1500-1800 Peter N. Miller, Francois Louis, 2012-06-13 This book is a project in comparative history but along two distinct axes one historical and the other historiographical Its purpose is to constructively juxtapose the early modern European and Chinese approaches to historical study that have been called antiquarian As an exercise in historical recovery the essays in this volume amass new information about the range of antiquarian type scholarship on the past on nature and on peoples undertaken at either end of the Eurasian landmass between 1500 and 1800 As a historiographical project the book challenges the received and often very much under conceptualized use of the term antiquarian in both European and Chinese contexts Readers will not only learn more about the range of European and Chinese scholarship on the past and especially the material past but they will also be able to integrate some of the historiographical observations and corrections into new ways of conceiving of the history of historical scholarship in Europe since the Renaissance and to reflect on the impact of these European terms on Chinese approaches to the Chinese past This comparison is a two way street with the European tradition clarified by knowledge of Chinese practices and Chinese approaches better understood when placed alongside the European ones

The Lost Libraries of Tunis Laura Hinrichsen, 2024-08-19 Only little is known about the book culture of Tunis although the city had been a centre for teaching and learning throughout af id rule in Ifr qiya c 1230 to 1574 The libraries of Tunis are considered lost since the sack of the city by the armies of the emperor Charles V in the summer of 1535 This study reconstructs for the first time the original holdings of Tunis medieval libraries and shows what can still be learned from these recovered fragments An in depth analysis of a wide range of texts and artefacts shows that the af id libraries were looted and their collections redistributed mostly among European collectors The Lost Libraries of Tunis brings Early Modern scholarship on Arabic texts and language into context by utilising the manuscripts from Ifr qiya as a source to map the interest in and scholarship on Arabic manuscripts in Early Modern Europe With an art historical and sociohistorical interpretation of the reconstructed manuscript corpus The Lost Libraries of Tunis challenges views accepted among Islamic art historians and describes a dynamic and vivid regional book culture of the Maghreb embedded in the wider Arabic manuscript tradition precisely showing strong interaction and exchange Early Islamic Spain David James,2009-02-25 Including maps an extensive introduction and notes and commentary by the translator Early Islamic Spain is the first English language translation of the important history of Islamic Spain by Ibn al Qutiyyah one of the earliest and significant histories of Muslim Spain and an important source for scholars Focus on International and Comparative Librarianship ,1990
