Subject Analysis Derek Wilton Langridge, 1989

Introduction to Cataloging and Classification Daniel N.

Joudrey, Arlene G. Taylor, David P. Miller, 2015-09-29 A new edition of this best selling textbook reintroduces the topic of library cataloging from a fresh modern perspective Not many books merit an eleventh edition but this popular text does Newly updated Introduction to Cataloging and Classification provides an introduction to descriptive cataloging based on contemporary standards explaining the basic tenets to readers without previous experience as well as to those who merely want a better understanding of the process as it exists today The text opens with the foundations of cataloging then moves to specific details and subject matter such as Functional Requirements for Bibliographic Records FRBR Functional Requirements for Authority Data FRAD the International Cataloging Principles ICP and RDA Unlike other texts the book doesn't presume a close familiarity with the MARC bibliographic or authorities formats ALA's Anglo American Cataloging Rules 2nd Edition revised AACR2R or the International Standard Bibliographic Description ISBD Subject access to library materials is covered in sufficient depth to make the reader comfortable with the principles and practices of subject cataloging and classification In addition the book introduces MARC BIBFRAME and other approaches used to communicate and display bibliographic data Discussions of formatting presentation and administrative issues complete the book questions useful for review and study appear at the end of each chapter

Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules John J Riemer, 2013-04-03 This is the first book to examine standards specifically as they apply to cataloging and classification while at the same time considering the field of library science as a whole The developments in standards detailed in Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules portend great time savings in the cataloging process for those catalogers willing to advocate the necessary programming to their systems officer or bibliographic utility Standards in the library and information science community underlie and impact the work of librarians and information specialists on a daily basis yet remain inconspicuous to even the most knowledgeable in the field Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules reviews the state of a full range of formal and informal standards and rules utilized in cataloging and classification It also provides historical perspective commentary assessment of significance and anticipation of future developments and evaluates the connections and interrelationships that exist among the various standards Chapters in Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules are written by professionals who have been key figures in the development of standards and have accessed primary source material for the preparation of their articles They address these what exactly constitutes a standard how something becomes a standard how standards undergo change evaluation of and commentary on the effectiveness of current standards the latest information on several standards currently in development testing or implementation what the future may hold Cataloging and Classification Standards and Rules is a valuable reference book for both beginning and experienced professional librarians As managers and consumers of bibliographic information it is crucial that librarians understand the nature and status of a variety of formal and informal standards This book will assist them in this task Library school students specializing in cataloging and classification will also find this book an indispensable guide as they prepare themselves for employment in the field The Organization of Information Daniel N. Joudrey, Arlene G. Taylor, 2017-11-27 This fourth edition provides an updated look at information organization featuring coverage of the Semantic Web linked data and EAC CPF new metadata models such as IFLA LRM and RiC and new perspectives on RDA and its implementation This latest edition of The Organization of Information is a key resource for anyone in the beginning stages of their LIS career as well as longstanding professionals and paraprofessionals seeking accurate clear and up to date guidance on information organization activities across the discipline The book begins with a historical look at information organization methods covering libraries archives museums and online settings It then addresses the types of retrieval tools used throughout the discipline catalogs finding aids indexes bibliographies and search engines before describing the functionality of systems explaining the basic principles of system design and defining how they affect information organization The principles and functionality of metadata is next with coverage of the types functions tools and models particularly FRBR IFLA LRM RDF and how encoding works for use and sharing for example MARC XML schemas and linked data approaches The latter portion of the resource describes specific activities related to the creation of metadata for resources These chapters offer an overview of the major issues challenges and standards used in the information professions addressing topics such as resource description including standards found in RDA DACS and CCO access points authority control subject analysis controlled vocabularies notably LCSH MeSH Sears and AAT and categorization systems such as DDC and LCC Organizing Knowledge: Introduction to Access to Information J.E. Rowley, John Farrow, 2018-01-18 This title was first published in 2000 For its third edition this text on knowledge organization and retrieval has been revised and restructured to accommodate the increased significance of electronic information resources With new sections on topics such as information retrieval via the Web metadata and managing information retrieval systems the book explains principles relating to hybrid print based and electronic networked environments experienced by today's users The book is an accessible introduction to knowledge organization for both undergraduate and postgraduate students of information management and information systems

Summarizing Information Brigitte Endres-Niggemeyer, 2012-12-06 Summarizing is the process of reducing the large volume of information in something like a novel or a scientific paper to a short summary or abstract comprising only the most essential points Summarizing is frequent in everyday communication but it is also a professional skill for journalists and scientific writers Automated summarizing functions are urgently needed by Internet users who wish to exploit the information available without being overwhelmed This book presents the state of the art of summarizing and surveys related research it deals with everyday and professional summarizing as well as computerized approaches The author focuses in detail on the cognitive processes involved and supports this with a multimedia simulation system on the accompanying CD

ROM for Mac OS 7 5 and Windows 95 The Organization of Information Arlene G. Taylor, Daniel N. Joudrey, 2008-12-23

This third edition of Taylor's modern classic continues to articulate the theory principles standards and tools behind information organization. As with previous editions it begins with strong justification for the continued importance of organizing principles and practice. Following a broad overview of the concept and its role in human endeavors Taylor and Joudrey provide a detailed and insightful discussion of such basic retrieval tools as inventories bibliographies catalogs indexes finding aids registers databases major bibliographic utilities and other organizing entities and subsequently trace the development of the organization of recorded information in Western civilization from 2000 B C E to the present. Standards of codification MARC SGML and various DTDs controlled vocabularies and ontologies and Web 2 0 technologies are but a sample of its extensive topical coverage. The Organization of Information remains the title of choice for students and professionals eager to embrace the heritage immediacy and future of this fascinating field of study. Cataloging and Classification Lois Mai Chan, Theodora Hodges, 2007 Cataloging and Classification Third Edition is a text for beginning students and a tool for practicing cataloging personnel. All chapters have been rewritten in this latest edition to incorporate recent developments particularly the tremendous impact metadata and the Web have had on cataloging and classification.

