The Ordinal Of Alchemy:

The Ordinal of Alchemy Thomas Norton, 1699 Ordinal of Alchemy, 1975 Thomas Norton's Ordinal of Alchemy Thomas Norton, 1975 An Edition of The Ordinal of Alchemy by Thomas Norton. Edited from MS. Bod. E. Mus. 63 with Variants from B.M. Add. 10302, Introduction, Commentary and Glossary of Technical Terms and Uses J. Reidy, 1957 Ordinal of Alchemy Thomas Norton, 1975 The Ordinal of Alchemy and Treatise on Alchemy Thomas Norton, George Ripley, 2019 The Idea of the Vernacular Jocelyn Wogan-Browne, Ian Richard Johnson, 1999 This pioneering anthology of Middle English prologues and other excerpts from texts written between 1280 and 1520 is one of the largest collections of vernacular literary theory from the Middle Ages yet published and the first to focus attention on English literary theory before the sixteenth century. It edits and introduces and glosses some sixty excerpts all of which reflect on the problems and opportunities associated with writing in the mother tongue during a period of revolutionary change for the English language. The excerpts fall into three groups illustrating the strategies used by medieval writers to establish their cultural authority: the ways they constructed audiences and readerships and the models they offered for the process of reading. Taken together the excerpts show how vernacular texts reflected and contributed to the formation of class, gender, professional and national identity. They open windows onto late medieval debates on women's and popular literacy, on the use of the vernacular for religious instruction or Bible translation, on the complex metaphorical associations contained within the idea of the vernacular and on the cultural and political role of the courtly writing associated with Chaucer and his successors. Besides the excerpts the book contains five essays that propose new definitions of medieval literary theory, discuss the politics of Middle English writing, the relation of medieval book production to notions of authorship and the status of the prologue as a genre, and compare the role of the medieval vernacular to that of postcolonial literatures. The book includes a substantial glossary that constitutes the first mapping of the language and terms of Middle English literary theory. The Idea of the Vernacular will be an invaluable asset not only to Middle English survey courses but to courses in English literary and cultural history and courses on the history of literary theory. Sources and Analogues of the Canterbury Tales Robert M. Correale, 2002 The publication of this volume completes the new edition of the sources and major analogues of all the Canterbury Tales prepared by members of the New Chaucer Society. This collection, the first to appear in over half a century, features such additions as a fresh interpretation of Chaucer's sources for the frame of the work, chapters on the sources of the General Prologue and Retractions, and modern English translations of all foreign language texts with glosses for the Middle English. Chapters on the individual tales contain an updated survey of the present state of scholarship on their source materials. Several sources and analogues discovered during the past fifty years are found here together for the first time, and some other familiar sources are re-edited from manuscripts closer to Chaucer's copies. Besides the General Prologue and the Retractions, this volume includes chapters on the Miller, Summoner, Merchant, Physician, Shipman, Prioress, Sir Thopas, Canon's

This book demonstrates how knowledge of music permitted individuals to both reveal and conceal membership in specific social intellectual and ideological communities Attending to materials that go beyond music's conventional limits these chapters probe the role of music in commonplace books health maintenance and marriage manuals rhetorical and theological treatises and mathematical dictionaries Ultimately Austern illustrates how music was an indispensable frame of reference that became central to the fabric of life during a time of tremendous intellectual social and technological change
