Bibliographic Research in Composition Studies is a student friendly guide to how knowledge is constructed and disseminated in composition studies as well as a thorough handbook on how to conduct bibliographic research in the discipline Student readers are taught Stephen North's taxonomy of scholarship empirical research and practice so that they can better contextualize the sources they read and they learn the unique ways that some genres of publication function in composition studies The book also leads students through the entire process of completing a bibliographic assignment      Teaching

This book is designed to introduce readers to the language of contemporary rhetorical studies The book format is an alphabetized glossary with appropriate cross listings of key terms and concepts in contemporary rhetorical studies An introductory chapter outlines the definitional ambiguities of the central concept of rhetoric itself The primary emphasis is on the contemporary tradition of rhetorical studies as it has emerged in the discipline of speech communication Each entry in the glossary ranges in length from a few paragraphs to a short essay of a few pages Where appropriate examples are provided to further illustrate the term or concept Each entry will be accompanied by a list of references and additional readings to direct the reader to other materials of possible interest      Handbook of Research on Writing Charles Bazerman, 2009-03-04 The Handbook of Research on Writing ventures to sum up inquiry over the last few decades on what we know about writing and the many ways we know it How do people write How do they learn to write and develop as writers Under what conditions and for what purposes do people write What resources and technologies do we use to write How did our current forms and practices of writing emerge within social history What impacts has writing had on society and the individual What does it mean to be and to learn to be an active participant in contemporary systems of meaning This cornerstone volume advances the field by aggregating the broad ranging interdisciplinary multidimensional strands of writing research and bringing them together into a common intellectual space Endeavoring to synthesize what has been learned about writing in all nations in recent decades it reflects a wide scope of international research activity with attention to writing at all levels of schooling and in all life situations Chapter authors all eminent researchers come from disciplines as diverse as anthropology archeology typography communication studies linguistics journalism sociology rhetoric composition law medicine education history and literacy studies The Handbook's 37 chapters are organized in five sections The History of Writing Writing in Society Writing in Schooling Writing and the Individual Writing as Text This volume in summing up what is known about writing deepens our experience and appreciation of writing in ways that will make teachers better at teaching writing and all of its readers better as individual writers It will be interesting and useful to scholars and researchers of writing to anyone who teaches writing in any context at any level and to all those who are just curious about writing     A Rhetoric of Doing Stephen Paul Witte, Neil Nakadate, Roger Dennis Cherry, 1992 Concerned with both the nature and the practice of discourse the eighteen essays collected here treat rhetoric as a dynamic enterprise of inquiry exploration and application and in doing so reflect James L Kinneavy's firm belief in the vital relationship between theory and practice his commitment to a spirit of accommodation and assimilation that promotes the development of ever more powerful theories and ever more useful practices A thorough introduction provides the reader with clear summaries of the essays by leading edge theorists researchers and teachers of writing and rhetoric A field context for the ideas presented in this book is provided through the division of the various chapters into four major sections that focus on classical rhetoric and rhetorical theory in historical contexts on dimensions of discourse theory aspects of discourse communities and the sorts of knowledge people access and use in producing written texts on writing in school related contexts and on several dimensions of nonacademic writing A fifth section contains a bibliographic survey and an appreciation of James Kinneavy's work The exceptional range of these essays makes A Rhetoric of Doing an ecumenical examination of the current state of mind in rhetoric and written communication a survey and description of what discourse and those in the field of discourse are in fact doing     Resources in Education ,1993     The English Department W. Ross Winterowd, 1998 To understand the history of English Ross Winterowd insists one must understand how literary studies composition rhetoric studies and influential textbooks interrelate Stressing the interrelationship among these three forces Winterowd presents a history of English studies in the university since the Enlightenment     Research in Basic Writing Martin Jacobi, Michael G. Moran, 1990-02-15 This reference handbook surveys research on the central issue associated with the teaching of unprepared writers Though basic writing has only been recognized as a distinct area of teaching and research since 1975 the existing bibliographic texts already seem limited due to their age or lack of annotation This volume provides current and extensive bibliographic essays and will help to define this new field of study for teachers and researchers Following an introduction that summarizes the origins and significant texts in basic writing the book is divided into three sections Social Science Perspectives Linguistic Perspectives and Pedagogical Perspectives The first section which contains three essays views the field through the lens of social psychological and political issues The second section also containing three essays examines contributions made from studies of grammar dialects and second language acquisition The third section in its four essays focuses on the design development administration and evaluation of basic writing courses the use of computers in basic writing classrooms the role of the writing lab and the preparation of basic writing teachers An appendix that reviews current textbooks for basic writing courses is also included as well as an index This book will be a valuable resource for teachers of basic writing in education courses and workshops that train teachers and tutors and in fields such as linguistics technical writing and Teaching English as a Second Language It will also be an important addition to public and university libraries and many education programs

