Hewett, Tiffany Bourelle, 2020-05-18 Technical communication instructors need professional development opportunities that will aid them in creating their online courses in developing curricula and in teaching in what may be a new environment Although instructors can turn to instructional design teams for assistance in using Learning Management System and its functions they specifically need their own first hand immersive learning within their pedagogical training In other words teachers need to learn in an online context like the environment that their students will use such direct training helps instructors to facilitate student learning in a technologically distributed classroom Beyond learning technological skills to facilitate a course these teachers need to learn to use the technology effectively to keep students on track and to teach them skills and material This collection which includes three contributions from 2007 and 10 from 2017 focuses on the types of professional development instructors need to be successful in the online technical communication classroom Formed as a 10 year retrospective of the field and its advances in online education professional development the book offers instructors theoretical and practical suggestions for creating and teaching successful online courses and managing entire online technical communication programs This book was originally published as a special issue of Technical Communication Quarterly TCQ      Soft Law and the Global Financial System Chris Brummer,2012 The global financial crisis of 2008 has given way to a proliferation of international agreements aimed at strengthening the prudential oversight and supervision of financial market participants Yet how these rules operate is not well understood Because international financial rules are expressed through informal non binding accords scholars tend to view them as either weak treaty substitutes or by products of national power Rarely if ever are they cast as independent variables that can inform the behavior of regulators and market participants alike This book explains how international financial law works and presents an alternative theory for understanding its purpose operation and limitations Drawing on a close institutional analysis of the post crisis financial architecture it argues that international financial law is often bolstered by a range of reputational market and institutional mechanisms that make it more coercive than classical theories of international law predict As such it is a powerful though at times imperfect tool of financial diplomacy and poses novel opportunities and challenges for the evolving global economic order      Directory of Postsecondary Schools with Occupational Programs Evelyn Reis Ecker Kay,1977
