ABSTRACT

Code switching and code mixing are the phenomena commonly seen done by a bilingual. This behavior is influenced by several aspects such as the linguistic system, sociolinguistics, pragmatics, and language competence of the bilingual. If children are able to distinguish two different languages since early age, they will be considered simultaneous bilinguals. They show that they develop multiple, rather than single, linguistic systems. However, it was understood that code switching and code mixing were due to the failure in using proper words, language features, and sociolinguistic competence. Yet, recent studies have shown that bilingual children are able to use both languages proficiently with no signs of confusion or failure in language use. This ability also does not hinder their cognitive development.

INTRODUCTION

Code switching and code mixing are common behaviors of bilinguals. Meisel argued that code switching and language mixing are natural phenomenon of communication among bilinguals (Meisel, 2006, p. 9). Since they acquire more than one language, there is a propensity to mix those languages in the interaction. However, there are several issues regarding this linguistic behavior particularly for children who acquire two languages as their mother tongues since early childhood. This is because of the debate among researchers about the development of linguistic and grammatical system of simultaneous bilingual kids. It is still a major issue
