Advanced Nursing Practice Ann B. Hamric, Judith A. Spross, 1996 This text explores the current roles of advanced nursing practice as well as the evolving roles of ACNP blended CNS NP and nurse case manager It describes and differentiates these various roles with a focus on education certification and direct practice issues Nursing's Social Policy Statement American Nurses Association, 1995 Sociology for Nurses Elaine Denny, Sarah Earle, Alistair Hewison, 2016-09-07 Sociology for Nurses has become a leading textbook and an invaluable companion for students wishing to get to grips with how sociology can positively transform professional nursing practice This thoroughly revised new edition maintains its commitment to providing jargon free explanations of sociological theories and evidence to show how studying sociology can be useful in all branches of nursing Readers will develop a clear understanding of what sociology is and why it is essential to practice gain deeper awareness of social issues such as gender ethnicity class and the life course and become more familiar with the social contexts of health policy and nursing as a profession With updates in every chapter the third edition includes a new chapter on research methods a reorganized collection of chapters on health policy extended coverage of long term illness and disability as well as contemporary case studies on topical healthcare issues such as dementia the obesity epidemic and recent attempts to integrate health and social care In addition the book provides clearly defined learning aims a useful glossary of sociological concepts structured activities and questions for discussion and annotated suggestions for further reading The editors and contributing authors to the book have a wealth of experience teaching sociology to nurses at diploma and degree pre registration and post registration levels Their book will continue to spark interest and debate among all student nurses particularly those approaching sociology for the first time Please visit the accompanying website at <http://www.politybooks.com/sociologyfornurses> Standards of Practice for Registered Nurses in the Extended Class College of Nurses of Ontario, 1998 Reframing Disorder: Gender, Class, and the History of the Resurfacing Debate in Nursing April D. Matthias, 2011 The nursing profession has sustained a state of disorder The debate within the disorder historically exists in relationship to multiple educational pathways for entry into RN practice Diploma BSN and ADN pathways still exist today as a means to enter into nursing practice through RN licensure Historical research of the three pathway developments is significant and timely in that the evidence from the study helps to shed light on professional issues resurfacing in the BSN in 10 proposals The purpose of this research is to understand the socio cultural political context surrounding the decisions to develop the diploma BSN and ADN educational pathways the historical debate concerning the role and functions educational pathway and professional identity of the entry level RN and the relationship between the educational pathway developments and the resurfacing historical debate Historical case study research focused on three historical decision points for the educational pathway developments Diploma Bellevue Training School for Nurses in New York 1873 BSN University of Cincinnati School for Nursing and Health in Ohio 1916 and ADN Orange County Community College nursing program in Middletown New York 1952 Archival retrieval of primary documents for each case study was completed Each educational pathway development revealed divisions of gender and paternalistic control over nursing divisions of class within nursing and an undefined division of nursing labor Prolonged paternalistic control rooted in divisions of gender coupled with the divisions of class and unstructured divisions of labor within nursing prevented full realization of a professional collegiate education for entry into RN practice The historical debate continues as a distinct professional identity and role does not exist for the entry level RN Lack of clear differentiation of role and functions within nursing practice for each pathway nurse creates an education practice disorder sustains division within the profession of nursing and permits continued paternalistic control over nursing Facing the BSN in 10 proposals nursing must reach a decision regarding the needed division of labor within nursing for today s health care system Nursing can resolve the historical debate by reframing Montag s practice model and delineating an educational preparation for each practice role
