The Origins of Responsibility Fran ois Raffoul,2010-04-13 Fran ois Raffoul approaches the concept of responsibility in a manner that is distinct from its traditional interpretation as accountability of the willful subject Exploring responsibility in the works of Nietzsche Sartre Levinas Heidegger and Derrida Raffoul identifies decisive moments in the development of the concept retrieves its origins and explores new reflections on it For Raffoul responsibility is less about a sovereign subject establishing a sphere of power and control than about exposure to an event that does not come from us and yet calls to us These original and thoughtful investigations of the post metaphysical senses of responsibility chart new directions for ethics in the continental tradition The Origin of Concepts Susan Carey,2009-05-06 Only human beings have a rich conceptual repertoire with concepts like tort entropy Abelian group mannerism icon and deconstruction How have humans constructed these concepts And once they have been constructed by adults how do children acquire them While primarily focusing on the second question in The Origin of Concepts Susan Carey shows that the answers to both overlap substantially Carey begins by characterizing the innate starting point for conceptual development namely systems of core cognition Representations of core cognition are the output of dedicated input analyzers as with perceptual representations but these core representations differ from perceptual representations in having more abstract contents and richer functional roles Carey argues that the key to understanding cognitive development lies in recognizing conceptual discontinuities in which new representational systems emerge that have more expressive power than core cognition and are also incommensurate with core cognition and other earlier representational systems Finally Carey fleshes out Quinian bootstrapping a learning mechanism that has been repeatedly sketched in the literature on the history and philosophy of science She demonstrates that Quinian bootstrapping is a major mechanism in the construction of new representational resources over the course of childrens cognitive development Carey shows how developmental cognitive science resolves aspects of long standing philosophical debates about the existence nature content and format of innate knowledge She also shows that understanding the processes of conceptual development in children illuminates the historical process by which concepts are constructed and transforms the way we think about philosophical problems about the nature of concepts and the relations between language and thought Grain Inspection and Weighing Systems in the Interior of the United States--an Evaluation United States. for it is an honor difficult to accept Everyone knows that architects and master masons long before there were mathematical theories erected structures of astonishing originality strength and beauty Many of these still stand Were it not for our now acid atmosphere we could expect them to stand for centuries more We admire early architects visible success in the distribution and balance of thrusts and we presume that master masons had rules perhaps held secret that enabled them to turn architects bold designs into reality Everyone knows that rational theories of strength and elasticity created centuries later were influenced by the wondrous buildings that men of the sixteenth seventeenth and eighteenth centuries saw daily Theorists know that when at last theories began to appear architects distrusted them partly because they often disregarded details of importance in actual construction partly because nobody but a mathematician could understand the aim and function of a mathematical theory designed to represent an aspect of nature This book is the first to show how statics strength of materials and elasticity grew alongside existing architecture with its millennial traditions its host of successes its ever renewing styles and its numerous problems of maintenance and repair In connection with studies toward repair of the dome of St Peter s by Poleni in 1743 on p Sexual Selection and the Origins of Human Mating Systems Alan F.

General Accounting Office,1979 Old English Bronze Wool-weights Herbert Crowley Dent,1927 Topographical Tools for Filtering and Segmentation 1 Fernand Meyer,2019-01-23

Mathematical morphology has developed a powerful methodology for segmenting images based on connected filters and watersheds We have chosen the abstract framework of node or edge weighted graphs for an extensive mathematical and algorithmic description of these tools Volume 1 is devoted to watersheds The topography of a graph appears by observing the evolution of a drop of water moving from node to node on a weighted graph along flowing paths until it reaches regional minima The upstream nodes of a regional minimum constitute its catchment zone The catchment zones may be constructed independently of each other and locally in contrast with the traditional approach where the catchment basins have to be constructed all at the same time Catchment zones may overlap and thus a new segmentation paradigm is proposed in which catchment zones cover each other according to a priority order The resulting partition may then be corrected by local and parallel treatments in order to achieve the desired precision
