Succession In Abandoned Fields Studies In Central Bohemia Czechoslovakia:

Succession in Abandoned Fields J. Osbornová, M. Kovárová, J. Leps, K. Prach, 2012-12-06 Old and New Fields of Old Field Ecology In ecology succession occupies a place similar to that of evolution in general biology Ram6n Margalef 1968 It was a great honor for me to have been asked by Marinus Werger to write an introductory note to this very special volume Presumably my friends and former students in Europe felt that a few words from the New World might put the results presented in this exciting book into a somewhat broader perspective My perspective or retrospective however is neither impersonal nor original it is an eclectic reflection of recent developments in ecology and in old field ecology in particular The ecological generalizations and theories of Ram6n Margalef and Eugene P Odum as we perceived them in Prague in the early 1970s were for some of us so attractive and promising that we even started to believe it would not take too long until we had a truly unifying general theory of ecological succession All that was needed we thought were data clarifying a few controversial issues This is how our studies of old field succession began in 1973 We viewed old fields as a sort of Drosophila for terrestrial ecology Old Fields Richard J. Hobbs, 2012-06-22 Land abandonment is increasing as human influence on the globe intensifies and various ecological social and economic factors conspire to force the cessation of agriculture and other forms of land management The old fields that result from abandonment have been the subject of much study yet few attempts have been made to examine the larger questions raised by old field dynamics Old Fields brings together leading experts from around the world to synthesize past and current work on old fields providing an up to date perspective on the ecological dynamics of abandoned land The book gives readers a broad understanding of why agricultural land is abandoned the factors that determine the ecological recovery of old fields and how this understanding contributes to theoretical and applied ecology Twelve case studies from diverse geographical and climatic areas including Australian rainforest Brazilian Amazonia New Jersey piedmont and South African renosterveld offer a global perspective on the causes and results of land abandonment Concluding chapters consider the similarities and differences among the case studies examine them in the context of ecological concepts and discuss their relevance to the growing field of restoration ecology Old Fields is the first book to draw together studies on old fields from both a theoretical and practical perspective It represents an important contribution to the development of theory on old field dynamics and the practice of ecological restoration on abandoned farmland and the broader implications of old field dynamics to ecology and restoration Flora and Vegetation of the Czech Republic Milan Chytrý, Jiří Danihelka, Zdeněk Kaplan, Petr Pyšek, 2017-11-10 This book provides basic information on the botanical diversity in the Czech Republic and relates the patterns in flora and vegetation to environmental factors biogeographical history and human impact Focusing on vascular plants bryophytes and lichens it summarizes the data on taxonomic diversity and provides details of relict endemic rare alien and other biogeographically important species Main vegetation types are characterized in terms of their structure distribution ecology and dynamics emphasizing the long term vegetation changes since the late Pleistocene historical impact of humans on vegetation and current changes in vegetation including the impact of alien species Special attention is paid to the conservation of threatened plant species and their habitats and ecological restoration An account of the history of botanical research in this country is also provided The book is illustrated with numerous maps graphs and photographs of plant species and communities The book is an essential reference for any biogeographer botanist and plant ecologist who is working in Central Europe or is searching for both general and more specific information on this part of the world Plant demography in vegetation succession K Falinska,2012-12-06

