Objective: To present recommendations for the prevention and screening, recognition, and treatment of the most common conditions resulting in sudden death in organized sports.

Background: Cardiac conditions, head injuries, neck injuries, exertional heat stroke, exertional sickling, asthma, and other factors (eg, lightning, diabetes) are the most common causes of death in athletes.

Recommendations: These guidelines are intended to provide relevant information on preventing sudden death in sports and to give specific recommendations for certified athletic trainers and others participating in athletic health care.

Key Words: asthma, cardiac conditions, diabetes, exertional heat stroke, exertional hyponatremia, exertional sickling, head injuries, neck injuries, lightning safety

Sudden death in sports and physical activity has a variety of causes. The 10 conditions covered in this position statement are

- Asthma
- Catastrophic brain injuries
- Cervical spine injuries
- Diabetes
- Exertional heat stroke
- Exertional hyponatremia
- Exertional sickling
- Head-down contact in football
- Lightning
- Sudden cardiac arrest

(Order does not indicate rate of occurrence.)

Recognizing the many reasons for sudden death allows us to create and implement emergency action plans (EAPs) that provide detailed guidelines for prevention, recognition, treatment, and return to play (RTP). Unlike collegiate and professional teams, which usually have athletic trainers (ATs) available, nearly half of high schools as well as numerous other athletic settings lack the appropriate medical personnel to put these guidelines into practice and instead rely on the athletic director, team coach, or strength and conditioning specialist to do so.

To provide appropriate care for athletes, one must be familiar with a large number of illnesses and conditions in order to properly guide the athlete, determine when emergency treatment is needed, and distinguish among similar signs and symptoms that may reflect a variety of potentially fatal circumstances. For the patient to have the best possible outcome, correct and prompt emergency care is critical; delaying care until the ambulance arrives may result in permanent disability or death. Therefore, we urgently advocate training coaches in first aid, cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), and automated external defibrillator (AED) use, so that they can provide treatment until a medical professional arrives; however, such training is inadequate for the successful and complete care of the conditions described in this position statement. Saving the life of a young athlete should not be a coach's responsibility or liability.

For this reason, we also urge every high school to have an AT available to promptly take charge of a medical emergency. As licensed medical professionals, ATs receive thorough training in preventing, recognizing, and treating critical situations in the physically active. Each AT works closely with a physician to create and apply appropriate EAPs and RTP guidelines.

Throughout this position statement, each recommendation is labeled with a specific level of evidence based on the Strength of Recommendation Taxonomy (SORT).¹ This taxonomy takes into account the quality, quantity, and consistency of the evidence in support of each recommendation: Category A represents consistent good-quality evidence, B represents
