The Alchemy Of Thought:

The alchemy of thought Lawrence Pearsall Jacks, 1968

The Alchemy of Thought (Classic Reprint) L. P.

Jacks, 2017-10-11 Excerpt from The Alchemy of Thought The following essays deal with the belief that logical system is only one among countless forms in the self expression of the universe I have endeavoured to do justice to the claims of system at the same time I have resisted these claims in so far as they threaten to usurp the whole field of human experience To say that the universe is a Rational Whole appears to me true But to treat this as an adequate account of Reality appears to me false I am equally averse to regarding the rationality of the universe as the fundamental or all inclusive or even the dominant form of its self expression What does form a Rational Whole and is adequately described by this term is the movement of thought throughout the ages in a word the History of Philosophy To equate this movement with the universe to which it refers to make the History of Philosophy into a History of Reality appears to me an error About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Lawrence Pearsall Jacks,1911 The Alchemy of Thought L. P. Jacks,2014-03 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1910 Edition The Alchemy of Thought L. P. Jacks,2017-07-14 In another book from L P Jacks The Universe as Philosopher philosophy was defined as the self confession of Reality and the question arose How then can there be such radical differences between philosophies But from the other side it can be argued with equal cogency that the philosopher creates his world since to interpret experience is to control it This is certainly an extreme contradiction but in its very extremeness lies the hope of its solution and along with it of the proposed question The opposite conclusions are not only intelligible but necessary for the very reason that they lie within the unity of a universal Self consciousness No system of philosophy has any meaning out of relation to the systems from which it differs What for example would become of Pragmatism if there were no Idealism to reject Philosophy is an organic whole the logical prius of all the philosophies and that system comes nearest to absolute truth which shows the largest capacity for taking up the others into itself by means of the principle which is the living spring of them all If we conceive of God as the immanent life of all thought it involves the admission that not only is a plurality of self expressions compatible with the unity and self consciousness of the whole but it is an inherent logical necessity if we are to speak of God in any of the terms that are applicable to Spirit The Philosophical Review Vol 17 The Alchemy of Thought SASHA.
