While presenting certain universal facts about children's development from birth through adolescence, the entries also address the many worlds of childhood both within the United States and around the globe. They consider the ways that in which race, ethnicity, gender, socioeconomic status and cultural traditions of child rearing can affect children's experiences of physical and mental health, education and family. Alongside the topical entries, The Child includes more than forty "Imagining Each Other" essays which focus on the particular experiences of children in different cultures. In "Work before Play" for Yucatec Maya Children, for example, readers learn of the work responsibilities of some modern day Mexican children while in "A Hindu Brahman Boy Is Born Again" they witness a coming of age ritual in contemporary India.
