Hopper, 1977 Historical Linguistics 1999 Laurel J. Brinton, 2001-01-01 This is a selection of papers from the 14th International Conference on Historical Linguistics held August 9-13 1999 at the University of British Columbia From the rich program and the many papers given during this conference the present twenty three papers were carefully selected to display the state of current research in the field of historical linguistics Perspectives on Historical Linguistics Winfred P.

Lehmann, Yakov Malkiel, 1982-01-01 This volume presents seven extensive essays by specialists in their respective fields of historical linguistics The first essay after the Introduction states the principles presented in Directions for Historical Linguistics 1968 and assesses the progress made since then towards constructing a general theory of language change Like the following essays on phonology and morphology it poses new questions that have arisen in the increasingly ambitious research Historical attention to discourse the topic of the next essay is virtually new though it too finds predecessors among philologists who devoted themselves to texts Finally two essays treat etymology one concentrating on the rigorously investigated Romance field the other on Indo European especially on new insights prompted by attention to Hittite

Papers from the 5th International Conference on English Historical Linguistics, Cambridge, 6-9 April 1987

Sylvia Adamson, 1990-01-01 This volume is a collection of articles based on papers presented at the 5th International Conference on English Historical Linguistics at Cambridge in 1987 It draws together important state of the art studies in the syntax phonology morphology and semantics of Old Middle and Modern English by prominent figures in the field into a single volume Core theoretical areas are well represented and there are also major papers in dialectology stylistics metrics socio historical linguistics and the history of English linguistics The volume is dedicated to the memory of Professor James P Thorne whose last conference paper is included in the collection      Papers from the 3rd International Conference on Historical Linguistics John Peter Maher, Allan R. Bomhard, E. F. K. Koerner, 1982-01-01 The papers in this volume are a selection from those presented at the 3rd International Conference on Historical Linguistics ICHL held in 1977 at the University of Hamburg These selected papers deal with a wide variety of issues some from a more general theoretical perspective some deriving new theoretical insights from language data ranging from Ojibwa to Old Saxon      Historical and Comparative Linguistics Raimo Anttila, 1989-01-01 In any course of historical and comparative linguistics there will be students of different language backgrounds different levels of linguistic training and different theoretical orientation This textbook attempts to mitigate the problems raised by this heterogeneity in a number of ways Since it is impossible to treat the language or language family of special interest to every student the focus of this book is on English in particular and Indo European languages in general with Finnish and its closely related languages for contrast The tenets of different schools of linguistics and the controversies among them are treated eclectically and objectively the examination of language itself plays the leading role in our efforts to ascertain the comparative value of competing theories This revised edition 1989 of a standard work for comparative linguists offers an added introduction dealing mainly with a semiotic basis of change a final chapter on aspects of explanation particularly in historical and human disciplines and added sections on comparative syntax and on the semiotic status of the comparative method      Historical Linguistics and Biblical Hebrew Robert Rezetko, Ian Young, 2014-12-15 DOCTYPE HTML PUBLIC W3C DTD HTML 4 0 Transitional EN html meta content text html charset ISO 8859 1 http equiv content type body A philologically robust approach to the history of ancient Hebrew In this book the authors work toward constructing an approach to the history of ancient Hebrew that overcomes the chasm of academic specialization The authors illustrate how cross textual variable analysis and variation analysis advance research on Biblical Hebrew and correct theories based on extra linguistic assumptions intuitions and ideologies by focusing on variation of forms uses in the Masoretic text and variation between the Masoretic text and other textual traditions Features A unique approach that examines the nature of the sources and the description of their language together Extensive bibliography for further research Tables of linguistic variables and parallels      Practicing Linguistic Historiography E. F. K. Koerner, 1989-01-01 This collection contains 24 articles on the history of linguistics written between 1978 and 1988 divided into three parts 1 Methods and Models in Linguistic Historiography 2 Tradition and Transmission of Linguistic Notions 3 Schools and Scholars in the History of Linguistics Three articles are written in German two in French and one in Italian The remaining eighteen articles are in English      The Oxford Handbook of Historical Phonology Patrick Honeybone, Joseph Salmons, 2015-11-26 This book presents a comprehensive and critical overview of historical phonology as it stands today Scholars from around the world

consider and advance research in every aspect of the field In doing so they demonstrate the continuing vitality and some continuing themes of one of the oldest sub disciplines of linguistics The book is divided into six parts The first considers key current research questions the early history of the field and the structuralist context for work on segmental change The second examines evidence and methods including phonological reconstruction typology and computational and quantitative approaches Part III looks at types of phonological change including stress tone and morphophonological change Part IV explores a series of controversial aspects within the field including the effects of first language acquisition the status of lexical diffusion and exceptionless change and the role of individuals in innovation Part V considers theoretical perspectives on phonological change including those of evolutionary phonology and generative historical phonology The final part examines sociolinguistic and exogenous factors in phonological change including the study of change in real time the role of second language acquisition and loanword adaptation The authors who represent leading proponents of every theoretical perspective consider phonological change over a wide range of the world s language families The handbook is in sum a valuable resource for phonologists and historical linguists and a stimulating guide for their students

