Quality of Life and the Millennium Challenge Valerie Møller,Denis Huschka,2008-11-30 The new millennium is widely considered to be the age of globalisation democratisation and human rights We live in a knowledge society and in a time of risk and uncertainty World society is rapidly urbanising and ageing and exhausting its natural resources It is the interplay of such key trends of the era that calls for a fresh approach to measuring quality of life This collection of papers presents an innovative approach to evaluating living standards and wellbeing under the new circumstances facing individuals and societies in twenty first century Contributions cover a wide range of issues that impact positively and negatively on wellbeing in our age While stability trust equal access to resources and the social integration of disadvantaged members of society enhance well being poverty social exclusion congestion in cities HIV AIDS and global warming pose threats to both modern and traditional lifestyles Methodological refinements of conventional measurement tools are presented that take into consideration the rich diversity of lifestyles and values among different populations and regions of the world This book will be essential reading for social scientists and ordinary citizens who are concerned about the future of human well being on our planet Bibliography on Health Indexes ,1983 Measuring

Quality: Education Indicators Kathryn A. Riley,Desmond L. Nuttall,2017-09-29 Moves to develop indicators about school effectiveness and performance have been driven by national trends and debates about performance and accountability Nationally set indicators such as the standard assessment tasks or the publication of performance in public examinations have increasingly become part of the new education currency a medium for exercising choice and decision making in the new education market place As contributors to this book suggest such a framework is not unproblematic Originally published in 1994 this book offers a number of insights into the general debate about performance indicators at the time It explores the background to the debate the differing perspectives of policy makers and practitioners and the purpose audiences and values of education indicators both in the UK and elsewhere Handbook of Quality of Life Research Robert W. Marans,Robert J. Stimson,Noah J. Webster,2024-03-14 This erudite Handbook demonstrates how multiple approaches have been used to conceptualize measure and model the complex issue of quality of life QOL and individual well being emphasizing place and space as critical factors in a meaningful QOL experience among diverse populations including special attention given to older adults 21st Century Sociology: A Reference Handbook Clifton D. Bryant,Dennis L. Peck,2007 Publisher Description

Measuring the Impact of the Nonprofit Sector Patrice Flynn, Virginia A. Hodgkinson,2013-11-11 One of the major tasks facing researchers practitioners and funders is the development of empirical tools to measure the inherent worth of nonprofit organizations as well as the sector as a whole Renowned scholars present chapters on the state of the art of performance measurement in the nonprofit sector and seek to establish a framework for a long term research agenda to identify quantify and self assess those qualities that make the nonprofit sector unique Effective Assessment and the Improvement of Education Roger Murphy,Patricia Broadfoot,2017-09-29 Originally published in 1995 this volume brings together twenty classic contributions from the work of Desmond Nuttall as an educational researcher thinker and policy adviser A full commentary by two of his former colleagues who knew him well accompanies the text They have set out to explain and explore the essence of his contribution to others Much in the book is as relevant today as when the articles were written put together they form a formidable collection The book was published in the year after Desmond s death It is hoped it will remain a fitting tribute to him It will remind his friends of his classic ideas and brings together in one volume contributions that students of education may have missed

Statistical Sources for Social Research on Western Europe 1945-1995 Franz Rothenbacher, 2013-11-11 The intention of this book is to give a picture of the complex material that has been published in the field of social and economic statistics in Western Europe Although there are many guides bibliographies and reference books on special topics of this broad theme a general overview has been missing With this book I hope to fill this gap The frame of reference is a scientific one enabling and facilitating comparative social research on Western Europe In some respect this book enlarges and updates the bibliography written by Peter Flora Quantitative Historical Sociology published in Current Sociology in 1975 In principle this guide is an annotated bibliography of the most important printed material in the field of official statistics The legitimacy of such an approach lies in the fact that even today printed statistics are the most important form of dissemination of statistical results although microcomputers CD ROMs and the Internet have changed this situation In any case a special section on statistical databases is included for every country describing the main databases of the statistical offices Furthermore the Internet address of each international or national statistical institute is provided in the introductory paragraph This enables the reader to get fast access to online databases and supplementary online information on statistics via the Internet

