kinaesthetic Sally Dimmick's book goes further. It shows how NLP principles can be applied to every aspect of training and which particular aids and methods are the most suitable for each channel. The first part of the text outlines the main concepts of NLP and explains how to identify a person's preferred channel. It also looks briefly at the significance of learning styles. Part II examines each representational channel in turn and relates it to the corresponding training methods and materials. The final chapter provides ways of combining the channels so as to maximize the transfer of learning. The text is enlivened throughout by anecdotes, examples and illustrations. For teachers, trainers, managers and indeed anyone faced with the need to communicate in a professional way, Sally Dimmick's guide will prove invaluable. It will be particularly welcomed by trainers looking for practical advice on how to use NLP.

Communicator's Sourcebook, 1988 Multimodal Communication in Political Speech Shaping Minds and Social Action Isabella Poggi, Francesca D'Errico, Laura Vincze, Alessandro Vinciarelli, 2013-11-08. This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post-conference proceedings of the International Workshop on Multimodal Communication in Political Speech Shaping Minds and Social Actions held in Rome, Italy, during November 10-12, 2010. The 16 regular papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 33 submissions and presented with three key notes. The purpose of the Political Speech workshops is to provide a forum for discussing research areas of persuasive agents and social signal processing. This book covers topics on multimodal aspects of political communication including persuasion, fallacies, racist discourse as well as music, autobiographic memories, metonymies, dominant postures, rhetorical strategies, interruptions, intonation and voice appeal.

Baran show students how central successful communication is to gaining effective control over perception, meaning-making and identity.

Communication Incompetencies Gerald M. Phillips, 1991. Gerald M. Phillips draws on his twenty-five year, five thousand client experience with the Pennsylvania State University Reticence Program to present a new theory of modification of inept communication behavior. That experience has convinced Phillips that communication is arbitrary and rule-bound rather than a process of inspiration He demonstrates that communication problems can be described as errors that can be detected and classified in order to fit a remediation pattern Regardless of the source of error the remedy is to train the individual to avoid or eliminate errors thus orderly procedure will result in competent performance Inept communicators must be made aware of the obligations and constraints imposed by deep structures that require us to achieve a degree of formal order in our language without which our discourse becomes incomprehensible      The Power of Speech II' 2003 Ed. ,