Annual Review of Information Science and Technology Blaise Cronin, 2007 ARIST published annually since 1966 is a landmark publication within the information science community. It surveys the landscape of information science and technology providing an analytical authoritative and accessible overview of recent trends and significant developments. The range of topics varies considerably reflecting the dynamism of the discipline and the diversity of theoretical and applied perspectives. While ARIST continues to cover key topics associated with classical information science e g bibliometrics information retrieval editor Blaise Cronin is selectively expanding its footprint in an effort to connect information science more tightly with cognate academic and professional communities. Innovations in Information Retrieval Allen

Indexing Multimedia and Creative Works Pauline Rafferty, Rob Hilderley, 2017-03-02 Indexing and information retrieval work properly only if language and interpretation are shared by creator and user This is more complex for non verbal media The authors of Indexing Multimedia and Creative Works explore these challenges against a background of different theories of language and communication particularly semiotics questioning the possibility of ideal multimedia indexing After surveying traditional approaches to information retrieval IR and organization in relation to issues of meaning particularly Panofsky s levels of meaning Pauline Rafferty and Rob Hilderley weigh up the effectiveness of major IR tools cataloguing classification and indexing and computerised IR highlighting key questions raised by state of the art computer language processing systems Introducing the reader to the fundamentals of semiotics through the thinking of Saussure Peirce and Sonesson they make the case for this as the basis for successful multimedia information retrieval The authors then describe specific multimedia information retrieval tools namely the Art and Architecture Thesaurus Iconclass and the Library of Congress Thesaurus of General Materials I and II A selection of multimedia objects including photographic images abstract images music the spoken word and film are read using analytical and descriptive categories derived from the literature of semiotics Multimedia information retrieval tools are also used to index the multimedia objects an exercise which demonstrates the richness of the semiotic approach and the limitations of controlled vocabulary systems In the final chapter the authors reflect on the issues thrown up by this comparison and explore alternatives such as democratic user generated indexing as an alternative Primarily intended for third year undergraduate and postgraduate information studies students the breadth and depth of Indexing Multimedia and Creative Works will also make it relevant and fascinating read

Information Diffusion Management and Knowledge Sharing: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information Resources, 2019-10-11 Within the past 10 years tremendous innovations have been brought forth in information diffusion and management. Such technologies as social media have transformed the way that information is disseminated and used, making it critical to understand its distribution through these mediums. With the consistent creation and wide availability of information, it has become imperative to remain updated on the latest trends and applications in this field. Information Diffusion Management and Knowledge Sharing Breakthroughs in Research and Practice examines the trends, models, challenges, issues, and strategies of information diffusion and management from a global context. Highlighting a range of topics such as influence maximization, information spread control, and social influence, this publication is an ideal reference source for managers, librarians, information systems specialists, professionals, researchers, and administrators seeking current research on the theories and applications of global information management.

Challenges and Opportunities for Knowledge

Organization in the Digital Age Fernanda Ribeiro, Maria Elisa Cerveira, 2018-07-11. Thema der 15. Internationalen Konferenz der International Society for Knowledge Organization vom 9 bis 11 Juli 2018 in Porto ist Challenges and Opportunities for Knowledge Organization in the Digital Age. Der Konferenzband fasst die Vorträge von Wissenschaftlern aus aller Welt zusammen. Education for Cataloging and the Organization of Information Janet Swan Hill, 2014-04-23. What does the future hold for cataloging education? Written by some of the best known authors and most innovative thinkers in the field, including Michael Gorman, Sheila S. Intner, and Jerry D. Saye, this comprehensive collection examines education for students and working librarians in cataloging and bibliographic control, emphasizing history, context, the state of the art at present, and suggested future directions. A liberal dose of visual aids—charts, tables, etc.—makes accessing the information quick and easy. From the editor: The education of catalogers has swung pendulum like from on the job training to graduate education and back again. The place of cataloging in the library school curriculum has swung from one of near pre-eminence to one of near extinction and has begun to swing back again. The durability of education for cataloging has swung from: In getting your degree you will learn everything you need to know in your career to You will have to engage in continuing education throughout your career beginning virtually as soon as you have your degree. Making informed decisions about how and how much cataloging education is to be provided is full of pitfalls, some of which the profession has fallen into already. What is needed now is a reconsideration of how education for cataloging and bibliographic control is provided. Education for Cataloging and the Organization of Information: Pitfalls and the Pendulum addresses four main areas: the ways professionals perceive the place, nature, and necessity of cataloging education; the professional demographic and academic context within which cataloging education is provided; education regarding special types of materials and special aspects of cataloging and alternatives to traditional modes of education for cataloging, including distance education, online mentoring, Web-based instruction, continuing education, training for and via cooperative projects; the role of the community of catalogers in the continuing education of those who provide intellectual access to the world of information; and much more. Introduction to
