Studies In Austronesian Linguistics:

Studies in Austronesian Linguistics Richard McGinn, 1987 Studies in Austronesian Linguistics Richard McGinn, 1988
This volume consists of seventeen articles by scholars including Robert Blust Paul Hopper A L Becker Sarah Bell J C Catford Talmy Givón J W M Verhaar and John U Wolff Tagalog Cebuano Ilokano Chamorro Malay Old Malay Javanese Old Javanese Indonesian Nias Loni and Niuean are some of the languages discussed in the study The essays explore the issues of ergativity in Western Austronesian languages historical morphology phonology phonetics and morphophonemics Formal Issues in Austronesian Linguistics I. Paul, V. Phillips, Lisa Travis, 2013-03-09 Austronesian languages have long raised interesting questions for generative theories of syntax and morphology The papers in this volume encompass some of these traditional questions and place them in newer theoretical contexts Some of the papers also address new issues which add to our understanding of members of this language family on one side and the nature of linguistic theories on the other There are three broad issues that re occur throughout the volume the role and analysis of verbal morphology the nature of the subject or the topic in these languages and the interaction of syntax and specificity The papers in this volume show that as formal theories become more precise a wider range of language data can be captured and as the inventory of language data grows the accuracy of formal linguistic theories improves Language and Text in the Austronesian World Aleksandr Konstantinovich Ogloblin, 2008 Comparative Studies in Austronesian Linguistics Nancy Lewis Kleiber, 1967

Studies in Vietnamese Historical Linguistics Trang Phan, Tuan-Cuong Nguyen, Masaaki Shimizu, 2024-10-16 This book facilitates constructive interdisciplinary dialogue among linguistics and philology specialists concerning various languages in Vietnam East Asia and Southeast Asia The book's principal objective is to investigate the interdisciplinary nature of language change with a particular focus on analyzing the structural and socio cultural components of the evolution of specific linguistic phenomena over time The book concentrates on the five primary language families in the East and Southeast Asian linguistic arena namely Austroasiatic Tai Kadai Sino Tibetan Austronesian and Hmong Mien In doing so it develops understanding of the extent to which language change is the result of language internal mechanisms prolonged contact with other languages within the same linguistic area and the surrounding socio cultural milieu Given that Vietnam presents a linguistic microcosm of the East and Southeast Asia region the book is divided into two sections The first centers on historical linguistics relating to major languages based in Vietnam including Vietnamese and its significant neighbors Tay and Nung The subsequent section examines the transformations observable in other languages prevalent across East and Southeast Asia that are historically typologically and geographically related to languages from Vietnam including Chinese Formosan and Philippine languages as well as Hmongic languages A product of a workshop sponsored by the Harvard Yenping Institute held at the Institute of Sino Nom Studies this book encompasses a significant contribution to the field of Vietnamese historical linguistics which has been notably underexplored in academic research It is relevant to linguists philologists historians anthropologists and cultural scholars interested in Vietnam in particular and the Southeast and East Asian cultural and linguistic landscape at large

The Many Faces of Austronesian Voice Systems I Wayan Arka, Malcolm Ross, 2005 The Ninth International Conference on Austronesian Linguistics and the Fifth International Conference on Oceanic Linguistics were both held at The Australian National University in Canberra during January 2002 Rather than publish a single very diverse collection of conference papers the organisers favoured a series of smaller compilations on specific topics One such volume on Austronesian historical phonology has already been published by Pacific Linguistics as Issues in Austronesian historical phonology by John Lynch The present volume represents another such compilation It contains an introduction by the editors and ten papers on voice in Austronesian languages which provide both fresh data and some new perspectives on old problems The papers touch on the many faces of Austronesian voice systems ranging geographically from Teng on Puyuma in Taiwan to Otsuka on Tongan typologically from voice in agglutinative languages in Taiwan and the Philippines to voice in isolating languages Arka and Kosmas on Manggarai and Donohue on Palu e and in approach from Clayre s areal historical survey of Kelabit languages in Borneo to single language studies of voice like Davies on Madurese Quick on Pendau and the Andersens on Moronene Katagiri and Kaufman each take a fresh look at an aspect of Tagalog voice

