Teaching Reading in Secondary Schools Geoff Dean, 2003 First Published in 2006 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company      Reading in Secondary Content Areas Zhihui Fang, Mary Schleppegrell, 2008 What does it mean to teach reading in the context of the middle and high school classroom Don't students already know how to read by the time they get to secondary school And how can a busy teacher take time away from the packed curriculum of science history mathematics or language arts to teach reading This book presents a linguistic approach to teaching reading in different subjects an approach that focuses on language itself Central to this approach is a view that knowledge is constructed in and through language and that language changes with changes in knowledge As students move from elementary to secondary schools they encounter specialized knowledge and engage in new contexts of learning in all subjects This means that the language of secondary school learning is quite different from the language of the elementary years While in the elementary years the subject matter of reading materials is often close to students everyday life experiences the curriculum of secondary school deals with knowledge that is removed from students personal lives and everyday contexts The language that constructs this more specialized knowledge thus tends to be more abstract technical information laden and hierarchically organized than the more familiar and friendly language that students typically encounter during the elementary years Students need to develop specialized literacies literacy relevant to each content area as well as a critical literacy they can use across subject areas to engage with reflect on and assess specialized and advanced knowledge This functional language analysis approach is shown using actual secondary social studies science and math textbooks and using a literary text      Teaching Reading in the Secondary Schools Geoff Dean, 2013-02-01 Being able to read well is one of the most important literacy requirements in our society It is fundamental to almost all secondary school subjects and the English programme in particular The new Key Stage 3 focus on teaching reading compels us to find exciting ways to engage young people with texts that they will continue with and develop themselves This book outlines several approaches to reading which challenge former classroom practices It is through these approaches that all students from reluctant boys to the most able of either gender can continue to grow as readers and develop their readiness to seek meaning in texts This second edition adds to the original ideas in Geoff Dean's first book and includes new methods of teaching reading including guided reading and using increased grammatical student knowledge      Reading Strategies for Secondary School Teachers Lou E.
