

SUBJECTIVE NORMS

Subjective norm is a social psychological concept that refers to the perceived social pressure to engage or not engage in a particular behavior.

DEFINITION

The subjective norm reflects the extent to which an individual thinks other influential people want them to perform a behavior, and how motivated they feel to comply with this perceived social pressure.

Ardakani et al (2020) define it as: "...the personal perception of the social pressures which are imposed to adopt a specific behavior" (p. 1522).

EXAMPLE

- Fitness Goals: If an individual is surrounded by friends who attend the gym regularly, they may feel encouraged to do so, as well.
- Environmental Practices: People often adopt environmentally friendly practices because they perceive it as a societal expectation.
