The Lives of the Twelve Caesars Suetonius,2016-09-01 C Suetonius Tranquillus was the son of a Roman knight who commanded a legion on the side of Otho at the battle which decided the fate of the empire in favour of Vitellius From incidental notices in the following History we learn that he was born towards the close of the reign of Vespasian who died in the year 79 of the Christian era He lived till the time of Hadrian under whose administration he filled the office of secretary until with several others he was dismissed for presuming on familiarities with the empress Sabina of which we have no further account than that they were unbecoming his position in the imperial court How long he survived this disgrace which appears to have befallen him in the year 121 we are not informed but we find that the leisure afforded him by his retirement was employed in the composition of numerous works of which the only portions now extant are collected in the present volume Several of the younger Pliny s letters are addressed to Suetonius with whom he lived in the closest friendship They afford some brief but generally pleasant glimpses of his habits and career and in a letter in which Pliny makes application on behalf of his friend to the emperor Trajan for a mark of favour he speaks of him as a most excellent honourable and learned man whom he had the pleasure of entertaining under his own roof and with whom the nearer he was brought into communion the more he loved him
