Adult Supervision Required Markella B. Rutherford, 2011-08-03 Adult Supervision Required considers the contradictory ways in which contemporary American culture has imagined individual autonomy for parents and children In many ways today s parents and children have more freedom than ever before There is widespread respect for children s autonomy as distinct individuals and a broad range of parenting styles are flourishing Yet it may also be fair to say that there is an unprecedented fear of children s and parents freedom Dread about Amber Alerts and stranger danger have put an end to the unsupervised outdoor play enjoyed by earlier generations of suburban kids Similarly fear of bad parenting has not only given rise to a cottage industry of advice books for anxious parents but has also granted state agencies greater power to police the family Using popular parenting advice literature as a springboard for a broader sociological analysis of the American family Markella B Rutherford explores how our increasingly psychological conception of the family might be jeopardizing our appreciation for parents and children s public lives and civil liberties The Financially Intelligent Parent Eileen Gallo, Ph.D., Jon Gallo, J.D., 2005-06-07 The essential guide to raising financially responsible children What parents say and do about money has a profound influence on children Here are the eight behaviors of financially intelligent parents that will help families of all economic backgrounds raise fiscally responsible children Taking Charge of ADHD, Third Edition Russell A. China's Revolutions and Intergenerational Relations Martin Whyte, 2020-08-06 China s Revolutions and Intergenerational Relations counters the widely accepted notion that traditional family patterns are weakened by forces such as economic development and social revolutions China has experienced wrenching changes on both the economic and the political fronts yet from the evidence presented here the tradition of filial respect and support for aging parents remains alive and well Using collaborative surveys carried out in 1994 in the middle sized industrial city of Baoding and comparative data from urban Taiwan the authors examine issues shaping the relationships between adult Chinese children and their elderly parents The continued vitality of intergenerational support and filial obligations in these samples is not simply an instance of strong Confucian tradition trumping powerful forces of change Instead and somewhat paradoxically the continued strength of filial obligations can be attributed largely to the institutions of Chinese socialism forged in the era of Mao Zedong With socialist institutions now under assault in the People s Republic of China the future of intergenerational relations in the twenty first century is once again uncertain