Historical Linguistics and Endangered Languages Patience Epps, Danny Law, Na'ama Pat-El, 2021-07-28 This collection showcases the contributions of the study of endangered and understudied languages to historical linguistic analysis and the broader relevance of diachronic approaches toward developing better informed approaches to language documentation and description The volume brings together perspectives from both established and up and coming scholars and represents a globally and linguistically diverse range of languages The collected papers demonstrate the ways in which endangered languages can challenge existing models of language change based on more commonly studied languages and can generate innovative insights into linguistic phenomena such as pathways of grammaticalization forms and dynamics of contact driven change and the diachronic relationship between lexical and grammatical categories In so doing the book highlights the idea that processes and outcomes of language change long held to be universally relevant may be more sensitive to cultural and typological variability than previously assumed Taken as a whole this collection brings together perspectives from language documentation and historical linguistics to point the way forward for richer understandings of both language change and documentary descriptive approaches making this key reading for scholars in these fields

Comparative Historical Dialectology Thomas D. Cravens, 2002 This brief monograph explores the historical motivations for two sets of phonological changes in some varieties of Romance restructured voicing of intervocalic p t k and palatalization of initial l and n These developments have been treated repeatedly over the decades yet neither has enjoyed a satisfactory solution This book attempts to demonstrate that both outcomes are ultimately attributable to the loss of early pan Romance consonant gemination This study is of interest not only to the language specific field of historical Romance linguistics but also to general historical linguistics The central problems examined here constitute classic cases of questions that cannot be answered by confining analysis solely to the individual languages under investigation The passage of time the indirect nature of fragmentary and accidental documentation and the nature of the changes themselves conspire to deny access to the most essential facts However comparison of closely cognate languages now undergoing change supplies a perspective for discerning conditions that may ultimately lead to states achieved in the distant past by the languages under investigation

English Historical Syntax and Morphology Teresa Fanego, Javier Pérez-Guerra, María José López-Couso, 2002-07-18

This volume offers a selection of papers from the Eleventh International Conference on English Historical Linguistics held at the University of Santiago de Compostela From the rich programme over 130 papers were given during the conference the present twelve papers were carefully selected to reflect the state of current research in the fields of English historical syntax and morphology Some of the issues discussed are the emergence of viewpoint adverbials in English and German changes in noun phrase structure from 1650 to the present the development of the progressive in Scots the passivization of composite predicates the loss of V2 and its effects on the information structure of English the acquisition of modal syntax and semantics by the English verb WANT or the use of temporal adverbs as attributive adjectives in the Early Modern period Many of the articles tackle questions of change through the use of methodological tools like computerized corpora The theoretical frameworks adopted include among others grammaticalization theory Dik's model of functional grammar construction grammar and Government Binding Theory

Historical Linguistics and the Comparative Study of African Languages

Gerrit Jan Dimmendaal, 2011 This advanced historical linguistics course book deals with the historical and comparative study of African languages The first part functions as an elementary introduction to the comparative method involving the establishment of lexical and grammatical cognates the reconstruction of their historical development techniques for the subclassification of related languages and the use of language internal evidence more specifically the application of internal reconstruction Part II addresses language contact phenomena and the status of language in a wider cultural historical and ecological context Part III deals with the relationship between comparative linguistics and other disciplines In this rich course book the author presents valuable views on a number of issues in the comparative study of African languages more specifically concerning genetic diversity on the African continent the status of pidginised and creolised languages language mixing and grammaticalisation

Studies in West Frisian Grammar

Jarich Hoekstra, Willem Visser, Goffe Jensma, 2010 In this volume Gemen de Haan gives a multi faceted view of the syntax sociolinguistics and phonology of West Frisian The author discusses distinct aspects of the syntax of verbs in Frisian finiteness and Verb Second embedded root phenomena the verbal complex verbal complementation and complementizer agreement Because Frisian has minority language status and is of interest to sociolinguists the author reviews the linguistic changes in Frisian under the influence of the dominant Dutch language and more generally reflects on how to deal with contact induced change in grammar Finally in three phonological articles the author discusses nasalization in Frisian the putatively symmetrical vowel inventory of Frisian and the variation between schwa sonorant consonants and syllabic sonorant consonants      Historical Linguistics 1995 John Charles Smith, Richard M. Hogg, Delia Bentley, Linda van Bergen, 1998 This volume contains papers on general issues of language change as well as specific studies of non Germanic languages including Romance Slavonic Japanese Australian languages and early Indo European A second volume edited by Richard M Hogg and Linda van Bergen contains papers on Germanic