History of the Language Sciences / Geschichte der Sprachwissenschaften / Histoire des sciences du langage. 2. Teilband Sylvain Auroux, E.F.K. Koerner, Hans-Josef Niederehe, Kees Versteegh, 2008-07-14 Volume 2 treats in great detail and at times quite innovatively the individual stages of development of the study of language as an autonomous discipline from the growing awareness in 17th and 18th century Europe of genetic relationships among a host of languages to the establishment of comparative historical Indo European linguistics in the 19th century from the generation of the Schlegels Bopp Rask and Grimm to the Neogrammarians and the application of the comparative method to non Indo European languages from all over the globe Typological linguistic interests first synthesized by Humboldt as well as the development of various other non historical endeavours in the 19th and the first half of the 20th century such as language and psychology semantics phonetics and dialectology receive ample attention Handbook of Comparative and Historical Indo-European Linguistics Jared Klein, Brian Joseph, Matthias Fritz, 2017-09-25 This book presents the most comprehensive coverage of the field of Indo European Linguistics in a century focusing on the entire Indo European family and treating each major branch and most minor languages The collaborative work of 120 scholars from 22 countries Handbook of Comparative and Historical Indo European Linguistics combines the exhaustive coverage of an encyclopedia with the in depth treatment of individual monographic studies Linguistic Simplicity and Complexity John H. McWhorter, 2011-06-30 In John McWhorter's Defining Creole anthology of 2005 his collected articles conveyed the following theme His hypothesis that creole languages are definable not just in the sociohistorical sense but in the grammatical sense His publications since the 1990s have argued that all languages of the world that lack a certain three traits together are creoles i e born as pidgins a few hundred years ago and fleshed out into real languages He also argued that in light of their pidgin birth such languages are less grammatically complex than others as the result of their recent birth as pidgins These two claims have been highly controversial among creolists as well as other linguists In this volume Linguistic Simplicity and Complexity McWhorter gathers articles he has written since then in the wake of responses from a wide range of creolists and linguists These articles represent a considerable divergence in direction from his earlier work The Austronesians Peter Bellwood, James J. Fox, Darrell Tryon, 2006-09-01 The Austronesian speaking population of the world are estimated to number more than 270 million people living in a broad swathe around half the globe from Madagascar to Easter Island and from Taiwan to New Zealand The seventeen papers in this volume provide a general survey of these diverse populations focusing on their common origins and historical transformations The papers examine current ideas on the linguistics prehistory anthropology and recorded history of the Austronesians Case Studies from Austronesia, the Pacific, the Americas, and Theoretical Outlook Andrej Malchukov, Bernard Comrie, 2015-09-14 Earlier empirical studies on valency have looked at the phenomenon either in individual languages or a small range of languages or have concerned themselves with only small subparts of valency e g transitivity ditransitive constructions leaving a lacuna that the present volume aims to fill by considering a wide range of valency phenomena across 30 languages from different parts of the world The individual language studies each written by a specialist or group of specialists on that language and covering both valency patterns and valency alternations are based on a questionnaire reproduced in the volume and an on line freely accessible database thus guaranteeing comparability of cross linguistic results In addition introductory chapters provide the background to the project and discuss its main characteristics and selected results while a series of featured articles by leading scholars who helped shape the field provide an outside perspective on the volume's approach The volume is essential reading for anyone interested in valency and argument structure irrespective of theoretical persuasion and will serve as a model for future descriptive studies of valency in individual languages The Handbook of Historical Linguistics, Volume II Richard D. Janda, Brian D. Joseph, Barbara S.

Vance, 2020-09-15 An entirely new follow up volume providing a detailed account of numerous additional issues methods and results that characterize current work in historical linguistics This brand new second volume of The Handbook of Historical Linguistics is a complement to the well established first volume first published in 2003 It includes extended content allowing uniquely comprehensive coverage of the study of language s over time Though it adds fresh perspectives on several topics previously treated in the first volume this Handbook focuses on extensions of diachronic linguistics beyond those key issues This Handbook provides readers with studies of language change whose perspectives range from comparisons of large open vs small closed corpora via creolistics and linguistic contact in general to obsolescence and endangerment of languages Written by leading scholars in their respective fields new chapters are offered on matters such as the origin of language evidence from language for reconstructing human prehistory invocations of language present in studies of language past benefits of linguistic fieldwork for historical investigation ways in which not only biological evolution but also field biology can serve as heuristics for research into the rise and spread of linguistic innovations and more Moreover it offers novel and broadened content complementing the earlier volume so as to provide the fullest available overview of a wholly engrossing field includes 23 all new contributed chapters treating some familiar themes from fresh perspectives but mostly covering entirely new topics features expanded discussion of material from language families other than Indo European provides a multiplicity of views from numerous specialists in linguistic diachrony The Handbook of Historical Linguistics Volume II is an ideal book for undergraduate and graduate students in linguistics researchers and professional linguists as well as all those interested in the history of particular languages and the history of language more generally The Languages and Linguistics of Mainland Southeast Asia Paul Sidwell, Mathias Jenny, 2021-08-23 The handbook will offer a survey of the field of linguistics in the early 21st century for the Southeast Asian Linguistic Area The last half century has seen a great increase in work on language contact work in genetic theoretical and descriptive linguistics and since the 1990s especially documentation of endangered languages The book will provide an account of work in these areas focusing on the achievements of SEAsian linguistics as well as the challenges and unresolved issues and provide a survey of the relevant major publications and other available resources We will address Survey of the languages of the area organized along genetic lines with discussion of relevant political and cultural background issues Theoretical descriptive and typological issues Genetic classification and historical linguistics Areal and contact linguistics Other areas of interest such as sociolinguistics semantics writing systems etc Resources major monographs and monograph series dictionaries journals electronic data bases etc Grammar sketches of languages representative of the genetic and structural diversity of the region

Endangered Languages of Austronesia Margaret Florey, 2010 This book explores the challenges to linguistic vitality confronting many minority languages in the highly diverse and geographically far flung Austronesian language family The contributions bring together Indigenous language activists and academic researchers with a long standing commitment to
