Developing an Effective Teacher Mentor Program Melvin P. Heller,Nancy W. Sindelar,1991 School districts considering a mentoring program need to consider four things 1 the reasons for a teacher mentor program 2 how to start such a program 3 administrative support needed for a successful program and 4 pitfalls to avoid The reasons for having a mentor program are that it benefits the new teacher the mentor and the school The new teacher s opportunities to exchange views with an experienced teacher is a distinct benefit to him her The mentor benefits also however because of the opportunity to share views experiences and strategies The improved teaching that usually results is an asset to the school Starting a program involves six stages establishing a rationale setting criteria for the selection of mentors defining roles inviting the mentors training the mentors and evaluating the program To be successful the program must have administrative support from the board of education the superintendent the central office staff the teacher union and the principal As with any new program anticipating problems can help to avoid them Some pitfalls are overdependence on the part of the protege ego problems on the part of the mentor and the evaluation dilemma arising from the mentor s dual role of confidant and evaluator Mentorship programs promote professionalism by providing continuous staff development during the first year of teaching AMH Strategic Sport Communication Paul Mark Pedersen,Pamela C. Laucella,Edward Kian,Andrea N.

Geurin,2021 This book explores the multifaceted segment of sport communication This text presents a standard framework that introduces readers to the many ways in which individuals media outlets and sport organizations work to create disseminate and manage messages to their constituents

The Portfolio Approach to Assessment Emily Grady,1992 The shortcomings of standardized testing as the predominant form of student assessment in the United States are reviewed and the use and potential benefits of portfolio assessment are explored Children s educational experiences and their future job prospects and standards of living are being decided by test scores Moreover these test scores may be unfair or biased against some students Instead of more tests we need a new attitude toward assessment one that encourages a variety of assessments Portfolio assessment through collections of student works can be an encompassing format for this new philosophy Before considering what a portfolio should contain it is important to establish the purpose of the assessment The experiences of Vermont illustrate the development of a portfolio assessment with consistent standards Examples of guidelines for mathematics and language arts portfolios make it clear that it is possible to establish consistent practices It is also necessary to reflect on the portfolio occasionally using self evaluations and direct questions or profiles Educators also find portfolios useful tools for preservice teachers Portfolio assessment can be the framework for a new curricular structure that integrates assessment into the learning loop SLD

Successful Strategy Execution Michel Syrett,2007-12-01 Companies rarely track their performance against long term plans and results often fail to meet projections When companies do track performance it seldom matches the prior year s projection and a great deal of value is lost in translation This new title in The Economist series shows how businesses can overcome such failings and implement strategy effectively using facts and anecdotal evidence from the real experiences of firms