Comparative Plant Succession Among Terrestrial Biomes of the World Karel Prach, Lawrence R. Walker,2020-05-14 Provides a comparative approach to plant succession among all terrestrial biomes and disturbances helping to reveal generalizable patterns Ecology of Central European Non-Forest Vegetation: Coastal to Alpine, Natural to Man-Made Habitats Christoph Leuschner, Heinz Ellenberg,2017-09-13 This handbook in two volumes synthesises our knowledge about the ecology of Central Europe s plant cover with its 7000 yr history of human impact covering Germany Poland the Netherlands Belgium Luxembourg Switzerland Austria Czech Republic and Slovakia Based on a thorough literature review with 5500 cited references and nearly 1000 figures and tables the two books review in 26 chapters all major natural and man made vegetation types with their climatic and edaphic influences the structure and dynamics of their communities the ecophysiology of important plant species and key aspects of ecosystem functioning Volume I deals with forests and scrub vegetation and analyses the ecology of Central Europe s tree flora whilst Volume II is dedicated to the non forest vegetation covering mires grasslands heaths alpine habitats and urban vegetation The consequences of over use pollution and recent climate change over the last century are explored and conservation issues addressed Trees, Forested Landscapes and Grazing Animals Ian D. Rotherham,2013-03-05 In this comprehensive book the critical components of the European landscape forest parkland and other grazed landscapes with trees are addressed The book considers the history of grazed treed landscapes of large grazing herbivores in Europe and the implications of the past in shaping our environment today and in the future Debates on the types of anciently grazed landscapes in Europe and what they tell us about past and present ecology have been especially topical and controversial recently This treatment brings the current discussions and the latest research to a much wider audience The book breaks new ground in broadening the scope of wood pasture and woodland research to address sites and ecologies that have previously been overlooked but which hold potential keys to understanding landscape dynamics Eminent contributors including Oliver Rackham and Frans Vera present a text which addresses the importance of history in understanding the past landscape and the relevance of historical ecology and landscape studies in providing a future vision Biology of the Springtails Stephen P. Hopkin,1997-02-27 Springtails are the most numerous and wide spread insects in terrestrial ecosystems They are important ecotoxicological test organisms and have been used extensively to indicate the effects of environmental pollutants and different agricultural regimes on biodiversity in soils This comprehensive work by the co author of The biology of millipedes is the only single volume review of the biology of springtails in the English language to appear this century The book covers classification behaviour physiology evolution ecology and ecotoxicology An extensive reference section with more than 2500 entries is included together with a complete list of all Collembola genera a list of studies on the effects of chemicals on springtails and reference to species checklists for most countries of the world Ancient Woods, Trees and Forests Alper H. Çolak, Simay Kirca, Ian D.

Rotherham, 2023-03-14 From antiquity until today trees and woods have inspired artists writers and scientists they have shaped cultures and reverberated through belief systems Yet worldwide forest cover has declined dramatically over the last 1 000 years Now primeval forests are only to be found at a few sites unreachable by humans and even then they are affected by climate change atmospheric pollution and species extinctions Nonetheless ancient woods trees and forests are at the core of many global landscapes Understanding the vital resources that they provide requires genuinely multidisciplinary research With contributions from major authorities in the field such as Oliver Rackham Frans Vera Elisabeth Johann George Peterken and Melvyn Jones among others this timely volume reflects on the importance of our oldest trees from a range of perspectives and varied geographical locations Individual chapters consider eco cultural heritage the archaeology of trees landscape history forest rights tree management saproxylic insects the importance of deadwood practical conservation and monitoring biodiversity wood pasture and more Fresh insights are provided from across Europe as far as Turkey Given the urgent need to understand conserve and restore ancient woodlands and trees this book will do much raise awareness foster enthusiasm and inspire wonder Plant Strategies, Vegetation Processes, and Ecosystem Properties J. Philip

Grime, 2006-08-11 Plant Strategies Vegetation Processes and Ecosystem Properties Second Edition is a thoroughly updated and comprehensive new edition of the very successful Plant Strategies and Vegetative Processes which controversially proposed the existence of widely recurring plant functional types with predictable relationships to vegetation structure and dynamics This second edition uses evidence from many parts of the world to re examine these concepts in the light of the enormous expansion in the literature Features include A new section covering all aspects of ecosystem properties New chapters on Assembling of Communities Rarification and Extinction Colonisation and Invasion Principles and methodologies of a range of international tests including case study examples Chapter summaries for a quick reference guide Index of species names Written in a very readable style this book is an invaluable reference source for researchers in the areas of plant animal and community ecology conservation and land management Written by one of the foremost authorities in the field summarising over 35 years of research A book all plant ecologists will want to read Jonathan Silvertown Department of Biological Sciences The Open University UK The coverage is outstanding and comprehensive Simon A Levin Department of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology Princeton University USA Biostatistics with R Jan Lepš, Petr Šmilauer, 2020-07-30 A straightforward introduction to a wide range of statistical methods for field biologists using thoroughly explained R code

