to explore the role of the Chinese learner in international schools and universities across the globe It describes the unprecedented growth of international schools and university exchange programs during the past decade together with the way in which Chinese learners at all levels have taken advantage of these opportunities and have been scrutinized in the process The results of this internationalization have in some cases solidified stereotypes about Chinese learners and in other instances have helped to overcome those prejudices Teachers within the international schools comment about the challenges of integrating students from different ethnic and national backgrounds in their schools and about the rewards of developing intercultural programs that will give the students the most substantial diverse and ethical education and encourage cross cultural understanding build academic skills and develop character University teachers both Chinese and Western describe the opportunities and challenges for cross cultural teaching and learning within the classrooms of their own countries and in global classrooms where local and international teachers together advance new perspectives based on team teaching interdisciplinarity and intercultural enquiry Teachers within international schools and university and school teachers who teach exchange students and other international students will find the understanding experiences and practical advice to be of help in their own teaching but those within international business communities may well find the research helpful in understanding their own intercultural environments Janette Ryan is a lecturer in education at Monash University She specializes in cross cultural teaching and teaching for international students She is a Mandarin Chinese speaker and works with a network of schools and universities across China on curriculum reform and professional learning communities Gordon Slethaug is a visiting professor in English studies and communications at the University of Southern Denmark and has previously been professor of English at the University of Waterloo Canada and director of American Studies at the University of Hong Kong He has recently been visiting Lingnan professor at the University of Hong Kong and Sun Yat sen University in China and senior Fulbright professor at the University of Southern Denmark

Learning Chinese in a Multilingual Space Peiru Tong, Linda Tsung, 2022-05-25 This book examines the benefits of an Australian in country study ICS in China programme and explores ways to maximise the short term ICS experience in a multilingual space The book employs an ecological perspective which has seldom been used to examine the study abroad context It emphasises the importance of the space itself as an arena of interaction belonging and power where conduct and modes of communication are often regulated by political authorities and societal expectations Specifically the book focuses on the following the extent to which the ICS facilitated interaction in different settings the way in which interaction during ICS contributed to language learning the degree in which the interaction during ICS contributed to culture learning and the role of identity in the learning process in the ICS The main argument of the book is that while the ICS promoted multilingual learning space for in class and out of class interactions which further facilitated language and culture learning to a great extent Australian students identities and self concepts also played a core mediating role throughout individual learning trajectories
