Victorian Writing about Risk Elaine Freedgood, 2000-09-28 In Victorian Writing about Risk first published in 2000 Elaine Freedgood explores the geography of risk produced by a wide spectrum of once popular literature including works on political economy sanitary reform balloon flight Alpine mountaineering and African exploration The consolations offered by this geography of risk are precariously predicated on the stability of dominant Victorian definitions of people and places Women men the labouring and middle classes the English and the Irish Africa and Africans all have assigned identities which allow risk to be located and contained When identities shift and boundaries fail danger and safety begin to appear in all the wrong places The texts that this study focuses on reveal the ways in which risk moralizes and naturalizes the economic and political institutions of industrial imperial culture during a period of unprecedented expansion and change English Studies/culture Studies Isaiah Smithson, Nancy Ruff, 1994 The phrase English studies culture studies denotes a shift from the New Critical concept of the text and the reader separable from each other and from their culture to an affirmation that texts writers readers and culture are intertwined Teachers working within culture studies accept that they are working with multiple expanding canons and with students who are increasingly aware of diverse ethnic heritages Marxism feminism and cultural critique are major influences so are ethnic studies programs and the British cultural studies movement Serial Revolutions 1848 Clare Pettitt, 2022 Shows how a series of revolutions that erupted across Europe in the mid to late 1840s were crucial to the creation of modern ideas of constitutional democracy citizenship and human rights John Thelwall and the Materialist Imagination Yasmin Solomonescu, 2014-07-17 John Thelwall and the Materialist Imagination reassesses Thelwall's eclectic body of work from the perspective of his heterodox materialist arguments about the imagination political reform and the principle of life itself and his contributions to Romantic era science Pedagogical Economies Cathy Shuman, 2000 This book explores the examination's figurative power for 19th century discourses of subject formation and value through readings of works by Matthew Arnold Anthony Trollope Charles Dickens and John Ruskin writers who were active in the 1850s and 1860s when the examination began to structure a range of British institutions from the working class primary school to the Indian Civil Service Apartment Stories Sharon Marcus, 2023-11-15 In urban studies the nineteenth century is the age of great cities In feminist studies it is the era of the separate domestic sphere But what of the city's homes In the course of answering this question Apartment Stories provides a singular and radically new framework for understanding the urban and the domestic Turning to an element of the cityscape that is thoroughly familiar yet frequently overlooked Sharon Marcus argues that the apartment house embodied the intersections of city and home public and private and masculine and feminine spheres Moving deftly from novels to architectural treatises legal debates and popular urban observation Marcus compares the representation of the apartment house in Paris and London Along the way she excavates the urban ghost tales that encoded Londoners' ambivalence about city dwellings contends that Haussmannization enclosed Paris in a new regime of privacy and locates a female counterpart to the flâneur and the omniscient realist narrator the portier who supervised the apartment building In urban studies the nineteenth century is the age of great cities In feminist studies it is the era of the separate domestic sphere But what of the city's homes In the course of answering this question Apartment Stories provides a singular

Making a Social Body Mary Poovey, 1995-11-15 With much recent work in Victorian studies focused on gender and class differences the homogenizing features of 19th century culture have received relatively little attention In Making a Social Body Mary Poovey examines one of the conditions that made the development of a mass culture in Victorian Britain possible the representation of the population as an aggregate a social body Drawing on both literature and social reform texts she analyzes the organization of knowledge during this period and explores its role in the emergence of the idea of the social body Poovey illuminates the ways literary genres such as the novel and innovations in social thought such as statistical thinking and anatomical realism helped separate social concerns from the political and economic domains She then discusses the influence of the social body concept on Victorian ideas about the role of the state examining writings by James Phillips Kay Thomas Chalmers and Edwin Chadwick on regulating the poor Analyzing the conflict between Kay's idea of the social body and Babbage's image of the social machine she considers the implications of both models for the place of Victorian women Poovey's provocative readings of Disraeli's Coningsby Gaskell's Mary Barton and Dickens's Our Mutual Friend show that the novel as a genre exposed the role gender played in contemporary discussions of poverty and wealth Making a Social Body argues that gender race and class should be considered in the context of broader concerns such as how social authority is distributed how institutions formalize knowledge and how truth is defined