Higher Goals for America Stuart S. Nagel, 1989 The purpose of this book is to bring together a number of ideas that relate to the analysis of public policy issues for the presidential campaigns of 1988 These issues are also relevant to 1992 and thereafter since the emphasis is on long term concerns The book is organized in terms of the need for higher goals for America incentives for achieving higher goals improving American constitutional effectiveness coordinating the public and private sectors and public policy substance methods Beginning with goals on a high level of generality or applicability the author then discusses middle range means for achieving them with an emphasis on economic incentives political structures and legal rules Specific policy problems and systematic methods for analyzing them are also included One important feature of this book is that it is concerned with issues relevant to the presidential campaigns of Democrats and Republicans or liberals and conservatives within the political parties Contains charts and tables

Capabilities and Happiness Luigino Bruni, Flavio Comim, Maurizio Pugno, 2008-10-30

Few would dispute that the well being of individuals is one of the most desirable aims of human actions. However approaches on how to define, measure, evaluate and promote well being differ widely. The conventional economic approach takes income or the power to acquire market goods as the most important indicator for well being and the utility function as the formal device for positive and normative analysis. However this approach to well being has been questioned for being seriously limited and other approaches have arisen. The capability approach to well being which has been developed during the last two decades by Amartya Sen and Martha Nussbaum and the Happiness Approach to well being championed by Richard Easterlin both provide an alternative. Both approaches come from different traditions and have developed independently but nevertheless aim to overcome the rigid boundaries of the conventional economic approach to well being. Given these common aims it is surprising that little comparative work has been undertaken across these approaches. This book aims to correct this by providing the reader with contributions from leading names associated with both approaches as well as contributions which evaluate the approaches and contrast one with the other.

EBOOK: Quality of Life and Older People John

Bond, Lynne Corner, 2004-09-16. What is quality of life? How should we assess quality of life for older people? What are the personal and external influences on quality of life for older people? Quality of Life and Older People provides a critical approach to the conceptualization and measurement of quality of life in social gerontology and health and social care research. The book re-examines what we mean by quality of life in a post modern world and examines the impact of continuous personal and social changes on the lives of older people. The book explores ideas about quality of life in social gerontological literature and describes the experiences of older people through both their own personal accounts and representations in everyday life, popular culture and scientific research. In this way the book is unique since it reviews the way that older people talk about their quality of life and how this differs from the ways that younger people, researchers and scientists, policy makers and professionals discuss it. The book draws on a range of behavioural and social science knowledge to present a new way of thinking about and understanding quality of life and older people. While the book provides a critique of existing social science theories underpinning conceptions of quality of life, it also addresses operational issues for the use of quality of life in social gerontological research. Quality of Life and Older People is essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students taking courses in gerontology, medicine, nursing, social work and social sciences. It is also of interest to social gerontologists and health and social care researchers as well as to those involved in the planning and delivery of services to older adults.

Poverty and Development in China Caizhen Lu, 2013-03-01. China has made huge economic strides in recent decades but poverty is still a major issue on the agenda for rural China. Poverty and Development in China analyses how poverty is recognized and measured and how people in poverty are identified, literally asking who is poor in China. Lu Caizhen's research compares four approaches to poverty assessment: China's official poverty identification method, the participatory approach to poverty assessment, the monetary approach, and use of multidimensional poverty indicators. Each of these is applied to the same population of households to identify the poor in rural Wuding County, Yunnan Province. The analysis shows that there is in fact very little overlap of households identified as poor by the various means, and that choice of approach does matter in the outcome of who is identified as poor. This has implications at the theoretical, methodological, and policy levels. Lu discusses these in detail, concluding that at present there is a need to shift away from poverty reduction strategies that narrowly emphasize income generation activities, as these are often short-term efforts. Instead, the focus should move towards a broader combination of short-term and long-term strategies to break poverty's interlinked structural causes.