Literary Nonfiction Chris Anderson, 1989 Collection of essays by literary critics who are also teachers of writing and literature Each shares Anderson's view that nonfiction prose crosses genre and discipline boundaries Rethinking Basic Writing Laura Gray-Rosendale, 1999-12-01 This book surveys the history of basic writing scholarship suggesting that we cannot adequately theorize the situations of basic writers unless we examine how they construct their own conceptions of their identities their constructions of their relationships to social forces and their representations of their relationships to written work Using a cross disciplinary analytic model Gray Rosendale offers a detailed examination of the oral conversations that take place within one basic writing peer revision group She explains the ways in which the students own conversational structures impact and shape their written products Gray Rosendale then draws out the potentials of her work for basic writing administrators curricula builders and teachers Handbook of Literary Research Robert Henry Miller, 1995 Introduces general reference books ready reference guides guides to manuscripts and dissertations computer databases and resources in rhetoric and composition Theorizing Composition Mary Kennedy, 1998-06-25 The last 25 years have witnessed extraordinary growth in the academic specialization variously described as composition studies or rhetoric and composition What was noticeable about the field in its infancy was a preoccupation with practice a lack of emphasis on theory and an exclusive reliance on the writing process As its disciplinary status has grown the field has become far more theoretical Composition studies has expanded its focus reconceptualized the writing process and embraced a wide range of critical perspectives The result of this change is that terms such as poststructuralism social construction gender and genre which were largely unknown in 1965 now dominate discussion This reference book is a guide to the multiplicity of theories that have emerged to form the disciplinary foundation of composition studies The volume consists of 66 entries each of which is written by an expert contributor and focuses on a particular theory or group of theories While the entries show how various individuals have contributed to theoretical movements very few concentrate on the work of a single theorist Each entry first provides a critical summary of a particular theory or group of theories including key elements basic concepts and claims and information about seminal or particularly influential works It then reviews the theory's critical reception in composition studies and discusses its significance in the field The bibliography at the end of each entry lists primary texts and major scholarship related to the theory and provides additional suggestions for further reading The volume closes with a selected bibliography of important works Writing Students Marguerite H. Helmers, 1994-11-22 This is a book about the usual teacher student relationship in composition courses It disrupts and rewrites the commonplace conception of the relationship by revealing the uneven ways in which power is deployed in and around the classroom And it offers a responsible alternative The author not only offers teachers a way of learning about power relations at their own specific sites but also works towards a more equitable redistribution Drawing from testimonials about teaching practice published in the journal College Composition and Communication Helmers explores conventions in this form of writing that portray students in a negative light and show the teacher to be powerfully triumphant in his or her creative pedagogy Several prevalent modes of representation are discussed in the book all of which define the students as distinctly different from the teachers in other words as an other The texture of the work is rich because Helmers takes an enormous amount of post structuralist theory and recasts it in the sphere of the teacher student relationship itself an underexplored realm The Kinneavy Papers

Lynn Worsham, Sidney I. Dobrin, Gary A. Olson, 2000-04-20 Award winning essays in the field of rhetoric and composition

Landmark Essays on Aristotelian Rhetoric Richard L. Enos, Lois P. Agnew, 2020-11-25 There is little doubt that Aristotle's Rhetoric has made a major impact on rhetoric and composition studies This impact has not only been chronicled throughout the history of rhetoric but has more recently been contested as contemporary rhetoricians reexamine Aristotelian rhetoric and its potential for facilitating contemporary oral and written expression This volume contains the full text of Father William Grimaldi's monograph studies in the philosophy of Aristotle's Rhetoric The eight essays presented here are divided into three rubrics history and philosophical orientation theoretical perspectives and historical impact This collection provides teachers and students with major works on Aristotelian rhetoric that are difficult to acquire and offers readers an opportunity to become active participants in today's deliberations about the merits of Aristotelian rhetoric for contemporary teaching and research Style, 1989