Forest Vegetation of Northeast Asia Jirí Kolbek, M. Srutek, Elgene E. O. Box, 2013-03-14 When two of us Jifi Kolbek Miroslav Sriltek were working in North Korea on the Czech Slovak field expeditions of the early 1990s we did not think initially of comparing our results with the vegetation of surrounding areas or of writing a book Our efforts mainly involved observing and documenting the vegetation as completely as possible and initial recognition of vegetation units At first we focused on the most obvious vegetation types but eventually also any important types that we could discern Later we focused more on forests since almost all of northeastern Asia has forest potential and forests still do form the landscape matrix in most areas First we studied suburban woods and forests most of which are strongly affected by human activities Later though we also had chances to visit and study lovely mountain regions including Myohyang san Kungang san Su jang san and the high especially beautiful Changbai shan on the border between North Korea and China The Changbai shan is the highest mountain system in the Korean Peninsula including the highest peak Paektu san We gradually changed our goal from an evaluation of forest data from North Korea to comparison with available field data and literature sources from comparable surrounding areas These include South Korea the Russian Far East northeastern China Manchuria and northern Japan including the Kuril Islands Finally we decided to prepare a preliminary survey of the forest vegetation of the Russian Far East and eventually of all of northeastern Asia which would be published in English

Alpine Ecosystems in the Northwest Caucasus Vladimir G. Onipchenko, 2013-03-20 Plant geographical description of the area syntaxonomy spatial patterns floristic richness structure of plant communities in relation to soil properties and herbivore influence were described for a mountain region that is difficult to access Seasonal inter annual and long term dynamics of vegetation are discussed on the base of long term observations as well as pollen and phytolith analyses Population biology of alpine plants is studied by combination of field observations and mathematical modelling Plant population strategies and soil seed banks are described for alpine plants from several communities Results of long term ecological experiments plant reciprocal transplantations dominant removals light limitation showed the significance of competition and facilitation for community organization Structure of soil algal and fungal communities is represented as well as mycorrhiza of alpine plants Main animal groups wild history and modern nature conservation problems are discussed

Vegetation of the Arabian Peninsula S.A. Ghazanfar, M. Fisher, 2013-04-17 The inspiration for this book came from our ten years of journeys and wanderings through the varied landscapes of Arabia and in particular through those of its hospitable southeastern corner Oman We owe a particular debt to Sultan Qaboos University which during this time has provided us with both a stimulating working environment and a home Transliteration of Arabic place and other names into English script is a task fraught with difficulties We have followed accepted spellings wherever these were not contrary to our common sense and in other cases we have rendered names into Roman English script using phonetic spellings Our main task in this respect was to ensure conformity between the fifteen contributing authors Diacritical signs have mostly been avoided since their use is neither widely followed nor readily understood Arabic words which have been commonly taken into the English language such as sabkha for a salt flat and wadi for a valley with a seasonal watercourse are not italicised in usage However other Arabic terms which are occasionally used in English but not as widely known such as harrah for a basaltic lava field and hima for a traditional grazing reserve are italicised throughout the text

The Ecology of Areas with Serpentinized Rocks B.A. Roberts, J. Proctor, 2012-12-06

Heathlands R. Aerts, G.W. Heil, 2013-03-14 Increased atmospheric nitrogen deposition and changes in the management of heathlands have caused a significant change in the species composition of the NW European heathlands This change from ericaceous towards gramineous dominance is analysed in detail in Heathlands Patterns and Processes in a Changing Environment Special emphasis is put on the effects of increased atmospheric nutrient input on nutrient cycling competition between plant species and plant herbivore interactions The possibilities for the long term conservation of heathlands are discussed by considering regeneration from seed and the usefulness of mathematical management models The book provides a synthesis of pure and applied plant ecology It is vital reading for plant ecologists biological conservationists heathland managers and government decision makers

