Physical Education and Physical Culture in South Africa, 1837-1966 Francois Johannes Cleophas, 2024-10-17 The interconnectedness between sport and colonialism has long been a matter of interest to sport historians Consequently a large number of scholarly works exist on physical education and physical culture history but there is no significant work on this within a South African context both nationally and at community level This book therefore provides the first historical account of physical education and physical culture in Cape Town South Africa and its surrounding areas in the Western Cape

Prosthetic Body Parts in Nineteenth-Century Literature and Culture Ryan Sweet, 2021-12-03 This open access book investigates imaginaries of artificial limbs eyes hair and teeth in British and American literary and cultural sources from the nineteenth and early twentieth century Prosthetic Body Parts in Nineteenth Century Literature and Culture shows how depictions of prostheses complicated the contemporary bodily status quo which increasingly demanded an appearance of physical wholeness Revealing how representations of the prostheticized body were inflected significantly by factors such as social class gender and age Prosthetic Body Parts in Nineteenth Century Literature and Culture argues that nineteenth century prosthesis narratives though presented in a predominantly ableist and sometimes disablist manner challenged the dominance of physical completeness as they questioned the logic of prostheticization or presented non normative subjects in threateningly powerful ways Considering texts by authors including Charles Dickens Edgar Allan Poe and Arthur Conan Doyle alongside various cultural medical and commercial materials this book provides an important reappraisal of historical attitudes to not only prostheses but also concepts of physical normalcy and difference

The Image of Man George L. Mosse, 1998-10-08 What does it mean to be a man What does it mean to be manly How has our notion of masculinity changed over the years In this book noted historian George L Mosse provides the first historical account of the masculine stereotype in modern Western culture tracing the evolution of the idea of manliness to reveal how it came to embody physical beauty courage moral restraint and a strong will This stereotype he finds originated in the tumultuous changes of the eighteenth century as Europe's dominant aristocrats grudgingly yielded to the rise of the professional bureaucratic and commercial middle classes Mosse reveals how the new bourgeoisie faced with a bewildering rapidly industrialized world latched onto the knightly ideal of chivalry He also shows how the rise of universal conscription created a soldierly man as an ideal type In bringing his examination up to the present Mosse studies the key historical roles of the so called fairer sex women and unmanly men Jews and homosexuals in defining and maintaining the male stereotype and considers the possible erosion of that stereotype in our own time

Healing Spaces, Modern Architecture, and the Body Sarah Schrank, Didem Ekici, 2016-07-15 Healing Spaces Modern Architecture and the Body brings together cutting edge scholarship examining the myriad ways that architects urban planners medical practitioners and everyday people have applied modern ideas about health and the body to the spaces in which they live work and heal The book's contributors explore North American and European understandings of the relationship between physical movement bodily health technological innovation medical concepts natural environments and architectural settings from the nineteenth century through the heyday of modernist architectural experimentation in the 1920s and 1930s and onward into the 1970s Not only does the book focus on how professionals have engaged with the architecture of healing and the body it also explores how urban dwellers have strategized and modified their living environments themselves to create a kind of vernacular modernist architecture of health in their homes gardens and backyards This new work builds upon a growing interdisciplinary field incorporating the urban humanities geography architectural history the history of medicine and critical visual studies that reflects our current preoccupation with the body and its corresponding therapeutic culture Gender, Sport, Science J.