Modernism and the Culture of Celebrity Aaron Jaffe, 2005-03-17 In this 2005 book Jaffe examines the interactions of modernist literary fame and celebrity culture in the early twentieth century

Five Long Winters John Bugg, 2013-12-18 This book argues that the British government's repression of the 1790s rivals the French Revolution as the most important historical event for our understanding the development of Romantic literature Romanticism has long been associated with both rebellion and escapism and much Romantic historicism traces an arc from the outburst of democratic energy in British culture triggered by the French Revolution to a dwindling of enthusiasm later in the 1790s when things in France turned violent Writers such as Wordsworth and Coleridge can then be seen as apostates who turned from radical politics to a poetics of transcendence Bugg argues instead for a poetics of silence and his book is set against the backdrop of the so called Gagging Acts and other legislation of William Pitt which in literature manifests itself stylistically as silence stuttering fragmentation and encoding Mining archives of unpublished documents including manuscripts diaries and letters where authors were more candid as well as rereading the work of both major and minor figures a number of whom were subject to prison sentences Five Long Winters offers a new way of approaching the literature of the Romantic era

Conversable Worlds Jon Mee, 2011-09-15 Conversable Worlds addresses the emergence of the idea of the conversation of culture Around 1700 a new commercial society was emerging that thought of its values as the product of exchanges between citizens Conversation became increasingly important as a model and as a practice for how community could be created A welter of publications in periodical essays in novels and in poetry enjoined the virtues of conversation These publications were enthusiastically read and discussed in book clubs and literary societies that created their own conversable worlds From some perspectives the freedom of a distinctively English conversation allowed for the collision of ideas and sentiments For others like Joseph Addison and David Hume ease of flow was the key issue and politeness the means of establishing a via media For Addison and Hume the feminization of culture promised to make women the sovereigns of what Hume called the conversable world As the culture seemed to open up to a multitude of voices anxieties appeared as to how far things should be allowed to go The unruliness of the crowd threatened to disrupt the channels of communication There was a parallel fear that mere feminized chatter might replace learning This book examines the influence of these developments on the idea of literature from 1762 through to 1830 Part I examines the conversational paradigm established by figures like Addison and Hume and the proliferation of conversable worlds into gatherings like Johnson's Club and Montagu's Bluestocking assemblies Part II looks at the transition from the eighteenth century to Romantic ideas of literary culture the question of the withdrawal from mixed social space the drive to sublimate verbal exchange into forms that retained dialogue without contention in places like Coleridge's conversation poems and the continuing tensions between ideas of the republic of letters as a space of vigorous exchange as opposed to the organic unfolding of consciousness

Common Scents Janice Carlisle, 2004-02-19 Who smells After surveying nearly eighty novels written in the 1860s to answer that impolite question Common Scents explores the implications of such olfactory data in novels by Dickens Eliot Meredith Oliphant Trollope and Yonge In doing so it offers a new understanding of the self-evident values of high Victorian culture Melodramatic Tactics Elaine Hadley, 1995 This pathbreaking work analyzes melodrama as not merely a theatrical genre but as a behavioral paradigm of the nineteenth century manifest in the theater in literature and in society It shows how the melodramatic mode reaffirmed the familial hierarchical and public grounds for ethical behavior and identity that characterized models of social exchange and organization

Cross-Cultural Encounters in Joseph Conrad's Malay Fiction R. Hampson, 2000-11-08 This is the first major study to bring together for examination all of Conrad's Malay fiction the early novels Almayer's Folly An Outcast of the Islands and Lord Jim the two later novels Victory and The Rescue and various short stories such as The Lagoon and Karain The volume focuses on cross-cultural encounters cultural identity and cultural dislocation paying particular attention to issues of race and gender He also situates Conrad's fiction in relation to earlier English accounts of South East Asia Literature and Science in the Nineteenth Century Laura Otis, 2009-04-23 This anthology brings together a generous selection of scientific and literary material to explore the exchanges and interactions between them It shows how scientists and creative writers alike fed from a common imagination in their language style metaphors and imagery It includes writing by Michael Faraday Thomas Carlyle Thomas Hardy Charles

Babbage Charles Darwin Louis Pasteur Edgar Allan Poe Mark Twain and many others
