Report of the Proceedings of the ... Meeting of the Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf. Meeting,1973 List of members in 15th Beyond the Three R's National Institute on Drug Abuse. Division of Resource Development. Prevention Branch,Southern Regional Education Board,1975 Ordinary Ecstasy John Rowan,2015-12-22 Humanistic Psychology ranges far and wide into education management gender issues and many other fields Ordinary Ecstasy first published in 1976 is widely regarded as one of the most important books on the subject Although this new edition still contains much of the original material it has been completely rethought in the light of postmodern ideas with more emphasis on the paradoxes within humanistic psychology and takes into account changes in many different areas with a greatly extended bibliography Ordinary Ecstasy is written not only for students and professionals involved in humanistic psychology anyone who works with people in any way will find it valuable and interesting DACAS ,1973 Strategies in Humanistic Education Tim Timmermann,Jim Ballard,1958 Descriptors for Psychological Understanding Wisconsin Social Studies Curriculum Study Committee. Sub-committee on Psychology,1978 Portrait of Youth Ministry Maria Harris,2004-01-02 A work book that truly works Maria Harris has combined careful reflection with many practical insights and activities for all those who want to carry out the ministry of the whole church for and with and by young people Letty M Russell Associate Professor of Theology Yale Divinity School I know very few persons who have thought through so many questions affecting youth as has Maria Harris in Portrait of Youth Ministry Especially important is her consistent vision of empowering youth to direct their own lives This book brings ministry to a new state in its development Michael Warren St John s University Jamaica New York Out of her rich history in religious education at many levels Maria Harris offers a New Testament frame of reference for her scholarly and existential approach to youth ministry didache teaching leiturgia prayer koinonia community kerygma advocacy diakonia troublemaking The bibliography and ingenious activities at the end of each chapter are extremely helpful tools Maria Harris believes that youth ministers need more than generosity and enthusiasm for the long haul They need to be led into the depth of their own lives and have a grasp of the larger issues of our own culture Dennis J Geaney O S A Associate Pastor St Victor Parish Calumet City Illinois When I finished reading the book I felt that I had attended a continuing education workshop Bread nuts and bolts all in one package Lois I Peeler Division of Education United Church Board for Homeland Ministries Youth ministers pastoral associates parish councils parents will find here an excellent resource for clarifying their goals and commitments to youth ministry Sr Claire E Lowery Assistant Professor of Theology and Pastoral Ministry Boston College Research in Education ,1972 The Seed Catalog Jeffrey Schrank,1974 Schools and Screens Victoria Cain,2021-10-19 Why screens in schools from film screenings to instructional television to personal computers did not bring about the educational revolution promised by reformers Long before Chromebook giveaways and remote learning screen media technologies were enthusiastically promoted by American education reformers Again and again as schools deployed film screenings television programs and computer games screen based learning was touted as a cure for all educational ills But the transformation promised by advocates for screens in schools never happened In this book Victoria Cain chronicles important episodes in the history of educational technology as reformers technocrats public television producers and computer scientists tried to harness the power of screen based media to shape successive generations of students Cain describes how beginning in the 1930s champions of educational technology saw screens in schools as essential tools for training citizens and presented films to that end Among the films screened for educational purposes was the notoriously racist Birth of a Nation In the 1950s and 1960s both technocrats and leftist educators turned to screens to prepare young Americans for Cold War citizenship and from the 1970s through the 1990s as commercial television and personal computers arrived in classrooms screens in schools represented an increasingly privatized vision of schooling and civic engagement Cain argues that the story of screens in schools is not simply about efforts to develop the right technological tools rather it reflects ongoing tensions over citizenship racial politics private funding and distrust of teachers Ultimately she shows that the technologies that reformers had envisioned as improving education and training students in civic participation in fact deepened educational inequities
