Behind the Lines Michael F. Dilley, 2013-09-30 The array of new technologies that came on the scene in the early 20th century resulted in widely varied new forms of military special operations once civilization embarked on its greatest war Suddenly fighting men could be delivered by parachute submarine glider jeeps and fast amphibious craft deep into enemy territory to perform special tasks yet others would continue to perform missions the same as their ancestors in previous wars on foot using stealth endurance and patience This work contains discussions of the employment of various special purpose special mission organizations during World War II These units operated in Allied and Axis countries and in various theaters of war including Europe North Africa the Pacific Asia and the continental United States Representing every major combatant the operations include various kinds of raids intelligence gathering missions support to partisan guerrilla groups prisoner rescues direct action missions and at least two where the object was simply to steal something Some missions would have been officially denied if the operations had been caught in the act The book is divided into two sections Behind Enemy Lines and Behind Friendly Lines to demonstrate that special purpose organizations can be employed wherever needed even in areas controlled by military units of their own or allied countries Many of the units described run the gamut of special mission types from commando to parachute units reconnaissance to sabotage units and partisan training units as well as those with combined missions Many of the operations described in this book continue to serve as templates for modern Special Operations missions while still others the first attempts of their kind continue to serve as examples of what not to try under the circumstances Michael F Dilley served for 20 years in the U S Army s Military Intelligence branch After retiring from the Army the author served for about ten years as an employee of the Department of Defense then as a contractor for various U S Government agencies in several fields for 15 years Author of several books and many articles a number of these chapters are based on his previous writings for the legendary Behind the Lines magazine      Operation Colossus Lawrence Paterson,2020-06-24 Provides an excellent overview of the development of parachute troops as well as an exciting battle narrative and gripping human interest story Argunners Magazine Formed by a collection of free thinking army and air force officers the fledgling British paratrooper unit known as the SAS deployed trial and error in terms of tactics and equipment before an elite few were selected to make the first British parachute raid of the war which took place in Basilicata Italy on 10 February 1941 Collectively known as X Troop these men were parachuted by specially selected bomber crews into the heart of enemy territory where they successfully destroyed their target the Tragino Aqueduct before becoming the object of an exhaustive manhunt by Italian troops and civilians Captured they were variously interrogated imprisoned and the Italian SOE agent placed on trial for treason and executed Given the distances that had to be covered the logistical complications and the lack of any precedent the raid was a remarkable feat Its success or failure depended on a group of men using methods and equipment thus far untried by the British Army They were truly guinea pigs for those that would follow in their footsteps Often overlooked in British military history Paterson brings this extraordinary episode to light drawing on verbatim testimony and interrogating the truth of previous accounts From the formation of the unit and the build up to its first deployment through Operation Colossus and its aftermath to its ongoing legacy today this is the fascinating story of the modern day British Parachute Regiment Well written with all the flash and dash of typical commando warfare Historical Miniatures Gaming Society      Churchill's Spearhead John Greenacre,2010-06-19 This book covers the inception growth and employment of Britains airborne forces parachute and glider borne formations between June 1940 and March 1945 It takes a comparative approach and follows tailored lines of development Each of these lines politics and policy equipment and technology personnel and training command and control and concepts and doctrine influence each other The contents include Politics and Policy The political environment within which the major decisions were made concerning the concept of development of Britains airborne forces Churchills personal contribution the effect of inter service rivalry and the influence of other government departments Equipment and Technology The methods and obstacles of procuring and supplying the bespoke equipment required by airborne forces The supply of combat equipment the provision of support aircraft and the procurement of gliders Personnel and Training The effort incurred to man the new force and the effect of different approaches to recruitment and training The selection and recruitment of airborne personnel the individual training of paratroops and glider pilots and the role of collective training prior to operations Command and Control The ability of individuals in key appointments to influence the path of development and the operational and tactical employment of the force The reaction and approach of higher commanders to the new capability the selection and impact of commanders within the airborne force and the influence of the airborne staff Concept
