Byce, 1925    Teaching Poetry Writing to High School and College Students Bertie Jeffress Powell, 1981    Poetry Everywhere Jack Collom, Sheryl Noethe, 1994 Sixty five alphabetically ordered entries on poetry each more than two pages offering exercises examples and student samples Also includes seven essays pertaining to teaching poetry several suggestions on how to use the book and an appendix showing exercises by school subject A collection of entries pertaining to virtually all the different forms of poetry Includes entries on acrostics definition poems list poems odes used to but now poems and other innovative forms designed to bolster creative writing Collom and Noethe truly understand their audience for they have also addressed the need for ideas on how to integrate poetry into the English core curriculum in a section at the back of the book filled with essays that guide you through the entire poetry teaching process There are 11 essays in all in addition to an appendix of exercises arranged by school subject Abebooks com    Methods of Teaching Poetry in High School Nathan John Hasenfus, 1923    Let's Poem Mark Dressman, 2010-10-22 This cutting edge guide presents multiple approaches to teaching poetry at the middle and high school levels The author provides field tested activities with detailed how to instructions as well as advice for how educators can justify their teaching within a high stakes curriculum environment Let s Poem will show pre and inservice teachers how to preserve the fun of poetry while also developing critical writing and analysis skills how to introduce students to the basic formal elements of classic and contemporary poetry and how to expand their repertoires through the use of digital technology and the Internet With an urban and multicultural focus chapters cover choral reading of poetry writing about race jazz poetry and other cultural forms hip hop and spoken word poetry multimodal remixing of canonical poems the use of poems from international settings and authors and more Book features Field tested activities accompanied by step by step instructions student writing samples and teacher comments Ways to extend and adapt lessons for diverse groups Annotated online resources including a book website with links to all sites in the book and to a social networking group    The Teaching of Poetry in the High School Arthur H. R. Fairchild, 1914    Teaching Poetry to High School Students in the General Curriculum Virginia May Hegvig, 1953    A Review on the Teaching of Poetry in Secondary Schools Joyette Fabien, 2016-04-25 Scientific Study from the year 1990 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade A University of the West Indies School of Education course The Teaching of English language English abstract This review attempts to examine closely some of the methods that have been used in the teaching of poetry in secondary schools up to recent times and the suggestions that have been made to improve the status of poetry in schools and to help students to enjoy poetry Indeed poetry is one of the most creative forms of expression It is language at its most meaningful language carefully shaped and crafted into its most perfect form Poetry encompasses all forms of human experience from the simplest to the most intimate and complex It speaks at once to the intellectual and the ordinary man the adult and the child To imagine that poetry deals only with great experiences and great people is to greatly undervalue poetry The Encyclopedia of Poetry and Poetics 1965 p 159 states that poetry should matter and be felt to matter in the community and that its social function is no less important than its other functions Nevertheless critics of poetry seem to be united in the opinion that poetry is unpopular among adults as well as high school students worldwide It is a fact that the majority of high school students are either indifferent or hostile to poetry Dias and Hayhoe 1988 p 4 quote Greeves 1988 as saying that Poetry has become so rare in schools that it ought to be put on the endangered list