Landscape and Vegetation Ecology of the Kakadu Region, Northern Australia C.M. Finlayson, Isabell von Oertzen, 2012-12-06 The Kakadu region of northern Australia is swarming over the landscape with their meters steeped in cultural history and natural grandeur and notebooks and a vast store of information Over the past few decades the rich cultural and was gathered This book is a summary of the natural heritage of this fascinating region has immense amount of information collected on the become increasingly known to more and more geobotanic features of the region The cultural people At the same time as the natural heritage of heritage of the traditional Aboriginal inhabitants the region was being recognised by conservation of the region and the diverse and populous fauna vationists and tourists alike the mineral wealth were also investigated but both these subjects was being recognised by mining enterprises warrant their own separate volumes and are not Almost inevitably the mix of conservation and treated here Throughout this period of intense scientific mining interests led to conflict that is still not completely resolved However much has happened interest the very nature of the region has changed opened over the years and we now have a major Besides changes in human habitation the physical and biological environment has come under national park that is largely leased from the Aboriginal traditional owners under a management challenge and even threat We now have more weed species We no longer have the large management agreement

Regeneration of Plants in Arid Ecosystems Resulting from Patch Disturbance Yitzchak Gutterman, 2013-03-14 The main subject of this book is the interaction between diggings created by porcupines when consuming geophytes and their influences on annual and perennial vegetation in a desert biome The accumulation of run off water in diggings and depressions made by animals increases the carrying capacity of these microhabitats in the desert biome The accumulation of run off water does not only benefit the natural vegetation a system of human made depressions can be evolved to increase the catchment of the run off water that is typical to many desert habitats and can lead to run off agriculture in such areas This book will be of interest to anyone working in the fields of development of deserts from the ecological point of view water resources soil protection and erosion plant ecophysiology and settlement and agronomy It will be helpful to students researchers teachers and anyone interested in any of these areas

Fens and Bogs in the Netherlands: Vegetation, History, Nutrient Dynamics and Conservation Jos T.A.

Verhoeven, 2013-04-09 This volume focuses on the geology land use history palaeoecology ecology and conservation of peatlands fens and bogs in The Netherlands The volume provides detailed accounts that together give a representative picture of the studies that have been carried out in the Dutch mires over the past 25 years Contents Chapter 1 Verhoeven Introduction Chapter 2 Pons is a comprehensive geographic and pedological account of peat formation in space and time in the western coastal plain Chapter 3 Casparia and Streefkerk is a detailed description of the various stages of development from fen to bog of the Bourtanger Moor Chapter 4 Borger and Stol details the history of peat draining digging and dredging in The Netherlands and Flanders Chapter 5 Barkman deals with bog remnants in the eastern Netherlands and northwestern Germany This chapter also includes data on oligotrophic heath pools which have a vegetation that is similar to that found in bogs Chapters 6 Den Held 7 Van Wirdum et al 8 Koerselman and Verhoeven are chapters on vegetation synecology and nutrient dynamics of fens and chapter 9 Wiegers focuses mainly on terrestrializing fens that are so characteristic of the western Netherlands where they presently occur in turf ponds created by peat dredging in former centuries Chapter 10 Vermeer and Joosten concludes the volume with a treatment of problems with mire conservation and management Vegetation Dynamics of Mongolia P.D. Gunin, Elizabeth A. Vostokova, Nadezhda I. Dorofeyuk, Pavel E. Tarasov, Clanton C.

Black, 2013-03-09 Mongolia is an expansive land locked country tilted by tectonic forces to the North that experiences extremes of continental climate Moisture carrying wind currents are scarce so that the land has extended highs and lows in its environment Culturally the people are mostly nomadic having been sustained for centuries by an economy based on domestic livestock grazing There is a saying that As the noses go so goes Mongolia referring to the domesticated grazing noses of sheep goats camels yaks or horses and wild ungulates such as gazelles The vast fenceless steppes of Mongolia furnish the vegetation for grazing With such extremes in climate it is clear that the vegetation must be resilient and dynamic to cope with the dictates of its extremely harsh environments Pollen profiles from lakes plant macrofossils and other data over the last 15 000 years show the dynamic nature of Mongolian vegetation Currently Mongolian society is experiencing much human driven economic development which increases pressure on its vegetation The Great Khural Laws of 1995 forcefully addressed such environmental concerns with the expanded establishment of National Reserves and Parks But continued effort and vigilance must be expended to insure that Mongolian society will continue to be sustained by its vegetation This book highlights work such as conserving and restoring plant diversity in various ecosystems and makes recommendations for sustaining the vegetation basis of the nomadic Mongolian society
