This Handbook will be an essential resource for scholars and researchers of social work, development studies, social anthropology, sociology and education. It will also be useful to educators and practitioners of social work in global institutions of higher studies as well as civil society organisations.

Contemporary Field Social Work Mark Doel, Steven M Shardlow, Steven Shardlow, Paul G. Johnson, 2010-06-29 This text bridges the gap by offering learning activities that can be worked in both settings. The book is divided into four main parts that account for the major areas of social work practice. Part I covers the foundations of practice including self-awareness and knowing and learning about the community within one will practice. The second part deals with direct practice and covers individual assessment and group work. The third part focuses on agency practice and finally the last part covers special issues for consideration including multicultural practice, law-informed practice, ethics, specialist and comparative practice.
