History of Magic and Experimental Science (Vol. 1&2) Lynn Thorndike,2023-12-26 Lynn Thorndike s seminal work History of Magic and Experimental Science Volumes 1 2 is a groundbreaking exploration of the intricate interplay between magic alchemy and the nascent field of experimental science from antiquity to the Renaissance Thorndike employs a meticulous historical approach blending rigorous scholarship with an engaging narrative style that brings to life the evolution of scientific thought The two volumes cover a spectrum of practices and beliefs dissecting how magical traditions laid the groundwork for what would eventually become modern scientific inquiry thus situating magic at the crux of intellectual history Thorndike a prominent historian of science in the early 20th century drew on his extensive background in both philosophy and history to illuminate the often overlooked connections between magic and science His deep interest in the historical roots of scientific practices coupled with a conviction that understanding these roots is crucial for comprehending modern science propelled him to undertake this ambitious project His work challenges the prevailing narrative that dismisses magic as mere superstition instead arguing for its essential role in shaping scientific minds This two volume set is invaluable for scholars students and anyone intrigued by the foundations of scientific thought Thorndike s intricate narrative not only enriches our understanding of history but also encourages readers to reassess the boundaries between magic and science It is a must read for those who wish to grasp the profound interrelation of cultural beliefs and scientific advancement A History of Magic and Experimental Science: The first thirteen centuries of our era Lynn Thorndike,1923 Vols 1 2 concern the first 13 centuries of the Christian era vols 3 4 the 14th and 15th centuries vols 5 6 the 16th century and vols 7 8 the 17th century Alfred Loisy and the Making of History of Religions Annelies Lannoy,2020-08-10 This monograph studies the professionalization of History of religions as an academic discipline in late 19th and early 20th century France and Europe Its common thread is the work of the French Modernist priest and later Professor of History of religions at the Collège de France Alfred Loisy 1857-1940 who participated in many of the most topical debates among French and international historians of religions Unlike his well studied Modernist theology Loisy's writings on comparative religion and his rich interactions with famous scholars like F. Cumont, M. Mauss or J. G. Frazer remain largely unknown This monograph is the first to paint a comprehensive picture of his career as a historian of religions before and after his excommunication in 1908 Through a contextual analysis of publications by Loisy and contemporaries and a large corpus of private correspondence it illuminates the scientification of the discipline between 1890-1920 and its deep entanglement with religion, politics and society Particular attention is also given to the role of national and transnational scholarly networks and the way they controlled the theoretical and institutional frameworks for studying the history of religions

A History of Magic Richard Cavendish, 1977 Making Magic Randall Styrer, 2004-01-15 Since the emergence of religious studies and the social sciences as academic disciplines the concept of magic has played a major role in defining religion and in mediating the relation of religion to science Across these disciplines magic has regularly been configured as a definitively non modern phenomenon juxtaposed to distinctly modern models of religion and science Yet this notion of magic has remained stubbornly amorphous In Making Magic Randall Styers seeks to account for the extraordinary vitality of scholarly discourse purporting to define and explain magic despite its failure to do just that He argues that this persistence can best be explained in light of the Western drive to establish and secure distinctive norms for modern identity norms based on narrow forms of instrumental rationality industrious labor rigidly defined sexual roles and the containment of wayward forms of desire Magic has served to designate a form of alterity or deviance against which dominant Western notions of appropriate religious piety legitimate scientific rationality and orderly social relations are brought into relief Scholars have found magic an invaluable tool in their efforts to define the appropriate boundaries of religion and science On a broader level says Styers magical thinking has served as an important foil for modernity itself Debates over the nature of magic have offered a particularly rich site at which scholars have worked to define and to contest the nature of modernity and norms for life in the modern world

The Nostalgia for Origins Carl Olson, 2024-06-11 Using the theme of nostalgia for origins this work proposes to examine the origin of religion within the context of the theory of evolution and the development of the human brain It is argued that Darwin s concept of natural selection gives the impression of making Homo sapiens passive recipients of the process of evolution To overcome this false impression and conform to the spirit of Darwin s theory this work proposes to supplement Darwin s theory by introducing a will to power into it that gives Homo sapiens agency to gain power and empower themselves to survive This achievement of empowerment has important consequences because it gives Homo sapiens an opportunity to invent religion and supernatural beings by means of their intuitive experiences performing like natural by products of the operation of evolution The human body and brain play essential roles in the process of evolution and development of religion a form of power that binds humans to transcendent powers empowers them unites them into enduring social units represents one of the elements of the beginning of human culture and enhances their chances for survival Because of its subject matter and approach this work includes a critical appraisal of scholars using the results of cognitive science research Because Homo sapiens invented supernatural beings and religion it seems irresponsible for a contemporary individual to choose to become an atheist an option that is explored in the final chapter about whether religion has a future The History of Magic Éliphas Lévi, 1922
